NICARAGUAN REVOLT BROUGHT TO A CLOSE

General Mena Surrenders to an American Admiral.

Granada Now Completely Under Control of the United States Forces —Inhabitants Are Facing Starvation.

General Mena, who has been the leader of the Nicaraguan revolutionists, is to be sent to Panama under guard of American sailors and marines.

Minister Weitzel reported to the state department that Rear Admiral Sutherland had accepted the surrender of Mena and 700 followers.

His capture is taken to indicate the collapse of the revolution, and his removal to Panama probably means exile.

Sent Mena to Safety, Is Belief.

Officials here believe General Mena requested that he be permitted to surrender to Admiral Sutherland from fear of summary action at the hands of the Nicaraguan federals, and the admiral doubtless thought it advisable to get the rebel leader out of the country as soon as possible.

Granada now is completely under control of United States forces. Conditions are reported pitiful in the extreme. The inhabitants face famine in consequence of their long isolation. Red Cross provisions have been distributed with the greatest haste.

Irish Leadership Ignored. It is not thought that General Zedon and his force will attempt to hold out now that the head of the revolution has given up.

Little importance is attached here to the announcement by Juan Irias, former follower of Zelaya, of his intention to succeed General Mena.

Irias made known his ambition before leaving San Jose, Costa Rica, several days ago. Nothing since has been heard of his whereabouts.

WILSON ADHERANT WINS

Former Representative Hughes Incensed in New Jersey.

Returns from the primary elections held throughout New Jersey show that former Representative William Hughes, of Paterson, had received the endorsement of 20,000 majority of the Democratic voters for the nomination for U. S. senator. With a few exceptions the returns seemed to justify the conclusion that Hughes carried the various counties by from two to three times the vote cast for former United States Senator Smith, Jr., his principal Democratic antagonist. Hughes was running as the picked candidate of Gov. Wilson and Smith was allied with the anti-Wilson forces throughout the state.

The vote for the third Democratic candidate, Frank H. McDermitt, of Newark, was a negligible quantity, as his candidacy was never taken seriously.

The Republican preferential vote was cast almost unanimously for United States Senator Frank O. Briggs, the only member of his party to file a petition.

ULSTERITES SIGN COVENANT

Great Demonstration in Belfast at an Anti-Home-Rule Meeting.

At Belfast, in Ireland, the singing of the national anthem by an audience of 3,000 persons comprising everybody representative of Belfast's great industrial, mercantile, civil and religious community, brought to a close a great anti-home-rule meeting at Ulster hall amid a fervor which was not equalled even by the anti-home-rule convention of 1892. The Ulsterites then signed the covenant.

The supreme dramatic moment of the memorable gathering was the unfolding and presentation to Sir Edward Carson, the chief propagandist against home rule, of the flag carried by King William at the Battle of the Boyne.

DYNAMITE IN MINE STRIKE

Union Officials Declare Explosive Was Planted to Discredit Cause.

Men guarding the Bingham & Garfield railroad, owned by the Utah Copper company, reported the finding of three boxes of dynamite beneath the Freeman canon bridge, a short distance below the Bingham, Utah, depot.

Union officials declare that their men are not responsible and that they have evidence it was put there so it might be found and suspicion cast against the strikers.

SHELEVILLE, IND.—Charles Williams, who was thirty-six years old, of Rugby, Ind., committed suicide here in a most dramatic manner in front of the home of his brother-in-law, W. C. Rominger. He drank carbolic acid because his wife, who had left him a year ago, refused to see him or hold any conversation with him. Mr. Rominger met him at the walk and told him he should not enter the house, because Mrs. Williams, who is a sister of Mr. Rominger, had requested that he be kept away.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. A BOX OF SARDINES.

How to Test it and How to Tell the Kind of Fish it Holds. Francis Marre gives the following instructions for purchasing a can of sardines: The two sides of the can should be flat or concave. If they bulge out there is a likelihood that the can contains gases resulting from decomposition. No can should be bought that has been resoldered. The lettering on the can should be clear and distinct. If there is a choice between soldered cans and cans sealed by crimping, the latter should always be preferred. If the cans are soldered select those that have bright solder, which is less likely to contain lead and less likely to be bad. After the box of sardines is taken home the can should be opened under water. If any bubbles of gas escape the stuff should be destroyed. The kind of oil used in preparing the sardines is of no great importance. The fish used are not, however, always true "sardines." In the true sardine the dorsal fin is forward of the ventral fin and there is no wrinkled crest on the ventral line. The skin is smooth and bluish on the back. In the herring the dorsal fin is only slightly in front of the ventral fin and there is a wrinkled ridge behind the latter. The skin is brownish on the back, with a delicate network. In the sprat the dorsal fin is in a line with the ventrals, and the crest behind as well as in front of the ventral fins can be easily felt by passing the thumb backward from the base of the head. The flesh of the sprat is rather hard. In the anchovy the ventral crest is absent, as in the sardines, but the dorsal fins are behind the ventrals. The "chinchard," a small variety of mackerel, may be distinguished by its grayish color and the presence of two fins on the back extending nearly the whole length of the body. The forward fin has a spiny point. —Harper's Weekly.

No-Rim-Cut Tires
(10 Per Cent Oversize)
Proved 1,250,000 Times

Note that 1,250,000 Goodyear tires have now gone into use. They have been tested out on some 200,000 cars. It gives 10 per cent more air capacity. That saves the blow-outs due to overloading. The present demand results from the verdict of 200,000 users. And that demand is now larger by far than for any other tire in existence. But now 1,250,000 tires have proved that the claims are true. Your own friends know the truth. Men all around you use No-Rim-Cut tires. Ask them what it means to have oversize tires—tires that can't be rim-cut. You will then admit them, too. That means a saving of 23 per cent. For statistics show that 23 per cent of all ruined tires of the old type rim-cut. They have also found that the 10 per cent oversize, with the average car, adds 25 per cent to the tire mileage. Our 1912 Tire Book—based on 13 years of tire making—is filled with facts you should know. Ask us to mail it to you.
