The After Hours Salesman

When one side of the street is dark and the other lighted you've noticed, of course, where the crowds go. Up-to-date merchants know. They understand that brilliantly lighted show windows impel buying visits from sightseers. The fact is, the shopkeeper who buys draws a heavy interest on the investment. It has built up many a store. The limit of its profitable use is a very indefinite one

Electric Light

We make an interesting proposition to storekeepers and would like to tell you about it

SQUARE DEALING

When the goods of a manufacturer or merchant are marked at a figure which is the one and only selling price, this mark is a sure sign of

ESTABLISHED VALUES

It is more. It is an assurance of all being treated alike. It places the seller under obligations to the buyer to do by one as he does by another. It is not only serving his own interests, but is of the greatest satisfaction to the purchaser.

WEDDING SUPERSTITIONS.

Curious Customs That Used to Be Observed in England.

Superstition never clustered round any episode of life more than that of the wedding day, especially in olden times.

Then it was customary for the bride to present her future husband with a bunch of rosemary tied up with ribbons on his first appearance on the wedding morning. This was supposed to secure his love and loyalty and to make her happy forever.

In Yorkshire the old superstition still abounds that nothing more unlucky could happen than for a newly made bride to leave the church by a different door from that by which she entered.

Another quaint custom, for which there is no known origin, is that practised in some of the midland and northern counties of England. This is to ring a merry peal of the church bells at the first reading of the banns of an intended matrimonial couple. It is called the "sur-peal," which in old Anglo-Saxon means simply "ask."

Of course it is well known that it is the height of luck for a bride to tie to dress of fairs for the night before the actual ceremony. No much was this idea believed in that many girls would persevere fairly late before going to sleep.—London Telegraph

Not a Societ.

The late Theodore Tinnus was rehearsing the Chicago orchestra on the stage of the Auditorium theater. He was disturbed by the whistling of Albert Burridge, the well known avenue painter, who was at work in the soft above the stage. A few minutes later Mr. Thomas Librarian appeared on the "bridge" where Mr. Burridge, merrily whistling, was at work.

"Mr. Thomas' compliments," said the Librarian, "and he requests me to state that if Mr. Burridge wishes to whistle he will be glad to discontinue his rehearsal."

To which Mr. Burridge replied suavely, "Mr. Burridge's compliments to Mr. Thomas, and please inform Mr. Thomas that if Mr. Burridge cannot whistle with the orchestra he won't whistle at all."

Rocking Chair Signs.

An observant Atchison woman says she can tell from the way a woman rocks on her front porch what condition the house behind her is in. If she sways back and forth with a floppy, comfortable motion, standing both feet down in a relaxed sort of way, then everything about the house is absolutely clean and neat. But if she rocks in little nervous jerks, tapping her feet down at short and irregular intervals, it signifies that there are unmade beds behind her and stacks of unwashed dishes and dust, floors.—Atchison Globe.

They All Wear Ties.

Manager of Shoe Store I've tried my best to attract the women to the place and they simply won't come. Salesman—No wonder. Your sign quotes the trade. Manager dejectedly—What's wrong with the sign? Salesman—It reads, "The Big Shoe Store.—Lippincott's"

Sandwich Man is Old.

The walking advertisement known as a "sandwich man" is by no means a modern idea. In 1530 a profession of men dressed to represent straw covered wine bottles used to parade the streets of Florence, Italy, being hired by the wine merchants there.

Temporarily Handicapped.

Mr. Doughleigh—I met that French nobleman, Count de Brice, today. Doty Doughleigh—Really? Is he a brilliant conversationalist? Mr. Doughleigh—Well, no, not at present. He has rheumatism in his shoulders.—Judge.

Placing the Blame.

Mr. Knagg—It may be true, as you say, you were too young to marry me. Mrs. Knagg—Don't try to shift the blame; you were too old for me.—Chicago News.

SPECIAL ASSESSMENT NOTICE

Special Warrant Number 208

Public notice is hereby given that the County Court of Lake County, Illinois, has rendered judgment for a special assessment upon property benefited by the following improvement: Grading, paving, curbing, paving with concrete pavement and otherwise improving a system of streets consisting of Rice St. from the north line of the present paving in Roger Williams Ave. at its intersection with Rice St. thence north to a point eighteen ft. south of the center line of Cary Ave., and Cary Ave. from the east line of the present paving in Dean Ave., at its intersection with Cary Ave., and from thence easterly for a distance of 900 ft., all in the City of Highland Park, Lake Co., Ill., as will more fully appear from the certified copy of the judgement on file in my office. That the warrant for collection of such assessment is in the hands of the undersigned.

All persons interested are hereby notified to call and pay the amount assessed at the Collector's office, City Hall, corner Green Bay Road and Central Ave., Highland Park, Illinois, within thirty days from the date thereof.

Notice is further given that the said assessment is divided in ten installments. That the amount of the first installment is $1,550.00 and that each of the remaining installments is $700.00. That all installments draw interest at the rate of 5 per cent per annum from Oct. 2, 1913. The first installment is payable on the 2nd day of January A. D. 1914.

The second installment one year thereafter and so on annually until all installments are paid.

Harry B. Evans,
 City Collector.

Dated this 13th day of November A. D. 1913. 37-38

NO NAME FOR A POET.

Miller Was Open to Conviction and Shed the Heavy Burden.

"Cincinnati Reine" was the name that the parents of Joaquin Miller bestowed on him at his christening. How the poet came to adopt the name "Joaquin," under which he is universally known, was told by Mr. Charles Phillips, editor of the San Francisco Monitor. Miss Ina Coolbrith, of whom he speaks, is the California poetess who has been called the "Napoleon of the west."

In 1870, when he came down from Oregon and published his first little book of poems, entitled "Joaquin et al.," he told Miss Coolbrith of his determination to go to London and win fame.

"How in the world," she asked him, "do you expect to climb Parnassus with such a name as you have? Miller is too good enough, but Cincinnati Heine is impossible!"

"But what can I do?" Miller asked. "It's my name, isn't it?"

"Why don't you take some name that will identify you with California?" Miss Coolbrith rejoined. "Take the name of your first book; call yourself Joaquin."

"By George, I'll do it!" said Miller. And from that day he signed himself "Joaquin Miller."

Fire Insurance

Like charity, begins at home. Putting hot furnace ashes into open barrels or cans is unsafe, and uncleanly. Witt's Corrugated Can is fire-proof, patented, and the only safe can for furnace ashes.
