The Man Across the Street

At a meeting of the Southern Iowa Editorial Association, held a few weeks ago, the following was one article in a resolution adopted unanimously:

"Resolved, That any advertising for church, charitable or other organizations given for the benefit of financial gain should be charged for as other advertising; that the newspaper publishers contribute to these institutions and that their advertising space is their merchandise and should be paid for by the same organizations."

THE PRESS does not print the above with any intention of following it with an article stating that its publishers have decided to follow the lead of the Iowa association but rather to offer an opportunity for comparison between its methods and theirs. THE PRESS prints an average of fifteen columns of local news each week and of this fully one-fifth is devoted to entertainments and bazaars given by various societies. No charge is made for printing these notices as news items for THE PRESS is published for the express purpose of boosting local institutions and we are glad to get such notices at any time.

THE TRINITY GUILD BAZAAR

Will Open new Sunday School and Parish Building Nov. 22 and 23

All summer long the ladies of Trinity Church Guild have been working for the great bazaar which is to be held in the new Sunday School and Parish building on Friday and Saturday, November 22 and 23, the proceeds to be devoted to the building fund. The plans which were carefully drawn up six months ago, have been faithfully carried out and all the indications are that the affair will be a great success.

Numerous dainty articles suitable for gifts have been gathered together with many other things for practical everyday use. There will be dainties for the Thanksgiving and Christmas tables and dolls and pretty things for gifts. A large assortment of unusual Christmas cards has been specially imported from England for the sale and will be offered at moderate prices. There will also be many useful and pretty articles for buyers with slender purses as well as for those who can afford to spend liberally and it has been decided to maintain a single fair price for all articles and not to make a reduction upon things left unsold at the end of the second day.

There is the tea room and delicatessen shop, the Dutch Garden, the Chinese Laundry, the fortune-telling booth, a smoking room for the men and a continuous vaudeville performance and many new and original features.

A special feature will be made of the luncheons and suppers which will be served to all on both days, and for which tables may be reserved in advance and friends are urged to arrange luncheon parties and to come to the cafeteria dinners. In addition tea will be served and light refreshments.

A book of the bazaar is to be issued with an account of the various features and a history of the parish, illustrated with photographs. The chairman of the general committee is Mrs. Frank L. Wean, and her assistants are Mrs. Earl W. Spencer, Miss Elizabeth Towner, and Mrs. John H. Harmon. Under them are fifteen committees, each having charge of a special booth or department. A hearty welcome will be accorded to all comers and all are guaranteed a good time and an honest dollar's worth.

Ft. Sheridan Notes

On Thursday evening the bachelors gave a Halloween party to the officers and ladies at the officers club. The rooms were artistically decorated with pumpkins, lanterns and corn stalks.

On Friday night there will be an informal hop for the ladies and officers.

Mr. John Horenberger

The death of Mr. John Horenberger occurred at his home in Half Day Saturday evening at six-thirty o'clock after an illness of black diphtheria which lasted only two days. Interment was in Wheeling cemetery Sunday afternoon.

Highland Park Woman's Club

The question: "Shall we have a branch of the Illinois Juvenile Protective Association in Highland Park and along the North Shore" was brought before the Club Tuesday afternoon, the subject being presented by Mrs. James Porter of Hubbard Woods and Mrs. Ira Couch Woods of Winnetka. The certainty for the need of such an organization has grown out of investigation made by Winnetka people during the past spring and summer.

It is not the purpose of this article to relate conditions actually found by this investigation but suffice it to say that the women present at the meeting were quite overcome and all agreed the Juvenile Protective Association was much needed on the north shore.

The first step toward such a movement has already been taken, with headquarters at Winnetka and an Advisory Council of ten people for that town. This fall three members for this council were chosen from Highland Park namely: Mr. R. L. Sandwick, Mrs. Maud H. Shannon, Mrs. Geo. Dean. The kind of work mapped out for the association is largely done in Chicago and the problems brought to the committee were to see that all buildings used for public affairs are properly used; to prohibit the sale of indecent literature, post cards and cigarettes to minors and to prosecute the people who sell them; decent regulations for our electric car stations; to see that the proper kind of pictures are presented at the moving picture theaters, also to have proper regulations at dance halls and dances properly chaperoned.

Wherever investigations were made improvements have followed.

The Citizens Committee has decided that in order to find the weak places in our towns, we need an officer who understands such work, that corrections may be made and innocent young people protected from the snares and traps into which they may fall.

Community House in Winnetka has done much toward providing a place for proper entertainment for young people and we are doing much in Highland Park along that line but there is still much to be done. Those present were of the opinion that a grand and good work would be done if the public spirited men of Highland Park would join and contribute so we might have a community house in which to house activities already started such as the Boy Scouts, The Young Women's Christian Association, The Boys Club and give the much needed protection and advantages to the youth of our town.

The following ladies were hostesses for the afternoon: Mrs. Henry W. Boyd, chairman, Mrs. Charlotte Boyd, Mrs. C. L. Boyd, Mrs. Frank Clark, Mrs. R. Calvin Dobson and Miss Estelle Clark.
