MODEL IN ZIGZAG.

This Unevenly Woven
Cloth a Spring Novelty.

IN CLOTH AND EMBROIDERY.

One of the heavy crapes, a material called zigzag, is used in the development of this dress, which displays many new features.

Plumets embroideries in yellow and black form the vest and coat portion, beneath which the zigzag takes the guise of a redingote.

For the Mere Man.

A convenience invented to help a man with the difficulty of buttonholes which have been closed together by the process of handering is a rosewood polished stick two and a half inches long made with a full point at one end which pries open the buttonhole without effort. These are made in Europe, but sell for 5 cents apiece. They are called "buttonhole openers," and men seem well satisfied to possess them.

Artificial pearls are a part of every-day life to a woman, but it is rather new to see them pressed into service for men's jewelry. This is being done, however, and successfully, for studs, which men like to feel are not distressingly valuable on account of their ability to slip away, are to be had for $10 for a set of three. Scarfpins also are priced at $10. Both these are set in fourteen karat gold.

Embroidered Crapes.

To combine with the plain cotton crapes there are attractive embroidered crapes with tiny figures, conventional and floral, worked out in the bright colors so highly favored this winter. There are also bordered crapes with floral borders as exquisitely embroidered by machinery as if done by hand. In fact, the marvels of machinery have never revealed themselves in a more astounding manner than now. Take, for instance, the exquisitely fine Apennine embroidery. To even think of imitating it seems like a foolish dream, yet it has been copied by machinery so perfectly that only an expert could detect the difference.

The New Clock.

Electric flashlight clocks are one of the newest things to be had in French ivory. They are round, with a clear face, and are mounted on a stand of ivory. Jutting up like a fungus and slanting toward the face of the clock is the electric flash; the button to press is just at the end of this, so that when one desires to know the time at night one does not have to hunt for the light, nor does one have to hunt for the perhaps misplaced flash. To an invalid or a nervous person these are well worth the amount charged for them, $0.

KITCHENETTES.

Eggs may be kept by packing them, when new laid, in salt, with the small end downward.

Fish are sealed and towels plucked more quickly if dipped into boiling water for an instant.

Orange peel dried and grated makes a very fine yellow powder that is delicious flavoring for cakes and puddings.

Rice boiled in milk instead of water has a much richer flavor. It must be watched closely while being cooked, as it will burn quickly.

Heat a lemon thoroughly before squeezing it and you will obtain nearly double the quantity of juice that would be obtained if it were not heated.

Fish which contain few bones may be converted into fillets by dividing the flesh from the backbone in long, wide strips, and then removing any smaller bones. Soles supply the best fillets.

Eggs covered with boiling water and allowed to stand for five minutes are more nourishing and easier digested than eggs placed in boiling water and allowed to boil furiously for three and one-half minutes.

A MITE OF A REPUBLIC.

Moreauet is Only One and a Quarter Square Miles in Extent.

The smallest state in Europe, the autonomous republic of Moreauet, is on the boundary between Germany and Belgium.

Moreauet has an area of barely one and a quarter square miles and a population of 3,500. It owes its existence to a boundary controversy for the control of a once important zinc mine. A boundary commission settling the frontiers of Holland and Prussia after the fall of Napoleon in 1814 was unable to agree upon the ownership of this tiny piece of land, with its valuable-mining rights, and finally left the question for future settlement. Neither power was to occupy it, and it was administered jointly by the two states.

In practice the joint administration soon resulted in an administration by neither state, and the community became autonomous under the protection and tutelage of Prussia and Holland and later of Prussia and Belgium. In 1841 the two guaranteeing countries regularized this and formally gave the district its own independent administration. It has no courts, but litigants can choose between the Belgian and Prussian tribunals in beginning litigation, which is subject to the laws neither of Germany nor of Belgium, but of the ancient Code Napoleon--Chicago Inter Ocean.

PRIMITIVE ARAB LIFE.

Desert People Still Have the Customs of Abraham's Time.

In the wild deserts Arab life is as primitive as in Abraham's time. Sheep are still slain to seal a vow. The salt or bread covenant is observed, and when a man dies his tent is torn down and destroyed.

Old names such as Joseph, Moses and Alexander are still in common use among Arabs, though pronounced "Yusuf," "Musa" and "Skandar."

To divorce his wife a man may repeat the formula Ent telek three times. Casually saying it once makes the woman believe, and its repetition is not necessary.

The "evil eye" superstition is common, and the first injunction given a visiting foreigner by experienced Arabian travelers is that he must not point at animals or persons in Arab settlements.

Arabs say a man gifted with this malign power can look at a bird flying in the air and that it will drop dead; that if he chooses to cast his wicked spell on a camel it may go lame or a child so selected will be struck blind.

None of the lower class can read or write, but the Arab is noted for his ready wit and his habit of speaking in allegory.--Christian Herald.
