ROUGH CAST CEMENT COTTAGE.

Design 984, by Glenn L. Saxton, Architect, Minneapolis, Minn.

Copyright, 1912, by Glenn L. Saxton. PERSPECTIVE VIEW - FROM A PHOTOGRAPH.

This cottage is finished with rough cast cement plaster up to the belt course of the second story. The piazza is inclosed with sash which can be replaced by screens in the summer. Size 24 by 28 feet. The living room is 11 feet 6 inches wide and 21 feet 6 inches long, with open fireplace and stairway across rear. The dining room connects with the living room by a pedestaled opening. There is a sideboard in the end of dining room. Kitchen has built-in cupboard. Each bedroom has two windows on opposite sides to give perfect ventilation. There is a full basement under entire house. First story, nine feet; second story, eight feet. Birch or red oak finish in first story and pine to paint in second story and either birch or maple floors throughout. Cost to build, exclusive of heating and plumbing, $2,150.

Upon receipt of $1 the publisher of this paper will supply Saxton's book of plans entitled "American Dwellings." It contains 254 new and up to date designs of cottages, bungalows and residences costing from $1,000 to $6,000.

A COTTAGE WITH AMPLE PIAZZA.

For a cottage this contains all that any one could desire—a large piazza across the entire front and reception room and living room thrown together by pedestaled columned opening, giving practically one large living room across entire front. Size 23 feet wide and 28 feet 6 inches deep. There is a full basement. First story, 9 feet; second story, 8 feet. Finish, Washington or Georgia pine throughout first story and pine to paint in second story. Hardwood floors throughout. Cost to build, exclusive of heating and plumbing, $2,200.

Upon receipt of $1 the publisher of this paper will supply Saxton's book of plans entitled "American Dwellings." It contains 254 new and up to date designs of cottages, bungalows and residences costing from $1,000 to $6,000.

SECONDHAND ORANGE SKINS.

Sweepings of English Theaters Are Sold to the Jammakera.
 Now and then one sees in the English papers advertisements announcing that So-and-so has a large stock of orange skins for sale. As a matter of recommendation as to quality the advertisement concludes with the statement that they are from such and such a music hall!
 There is a big business in second-hand orange skins, lemon peel, etc., on the other side of the Atlantic. Most of them are bought by makers of jams and marmalade. This was brought out when there was an investigation of the preserving industry in England.
 In certain portions of the theater and music halls of London and other large British cities the seats are not reserved. Admission to the pit is generally sixpence. Once a person leaves his seat it is immediately grabbed by some one else. In order to get a good seat one must come early. One grows hungry as the hours go by before the performance ends. The favorite sustenance of those who sit in these cheap seats is oranges.
 They consume them in large quantities and throw the skins on the floor. After each performance the skins are carefully gathered up and sold to dealers.—New York Sun.

FROZEN BY FISH POWER.

Truthful Tale About Making Ice Cream in Nova Scotia.
 Not all the fish preparators live in the United States, according to the Mariner's Advocate. An editor recently received the following letter:
 "I have read an interesting account of singing fish in your paper. It recalled to me the memory of a rather remarkable fish we have in Nova Scotia. It is known as the 'frost fish,' because it may be frozen like a lump of ice, but if placed in water in that condition it soon thaws out and swims around as vigorously as ever. The natives make use of this property to make ice cream. The fish is caught, frozen and placed in the cream. In thawing out it freezes the cream, and its movements at the same time beat the mixture, making it smooth."
 Taking them by and large, from Moosehead lake to Puget sound and from the upper Mississippi to the gulf, we have some very capable and industrious fish flans in this country. But we hand the reel and rod over to Nova Scotia. We have talent in this country, but Nova Scotia is the abode of genius.

The Apostle of Greenland.
 The conversion of the Eskimo in that remote and bleak dependency of Denmark, Greenland, was actuated as early as 1710 by Hans Egede, who has become historic as the apostle of Greenland. In that year he published as a pamphlet "A Proposition For Greenland's Conversion and Enlightenment." This was welcomed with no great warmth by the clergy and was violently opposed by mercantile interests. In four years he had succeeded to such an extent that he founded a training college for missionaries in Copenhagen May 3, 1721. He sailed for Greenland with a small party of mission workers. He was greatly disappointed to find that the Norse colony, left for many years to its own resources, had wholly vanished. He turned, therefore, all his efforts to the conversion of the Eskimo and met with marked success, becoming bishop in 1740. In this office and its trying duties he was succeeded by his son, Paul.—New York Sun

The Harmony of Colors.
 The principle that the sensation of white results from the equal excitement of sensations produced by the three fundamental radiations is deduced naturally from an analysis of the rules of the harmony of colors. Colored lights do not focus at the same point. Therefore the eye must seize different distances at the same time in order to see when different colored surfaces touch. The difference of refrangibility of the different colored rays causes some colors to stand out and others to stand back. Red is the most "flying" or "tapering" of the colors, a red object always appearing to be farther away than a blue object, though it is seen on the same plane and in the same light.—Harper's.

Manufacturing the Truth.
 A gentleman was staying at an English country house, when, hearing a great clatter below one morning, he looked out and saw a couple of grooms holding one of the servant maids on a horse, which they led with difficulty once round the yard. He asked them what it all meant.
 "Well, you see, sir," said they, "we're going to take the horse to market to be sold, and we want to be able to say that he has carried a lady."

Didn't Care For the Money.
 "You advertised for a young lady to be married in a cage of lions."
 "That's right. Fifty plunks. Where's your young man?"
 "Don't you provide the man? What do you suppose was my object in going into this affair?"—Pittsburgh Post

Too Bright.
 "Didn't you win anything in your suit for damages?"
 "No."
 "Why didn't you engage a bright lawyer to take your part?"
 "I did, but he took my all."—Philadelphia Press

 Even the most active minds forget sometimes:—The man whose memory doesn't slip these days has little on his mind.

Concentration of mind implies forgetfulness, for the time, of other matters. It isn't serious, because we have the telephone.
 If you leave your grip in the train, or forget the order to be given or cancelled, or the social duty of the evening, look about you for the sign of the Blue Bell.
