The annual meeting of the Woman's Missionary society of the Presbyterian church was held at the home of Mrs. Fred Haggie Thursday afternoon. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Fred Rosebro; vice-president, Mrs. John A. Reichelt; secretary, Miss Josephine Woodman; treasurer, Mrs. Ralph Knickerbocker. Program committee consists of the officers and Mrs. J. A. Reichelt, Jr. The Indians and mountaineers were studied. Mesdames G. C. Pettis, R. Knickerbocker, T. Knaak and Miss Emilie Knaak read articles on the Indian question, and Miss Woodman read a pathetic little story of a mountaineer entitled "Cindy's Chance." Seventeen dollars was sent toward the support of a mountaineer girl.

A play has been selected by the members of the Dramatic club which they are planning to give some time in May.

Mr. William Carolan is on the sick list this week.

A little informal dance was given by Young Men's club on Saturday evening in Anderson's hall. About seventy young people were in attendance of which a number came from Chicago, Glenview and Highland Park. The hall was prettily decorated with blue and white paper. Mr. Walter Antes acted as floor manager.

A number of friends were entertained by Mrs. J. Antes, Sr. Sunday afternoon in honor of her birthday.

Miss Woodman entertained 22 guests at a Washington supper last Saturday night. Supper was served at 6:30. The dining room was extensively decorated with garlands of red, white and blue, which color scheme was carried out throughout the house. Later in the evening several games of 500 were played and the prizes were captured by Mrs. Wm Galloway and Mrs. James Warning. After cards Mr. Gene Ender gave several selections on the piano which were enjoyed by all.

Highland Park Woman's Club

Tuesday the members of the club enjoyed an unusual treat in having for the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Esther Falkenstein who founded the settlement house of the same name on the north-west side of Chicago. She chose as her subject that which is so vital a question at the present time, "Equal Suffrage," stating the reasons why it is needed and why there should be equal laws for men and women in place of the present man made laws made for men. The speaker, who was the guest of Mrs. A. B. Holabird, who had charge of the program, held the audience fascinated for over an hour with her forceful and absolutely concise address. The music of the afternoon was a piano solo by Miss Victoria Pownall who is always a pleasing performer and her rendition of "The Lark" was delightful. Tea was served by the following hostesses: Mrs. John Oliver, Mrs. Frederick Maina, Mrs. Laing, Mrs. Clarence Thayer, Mrs. William Millard, Mrs. J. J. Mitchell, Mrs. A. L. Moore, and Mrs. Henry Scarborough. Daffodils formed the floral decorations of the tea table which was lighted with shaded candles.

Waukegan Defeated at Basketball 22 to 14. Visitors Bring many Rooters

Two carloads of Waukegan High school rooters accompanied their basketball team to Deerfield yesterday and the locals gave them a hospitable greeting and then proceeded to trim their pets to the tune of 22 to 14, an extremely inopportune act, but the Deerfields needed the game to carry out their unbroken string of victories. Next Wednesday the locals play New Trier and if they can defeat this team they are entitled to some kind of a championship, even though they were defeated at Joliet, for New Trier was the best team at a recently held meet in which 14 Northern Illinois teams played.

SUCCESS OF "HINDLE WAKES"

Forces Move to Larger Theatre: Goes to Olympic, March 2.

The tremendous success of "Hindle Wakes," the English play by Stanley Houghton, at the Fine Arts Theatre, first compelled the Chicago Theatre Society to arrange with William A. Brady for two weeks extension, and has now compelled it to seek a larger theatre. The play will move into the Olympic Theatre, Sunday night, March 2, for an indefinite stay. The comedy-drama which made all London talk has repeated its sensational success in Chicago and is the most talked about play that has been in the Western metropolis for years. The company of English players, including Herbert Lomas, Emelio Polini, Whitford Kane, Alice O'Dea, Roland Young, Robert Forsyth, Kathleen McPherson, and Lillian Tweed, have won everyone by their extraordinarily good acting, and even those who disapprove of the play upon moral grounds are unstinted in their praise of the acting. The story—that of a young girl who chooses her own pathway and refuses to accept the traditional old dictum that she must marry the man if she expects to be considered respectable—has caused an endless amount of discussion among the people of Chicago. Some say that Fanny—played by Miss Polini—is justified; others declare she is an abnormal type of girl and that the viewpoint of the play is absurd because it is based upon false assumptions. "Hindle Wakes" is that rare type of play which appeals to those who are often styled "high brows" and to those who go to the theatre to be entertained, and without any thought of finding in a dramatic performance an answer to the problem of life. It has a tense interest that compels everyone to listen attentively from the raising of the curtain until the concluding speech by old Nat Jeffcoat.
