Our Secret TO DRESS BEAUTIFULLY

Ladies! It is not sufficient to have a nicely made suit that looks well on you--the principle part is to have nice lines which are distinctive in our suits made for stout or tall persons. We are especially experienced to give you the best workmanship and finest lines shown in today's fashion, as we have had many years experience in the best houses of Paris, London and Chicago as cutters and fitters and have been creating models in some of the leaning houses of Paris. We just received the latest copies of Paris models. Drop in and have a look.

A MOVEMENT IN SCALPS.

One of Them, Though, For Good Reason, Was Firmly Fixed.

One day when Professor Powell was bearing the class in anatomy he was describing the manner in which the various muscles of the scalp perform their several functions, says ex-Governor Theodore T. Geer, reminiscent of his school days in "Fifty Years in Oregon." To make the subject clearer the professor told the members of the class to move their scalps by aid of the muscles without moving the head and proceeded to lead the way by giving a personal demonstration.

He had a shaggy head of hair and could turn his scalp almost halfway round his head. The success that attended his maiden effort was so astonishingly complete that it brought forth a roar of laughter, in which the professor heartily joined, although his mouth was where his right eye usually was and his ears were under his chin.

When order was finally restored each member of the class tried it, with varying degrees of success. But Tom Niklin's effort was a hopeless failure, although his superhuman attempts to move his scalp were as laughable as Professor Powell's grotesque success had been. Finally, after the poor fellow had made all the oblique grimaces the class could endure, the professor said:

"Thomas, what is the matter with your head?"

"I don't know, sir," replied Tom, "unless I am the only one in the room whose head is so full of brains that they crowd his scalp."

SLEEP OF THE ELEPHANT.

What Little There is Seems, as a Rule, to Be Taken Standing.

It is doubted whether, in the wild state, elephants ever lie down. Gordon Cumming thought he had found evidence in marks upon the ground that the adult bulls did stretch themselves out at full length for a few hours' rest at about midnight, but he contended that the young and the cows always remained on their feet.

Another authority, Selous, has expressed doubt whether even the old bulls lie down. He tells of one herd that was known to have kept moving and feeding throughout the twenty-four hours. "Except when rolling in mud and water," he says, "it is likely that an African elephant never lies down during its whole life."

However this may be, the most competent authorities seem to agree that this animal sleeps less and more lightly than any other. J. L. Kipling, the father of the writer, estimated the period of slumber taken standing up to average about four hours in the twenty-four, and this estimate has been employed by the son in an amusing passage for one of his stories, "Moti Gaj," wherein the sleep of the elephant is represented as consisting of an hour's fidgeting on one side and a similar period's fidgeting on the other, followed throughout the rest of the night "by long, low, rumbling soliloquies."—Harper's Weekly.

Big Timber of Guinea.

The greenheart of British Guinea is one of the most remarkable and useful trees in the world. Of the three varieties—yellow, black and mahogany—all are durable if cut at maturity and grow to such dimensions that logs can be had from eighteen to twenty-four inches square and seventy feet long. Greenheart is one of the eight woods esteemed as first class by the Lords, and admirable keelsons, piles and other ship timber, as well as submerged piling, dock gates, etc., are made from it. Owing to the great demand for the timbers and the reckless destruction of trees, the government has put a ban on cutting any which will not produce timbers eleven inches square.—Boston Globe.

Balloonsists a Bonanza.

"Is it true that you farmers are hostile to balloonsists?" ventured the young aeronaut who had descended in the barnyard.

"Why, no, stranger," laughed the old farmer as he came forward with a pitchfork. "We are always glad to have a balloon land on our place."

"I'm certainly glad to hear it."

"Yes, the last one that landed here came in handy. I used the ropes to tie the steers, packed corn in the basket and cut the gas bag up and made overalls for all the farm hands. Welcome, stranger, welcome!"—Chicago News.

Reassuring Him.

"I thought I told you not to eat my porterhouse steak without my permission."

"Then why are you disobeying my order?"

"This won't delay the paying of your bill, doc; this steak is being paid for by my friend here."—Houston Post.

The Modern Cinderella.

One day the teacher during recess told the children the story of Cinderella. The next day, to test their memory, she asked them:

"Why did Cinderella have to leave the ball promptly at 12?"

A bright little maid answered: "So she could catch the last car."—St. Louis Republic.

MONEY TO BURN

The burning of money in the form of fuel is necessary. Fuel extravagance is an old and costly habit. You cannot afford, however, to keep on burning coal just because it has been your habit for years. USE WAUKEGAN and save 20 per cent or your fuel cost. You are certainly not so fond of dust, smoke soot and ashes—of expensive, unclean conditions—as to be unwilling to give Solway Coke a trial. That's all we ask—the coke will do the rest.

SOLWAY COKE

"The Fuel Without a Fault"

A booklet describing this ideal fuel and its use will be delivered to every customer of the North Shore Gas Co. Please read it carefully—it will be worth your while. If YOU do not receive a copy please write or call at our office.

Parents and Teachers' Association

High School Division

An exhibition of gymnastic work opened the program for last Friday afternoon and before a large audience of parents, teachers and pupils over sixty girls, neat and straight in their white linen middle blouses and navy blue bloomers formed a grand march that was really inspiring. Under the leadership of the athletic instructor, Miss Gertrude Nevins, classes in gymnastic dancing gave the most attractive and interesting exhibition of their work. The introduction of rhythmic dancing is a rather recent innovation and has proven to be a success from every standpoint. The girls exhibition was followed by the boys splendid work in dumb bell exercises and apparatus work under the direction of Mr. Bryon Smith.

About one hundred ladies listened to the wonderfully helpful talk given by Dr. Mary McEwen, well known to every club woman as an authority on social hygiene. Her many useful suggestions were given in simple and effective language. The doctor spent the earlier part of the afternoon visiting the school, meeting the teachers and watching the exhibit of the gymnastic classes. During the meeting she took occasion to pay a sincere compliment to our school, especially commending the high moral feeling noticeable; the personal supervision of each pupil by some one teacher; the chivalrous attitude of the boys; the same comradeship between boys and girls encouraged by the social activities of the school participated in by pupil and teacher; children and parents alike, and the instruction given in, not only the regular branches but in dietetics, eugenics and gymnastic and rhythmic dancing. Tea was served following the meeting by the hostesses who were the members of the faculty.

EASTER OFFER

$25.00 Made to Measure Suits	$22.50
$20.00 Made to Measure Suits	$17.50

This offer holds good only until Easter, March the 23rd

These suits are guaranteed by the Enterprise Tailors, Chicago, to be all wool and tailored satisfactorily.

Why We Make this Offer

First, because we want to get a goodly number of these Enterprise suits for 1913 in actual service as early in the season as possible. These suits are their own advertisement, and we can acquaint the men of the community with the merits of this great line as effectively by this special offer as in any other way.

Another reason is that Easter comes early this year and we must "start something" early to remind our patrons that they must actually buy their Easter suits in March.

Come and See us About It

It's a straight business proposition, in which both of us are benefited. It's worth a lot to our future business to acquaint the public with the fact that we handle the Enterprise line of clothes.

Every suit is sold with a money-back guarantee if not satisfactory.

Elm Place Division

About fifty mothers and teachers were present at the regular meeting of the mothers question and discussion circle of the Elm Place Division Parents and Teachers' Association, held in the auditorium Thursday, March 6, 1913. Mrs. Arthur L. Moore gave an account of her visit to the Armstrong Fresh Air school at Rogers Park, followed by short and interesting reports of the Francis Parker private school, by Mrs. C. P. Woodcock Mrs. Chas. H. Merritt. Mrs. George Mason made a report concerning her visit to the private Latin School of Chicago. Two schools at Gary, one the Froebel school now under construction, had also been visited by the teachers, March 5th, and Supt. J. L. Smith and teachers, Miss Guiney, Miss White, Miss Knapp, Miss Gertrude Miller, also Mrs. H. M. Bacon gave the most interesting reports. Emphasis was especially laid on the fact of the wonderful opportunities to foreigners in the vicinity of Gary who have the privilege of sending their children to a school with so many advantages in the way of medical inspection, lunch rooms and mammoth class rooms. In this school, which is attended by both, there is vocational training for both grammar and high school pupils as well as a large gymnasium and 26 acres of playground which, as some of the speakers noticed, make one envy the opportunities of the foreigners as compared to those given our own children.
