BOARD OF REVIEW COMPLETES WORK

COUNTY PROPERTY WORTH $17,000,000 of Review the total real estate values of the county are placed at $17,000,000, divided as follows: Lands $5,964,585; lots

Urge Change in System

Mr. Clarke and Mr. Wightman were interviewed by the Waukegan Gazette in regard to the work and they stated that the present system of assessing was very poor. "You see every assessor is bound to favor the people in his township under this system," stated Mr. Clarke. "I believe a board of assessors should be created."

"Yes," said Mr. Wightman, "and they ought to create an office of county assessor and make it the same as that of county clerk and in that way a better idea of the amount of property in the county could be gained. The best way would be to have a Board of three assessors of which this county assessor would be a member and have them send out men to look over property and find out its real cash value and then levy the assessment accordingly without favoritism."

It is stated that many counties are against the present system and that the legislature may be induced to pass a law giving the people an option to accept such a system as favored by the members of the board.

Extra Work for Treasurer

The County Treasurer's office has been an extremely busy place this summer owing to the large increase in delinquents which was almost double that of former years. The number of tax sales, 2,500 this year, exceeds that of last year by 500. The reduction by the county court of the tax levy on the railroad property throughout the county also caused a large amount of extra work as the treasurer's office force had to prorrate the amount.

PLAY OF LIFE AND POLITICS

"The Man Higher Up" at Olympic, Chicago Draws Crowded Houses

One of the most pronounced "hits" of the present dramatic season in Chicago is "The Man Higher up," which has just entered upon its second week at the Olympic. It is Edith Ellis' vivid dramatization of Henry Russell Miller's novel of the same name and is a political play with an especially absorbing interest for the public during the present heated state and national campaigns which have set everybody—man and woman—to talking politics. As a result of the drama's timely appeal, it is playing to crowded houses.

Political leaders of Chicago, men high in state politics and managers of campaigns have attended the play and have declared it the greatest political drama ever written. The story of the boss who has risen to despotic power and turns reformer is one of strong, human interest.

The friend whose fortunes he has made turns from him, but the woman the friend has vainly loved, turns to him. The plot of his powerful enemies fails and the boss when defeat and ruin seem inevitable, carries the election and the woman he loves and all ends happily.

Miss Ellis has avoided exaggeration and caricature and has presented what practical politicians declare is a true picture of politicians and the inner workings of a political campaign. The verisimilitude of the drama is greatly enhanced by the fine character work of Edward Ellis, the beautiful Janet Beecher, George Parker, Francis Byrne and others of the cast.
