ROOSEVELT HAPPY

Drinks Large Quantities of Milk While in Chicago.

HE DEALS EASY WITH NEWETT

Asks Court to Instruct Jury to Assess Only "Nominal" Amount—Each Pays His Own Costs—Judge in Charge Says Colonel Proved His Own Temperance.

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt celebrated his victory in the Newett libel case while in Chicago by quaffing large quantities of milk as he waited until it was time to take a train which was to carry him to his eastern home from the trial at Marquette, Mich. He was in his jolliest mood when he reached the city and equally happy when he left it.

Colonel Roosevelt won his libel suit against George A. Newett, who charged the colonel with drunkenness and having waived damages after the defendant had uttered a retraction, the jury awarded the nominal damages of 6 cents, provided in such cases by the law of Michigan. Each party to the suit will have to pay his own expenses.

Judge Flannigan instructed the jury to bring in a verdict for the plaintiff, which they did without leaving their seats. The colonel left for Chicago and the east less than two hours after the conclusion of the case.

The climax of the case came like the conclusion of a powerful drama. When the afternoon session began rumors were flying that the suit would be terminated. Attorney Van Benschoten for the plaintiff resumed the reading of depositions.

Newett Takes the Stand.
 "The plaintiff rests," remarked Attorney James H. Pound.

"The defense will call Mr. Newett," announced Attorney Belden, and a ruddy checked man, whose color did not disguise the fact that he is suffering from a serious illness, took the chair. In his hand he carried a manuscript.

"It is fair to the plaintiff to state that I have been unable to find in any section of the country any individual witness who is willing to state that he has personally seen Mr. Roosevelt drink to excess," said the editor.

Editor Admits Mistake.
 "I am forced to the conclusion that I was mistaken."

The statement admitted that a search of the country had been made to investigate stories of persons who were alleged to have knowledge that Mr. Roosevelt drank to excess, but in every case the stories flattened out to mere opinion or hearsay.

The libel was published in good faith, Newett said, in the belief that it was true and proper information for a public which was being asked to vote for Mr. Roosevelt for president. That it was true the defendant said he never questioned until the libel suit was begun, and believed the assertion until the trial opened.

No demand for a retraction ever has been made, he stated, and when the bill was filed against him, there was nothing left for him to do but seek evidence and make other preparations to contest the suit. Forty depositions were taken in various parts of the country, but to use them, or attempt to use them, would be to continue an injustice which had already become apparent to him and his attorneys.

Roosevelt Waives Damages.
 Attorney Pound turned to Judge Flannigan and said:

"With the court's permission the plaintiff would like to make a brief announcement."

The judge nodded, and Mr. Roosevelt arose. Bowing to the court, the colonel said that he would waive the matter of damages save for the nominal amount provided by law, which is 6 cents. Speaking of his purpose in instituting the suit he said:

"I wished once for all during my life time to deal with those slanders so that never again will it be possible for any man in good faith to repeat them."

Speaking of Colonel Roosevelt as the plaintiff, Judge Flannigan in his charge to the jury said:

"Certainly he has convinced the court not only that he never was drunk, but that he is now and always has been a temperate and obstemious man."

At the same time the court held that Mr. Newett, in publishing the editorial was not actuated by actual ill will.

WRECKED LINER IN PORT

Towed to Queenstown, After Striking Rocks—Passengers Safe.

Several powerful tugs towed the American line steamship Haverford into harbor at Queenstown.

They released it from its dangerous position in Rocky bay, immediately west of Cork Head, at high tide at 1 a. m. It had been lying on the rocks since the previous afternoon, when, with 134 cabin and 850 steerage passengers aboard, it went ashore in a dense fog.

When brought into port there was twenty-one feet of water in its forehold. The rescued passengers number nearly 1,000 and they are to proceed to New York on the Baldo.
