The Man Across the Street

All the talk about campaign contributions and senate investigating committees draws attention to the fact that the Republican managers still seem to be the bunch with the real money to spend and that they are spending it. Newspapers are carrying page ads, the mails are full of circulars, booklets, etc., describing the benefits that will come if we stick to the G. O. P., billboards are covered with posters telling us why we should like the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill, and even the street cars—and this sort of advertising is expensive—carry cards which tell us that because there are four letters in Taft and four in safe we should vote for Taft. Weanwhile it will be noticed that the advertising done by the Progressives Party is confined principally to unique little Bull Moose pins worn on the lapels of the voters coats and—"it's enough, Abe, so help me."

Geo. Ade, who is one of the many writers who have entered the ranks of Progressive workers, says:

"A good many persons, especially those who wear overshoes in the summer time, object to the colonel because he is scrappy and assertive. If the colonel didn't happen to be just what he is, the sextons who make a business of embalming reformers would have laid him away twenty years ago.

They have been trying to get something on him ever since he bobbed up as a police commissioner in New York City. About all they have proved to date is that when he gets mad he is not polite."

Make Your Furniture Glad

by using the new, marvelous Dusting Liquid that dusts, cleans and polishes at the same time. A trial will prove to you what real "Dusting Satisfaction" is. Your home will always have that new, fresh "just-after-house-cleaning" look.

The ladies of the Ossoli are especially interested in philanthropy, civics, education and art.
