POSTOFFICE REPORT FOR YEAR

Shows Decrease in Foreign Money Orders and gain for Postal Bank Highland Park postoffice report for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1913.

Registered letters and parcels dispatched from this office, 3012; the number received from other offices and delivered here, 3510.

The number of insured parcels dispatched from this office since January 1, 1913, 223; the number received from other offices and delivered, 375.

Special delivery letters and parcels received and delivered, 3063; the number of domestic money orders issued was 4876.

An increase of 192 orders above last year; international orders issued, 1030.

A decrease of 49 orders making a total of all orders issued, 5906; the number of domestic orders paid was 6997 and international 52.

The amount of money represented by issued domestic orders, $42,218.11 and international, $30,186.30 making a total amount of $72,404.41; fees collected for above orders were $691.73. The amount of domestic paid orders was $4178.00.

The revenue from box rents and sale of stamps and envelopes was $20,800.55; the decrease in number of international orders issued and amount which is nearly $2000.00 is due to the fact that we have quite a number of foreign born depositors in the Postal Savings Bank who formerly sent their money to their own country for safe keeping.

The Postal Savings Bank shows also a big increase both in number of depositors and amounts.

Respectfully submitted,
A. W. FLETCHER,
Postmaster.

Parcel Post Stamps Unnecessary

An inconvenience which was the cause of many complaints was done away with last week when the postoffice department abolished the parcel post stamp. The order accomplishing this makes the ordinary stamp good for all purposes and as soon as the present supply is exhausted the parcel post stamp will be discontinued. It was issued at first in order to determine the exact revenue from the new system.

Reduction of Fee for Insurance Beginning July 1, 1913, the fee for insurance of fourth class parcels will be five cents for values not exceeding $25, and ten cents for values in excess of $25, and not exceeding $50, to be prepaid in stamps affixed.

"Village House" for Ravinia

Ravinia people are taking great interest in and doing much personal work toward the establishment of a community center to be called the "Village House" which will be ready for use in the fall in connection with the opening of the new school house. For two years articles have appeared in THE PRESS telling of the meetings and work of the Civics Club of Ravinia, the work of which covers an extraordinary wide ground. The members are especially energetic in raising money by work in some manner instead of the usual gift or appeal for help.
This club was organized when a little circle of women gathered at the home of Mrs. Ralph Fletcher Seymour and it has grown and has accomplished among other smaller things the eventful cleanup day in the village, a series of lectures, and the impressing of the needs of a new school, upon the voters. The latest move suggested by the club and one which must indeed be encouraged is the pledge by the majority of Ravinia residents to earn, (notice please, to earn not to give), ten dollars to be used toward the deca-ration and preparing of the old school house to be used as an assembly hall for pupils and citizens alike. Some of the ladies are baking breads and cakes, preserving, and sewing to acquire this money. On Thursday evening of last week Mrs. J.P. Deiter was hostess at a dinner on the lawn of her home and fifty cents a plate was charged while the admission to the musicale, following the dinner in the house was twenty-five cents. One hundred guests were present. On Tuesday evening Miss Anna Morgan of Eastgate Cottage commenced her work for the acquiring of ten dollars when she gave a lesson talk illustrated by reading. Through their own efforts Miss Marjorie Menefee, a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Brown and Miss Mary Highley will be hostesses at a dance on Saturday evening at eight o'clock at the Ravinia school. Twenty-five cents admission is to be charged. The young women have been busy planning for the affair and it will be quite the social event of the week.
Highland Park people will be well represented. An excellent committee to have charge of the decorating and preparing for use of the new village house has been appointed. The members are as follows:
Mr. Frank R. Bott, chairman; Mr. George O. Fairweather, treasurer; Mr. Frederick Wanser, Mr. Thomas Milton Wilder, Mr.
Lawrence Buck, Mrs. Noble Crandall, secretary; Mrs. Porter, Mrs. Ralph Fletcher Seymour, Miss Gaw, and Miss India Taylor. The Civics Club has engaged an extra teacher for the new school, Miss Thorne of Columbus, Ohio.
A covered passageway will connect the Village House with the school building.

Leigh Hunt's Chaotic Home

A curious description of Leigh Hunt's house, where the poet lived with his wife and six children, is that given by Carlyle, as recorded in "Bulletin and Review of the Keats-Shelley Memorial Society."
"Hunt's house excels all you have ever read of—a poetical Unkirkdom without parallel even in literature. In his family room, where are a sickly large wife and a whole shoal of well conditioned, wild children, you will find half a dozen rickety chairs gathered from half a dozen different bucksters. On these and around them and over the dusty table and ragged carpet lie all kinds of litter—books, papers, eggshells, scissors and, last night when I was there, the torn heart of a half quarter loaf. His own room he keeps cleaner."

FRUIT FED RATS OF UGANDA.

By the Natives They Are Regarded as a Dainty Dish.

The idea of eating rats is so repulsive to us that we cannot imagine such a thing unless one were driven to it by starvation. The people of Uganda, however, eat rats not from necessity, but because they like them. The rat of Uganda, however, is very different from the little creature that gnaws holes in our cupboards. This rat is much larger. It is more than a foot long and is therefore quite a substantial animal and as well worth cooking as a rabbit.

The wonderful thing about this rat is that it has two mouths, one behind the other. The first mouth has a pointed ratlike nose and is furnished with two rows of sharp white teeth, with which it bites off its food and passes it on to the second mouth, which is placed just above the throat. This mouth also has two rows of teeth, but one long slender tongue serves for both sets of grinders.
Rats are not only eaten in Uganda, but they are regarded as a delicacy.
The king among his many retainers has one whose duty it is to furnish the royal table with rats. A rat catcher is not an exalted person usually, but in Uganda he is looked upon with respect and walks with an air of dignity. He goes out rat hunting daily and generally finds his game among the young banana trees or in any place where fallen fruit or berries may be found.
For this is what the rat lives on. Slender shoots of bamboo or banana or fruit and leaves are his food, and this diet makes his flesh tender and wholesome.

A CRESCENT OF RUINS.

The Curious Old Cliff Dwellings of the National Mesa Verde.

In the Mesa Verde National park, in southwestern Colorado, are 300 cliff dwellings, of which only the three largest have been repaired. The largest ruin, called Cliff palace, stands about a thousand feet above the bottom of the canyon and 300 feet below the top of the ledge. All the houses connect and open into one another, the entire settlement forming a crescent about 300 feet in length from end to end.
As we contemplate these silent ruins it is hard to believe that at one time they resounded with the hum of industry, the laughter of children, the droning of priests, and the strident cry of the sentinels calling the warriors to battle. The dwellers of these abandoned communities have left no written record, but the shape of the structures and the relics that have been dug from the debris of centuries give some idea of how these people lived and moved and had their being.

The main houses were built on a ledge close to its front, and back of this was an open space that answered the purpose of a court, a street, a playground or a place for industrial pursuits, such as weaving and pottery making. At intervals along the front were towers and bastions, and in the interior were kiosks or secret chambers used for religious ceremonies. In every village were storehouses to provide a supply of provisions in times of war or failure of crops.

Sarah Bernhardt's Lesson to Belgium's Customs Officials.

In the bad old days not so very long ago travelers, when they reached the Belgian frontier, were compelled to leave their compartments in the middle of the night in order to be present at the customs examination of their luggage.

A train in which Mme. Sarah Bernhardt was traveling reached the frontier at midnight, and the customs officials made their customary raid into her compartment. Roughly awakened from her beauty sleep and not in the best of humor, Mme. Bernhardt refused to descend.

The officials uncoupled the actress' carriage, dumped her luggage on the platform and went through it with conscientious rigor.

By this time the train was about ready to start.

"You are not going to leave without me?" cried the actress. "Be so kind as to couple my carriage at once."

"When we have completed our examination," replied the inspector and went on rummaging with redoubled zeal. But he did not know with whom he had to deal. The actress took up a portmanteau, placed it between the engine and calmly seated herself.

"And now," she said, "you can go on if you please."

The officials were helpless, and the Bernhardt car was attached to the train. This lesson in manners soon afterward produced a change in the Belgian customs.—London Telegraph.

Incidental Music.
One afternoon a couple from an adjoining town presented themselves to a Boston divine and asked to be married just as he was about to enter the pulpit to conduct an afternoon service.
The minister replied that he regretted that he could not at that moment comply with their wish, but that immediately upon the conclusion of the service he would take pleasure in performing the ceremony. The lovers after demurring seated themselves in the rear of the church. When the minister had finished the service he made the following announcement: "The parties who are to be joined in matrimony will present themselves at the chancel immediately after the singing of Hymn 415, 'Mistaken Souls That Dream of Heaven!'"—Exchange.

His View of It.
Bond—Don't you realize that marriage broadens a man? Benedict—Oh, yes, I suppose it can be put that way, but "broadens" is the word I've always used.—London Tit-Bits.

No man was ever so much deceived by another as by himself.—Greville.
An institution is the lengthened shadow of one man.—Emerson.
