SUNDAY'S CONTEST A PITCHERS BATTLE

CRESCENTS TRIM MANDELS 3 TO 1

With both Pitchers going fine Greenslade has Shade on Rival. Fast work on Bases and in Field

The Crescents administered a neat trimming last Sunday to the strengthened Mandel Bros. nine, whom they defeated by the count of 3 to 1 in a strenuous contest. It was a rattling good game, in which both teams were read to the limit.

Greenslade and Rogers, the rival twirlers, engaged in a great pitchers' battle. As both teams were lending their slabmen strong support, it became apparent before the game had gone many innings that the result hinged upon the work of the opposing hurlers. And as Bob outpitched his opponent and received faultless support in the pinches, the Crescents deserved to win.

Every one of the local players earned a good word for his fine defensive work. Joe Richards' two errors notwithstanding. Neither of his slips was chargeable to poor work on his part. His boot of a grounder in the 11th is pardonable because Jimmie Duffy undertook to cover a little too much ground and interfered with Joe's settling of the ball. His other bobble was a wide throw to first after making a brilliant stop in deep short. A hit that would have escaped a slower player altogether for a safety.

The visitors showed a wholesome fear for George Schaefer's arm, preferring the sacrifice game to taking chances with his whip. George was here with some classy backstopping and deserves much credit for Greenslade's fine slabbing.

Hellman, the new outfielder whom Manager Flinn is playing in the left garden, proved his worth at bat, on the bases and in the field. He compelled Rogers to pitch them over to him and the good ones he waded into for healthy wallops. On the paths he showed speed and nerve, which stamps him as a dangerous base runner. He made the feature play of the game when in the ninth he pinched a sizzling liner that came to him knee high and that he was barely able to reach.

Jimmie Duffy was the offensive star of the game, getting three safeties and stealing a base. Hellman, with a single, two walks and a pair of base thefts, showed up next strongest.

The visitors were the first to count. In the fifth their first man up reached the initial sack on "Noisy" Joe's hard-luck boot, and a sacrifice, and a safe swat over second scored the runner. All the home team's run-getting was confined to the lucky seventh. Schaefer opened the round with a liner to center and Hellman followed with a walk. Flinn's attempted sacrifice went for a hit. Schaefer scoring. Hellman and Flinn each advanced a base on the pitcher's bad leg to second. Greenslade rapped to shortstop, who threw too wide to catch Hellman at the plate. Hellman registering and Flinn hitting to third. Greenslade stole second and Shields whiffed. Richards crossed Flinn when he gave the squeeze-play sign. Howard being run to death between third and home, out Greenslade moving on to third. Richards immediately atoned for his slip and picked a safe one to left and Greenslade romped home. Richards stole second and Fred Glader, who replaced his brother, walked. Duffy drove a hot one over third that the baseman could block only partially and both runners advanced a base. Rogers speared Bourgeois' hot bounder with one hand and threw him out at first, which ended the rally.

NAPOLEON'S PORTRAITS.

Some That Louis XVIII. Did Not Succeed in Banishing.

At the time of the Emperor Napoleon's exile to the island of Elba among other means to which the Bourbon king resorted in order to stay up his tottering throne was the passage of a stringent law that no picture, statue, statuette, figure or resemblance of "General Bonaparte," as he was called, should be allowed to remain in any place, public or private.

Mr. W., an American, then residing in Paris, owning a particularly fine and correct bronze statuette of the emperor, buried it, with other things of the kind, in his cellar. His turn for inspection by the police came. In walked the chief officer, who said, "Have you any statue, image or likeness of any kind of that upstart, that Bonaparte?"

"Certainly I have," answered the American, and, turning to his valet, he said, "Francis, bring me a bag of Napoleons." Then, pouring them out on a table before him, he said, "Here they are."

The police official said: "That gold is not what I want. You can keep it." "Go and tell your master," said Mr. W., "that the whole specie currency of the realm must be called in before he can keep from the eyes of the people the features of the Emperor Napoleon Bonaparte."

"You are right," said the official, leaving.—Boston Herald.

COLORING DRAWINGS.

A Tip to Draftsmen That May Save Time and Trouble.

Every draftsman has had occasion at one time or another to color a drawing or a white print. The use of colored inks is unsatisfactory; crosshatching in colors obscures the details and is slow, while water colors have the disadvantage of slowness, besides being difficult to apply evenly.

A quick and satisfactory method of coloring involves the use of ordinary wax crayons and gasoline. Crayon of the color desired is applied and then rubbed with a piece of cloth wet with gasoline until the color is even and extended to the limits desired. If it overruns the lines it can be erased with a pencil eraser. Some colors, particularly the yellows, purples, greens and light blues, produce much better results than others.

It is probable that the gasoline dissolves the wax from the crayon, leaving the pigment as an impalpable powder, which when rubbed over the paper colors it uniformly. The method is applicable with equal success to eggshell and smooth drawing papers and to wattle prints on both paper and cloth.—Engineering and Mining Journal.

Delicately Handled.

Speaking of fitting marriages, an east side clergyman said:

"I favor healthy marriages only, to be sure. Health certificates would be an excellent thing. I have noticed that the Italians among us have a tactful way of managing that."

"The Italian father and mother ask the young man who seeks their daughter if he is insured. If he is not they urge him to take out insurance before the wedding, and sometimes they insist upon it. They put the argument for it on the usual grounds, the risk of his dying suddenly and leaving his family penniless. But what they are often most concerned about is assurance as to the suitor's good health. They feel satisfied that if he can get insurance there is nothing serious the matter with him."

"Now, that seems to me a happy way of dealing with a delicate problem to the satisfaction of all hands and the embarrassment of none."—New York Sun.

Saved the Baby.

The Chicago Historical society has a letter in which is described how Stephen A. Douglas was rescued from a fiery death on the day of his birth. The letter was written by Horatio L. Wait, master in chancery of the circuit court. John Conant, one of Wait's family ancestors, who lived next door to the Douglas home in Brandon, Vt., saved Douglas' life.

"The morning Douglas was born," the letter says, "John Conant went to the Douglas house, and as he entered the room Douglas' father was sitting in an armchair before an open fireplace with the infant in his arms. Just as Conant entered the father died suddenly from apoplexy. The infant rolled down into the fireplace, and Conant snatched him from the fire."

Sandy's Criticism.

A young Scotchman went to a London school of music, where he learned to play the violinello fairly well. On his return to his native village he gathered his friends together to hear his new instrument. When he had played one or two tunes he looked up expectantly. After a slight pause his old grandfather spoke.

"Ed, man," he said, "it's a mairly there's na smell wi' it!"—Liverpool Mercury.

In Trouble.

"Did you go to the doctor's to be examined this morning?"

"Yes. And I was terribly disappointed."

"What was the trouble, dear?"

"I found him in."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

HIGH SCHOOL TENNIS FINALS NOW ON

Edmond Knox of this City, and Joe Thomas of Lake Forest meet today

Edward Knox proved to be a dark horse in the men's singles at the high school grounds last week. The surprise came when he defeated J. Feiber of Washington Park, Chicago, 6-2, 6-1.

His hardest battle was eliminating Chapel, a sixteen year old boy from the Moraine Hotel. The sets were 8-6, 6-1, 6-4, 6-2. This placed Knox in the finals where he will meet Thomas of the Lake Forest college, who had but little trouble in working his way through. The finals are being played this morning.

Bills have been sent to press which will announce a North Shore tournament beginning August 25 to be held on the high school courts.

Cobb Colts swamp Visitors
 Cobbs Colts had easy sailing last Saturday afternoon when they met and defeated a team representing a cement company of Chicago 15-10. The game was featured by heavy hitting by the home team. Saturday morning Cobbs Colts will play the Highland Hall team. Manager Cobb would like to schedule with any team that plays Saturday afternoon ball.

VEHICLE LICENSE FEES NOW $2,024

145 new tags issued. Winnetka passes Ordinance

One hundred and forty-five vehicle licenses have been issued by the city collector in the past two weeks and nearly $1,000 added to the road repair fund as a result. The total amount collected to date is $2,024 and the number of licenses issued is 425. In detail they are: 165 one-horse, 75 two-horse, 138 autos under 35 horsepower, 30 over, 11 motorcycles, 3 light delivery and 3 heavy trucks.

In Waukegan, where the owners did not take kindly to the ordinance, the police were called upon and over 500 licenses issued as a result.

The village of Winnetka has recently passed a vehicle license ordinance and it is interesting to note that, while the auto fees are the same as ours, those for horse-drawn vehicles are about twice as large.
