The Social Side of Life
Local Affairs of the week

By the Observer

That the young people of today prefer dances to any other form of amusement there can be no doubt. In fact, this pleasant pastime is not confined to the young and active alone but many of the fathers and mothers who at first were shocked and refused their sons and daughters the privilege of learning the new fashioned dances have been won over and with as much enthusiasm as the young boy and girl are gliding to the alluring measures of the fascinating tango and one-step. Even the grandmothers have come under this same spell. In fact, members of society all over the world seem to have gone "dance mad" and the fad is becoming more and more popular. Once again the holiday season is at hand and hearts are filled with the joyous Christmas time, the happy home comings of the boys and girls and the many festivities planned for the ensuing two weeks. Christmas and New Years always bring a host of dinner parties and dance invitations galore. The Observer is put to it keeping track of the numerous affairs. Our social calendar runs somewhat as follows: On the afternoon of Monday, Dec. 22nd, Mrs. Lloyd M. Bergen and Miss Kathleen Bergen will entertain at cards to meet Mrs. Alan McFarlen and Miss Bradley. That evening Mrs. William E. Ten Broeck will give an informal Dutch supper for her daughter, Miss Jean Ten Broeck, who

Dorothy Loudon will give a luncheon Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 30th at their home on N. Sheridan Rd. Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 31st, a luncheon will be given by Miss Mildred Thayer. Perhaps one of the largest affairs is the dinner given by Mrs. Carleton Moseley for her son George, who is home from the Hill school in the east. This will be given preceding the large and formal dance at the club given by the boys of the Sigma Delta Beta fraternity. Dinner parties will be given by Miss Cecil Vail and by Mrs. Sarah Wilcox Cregier for her son, C. Wilcox Cregier preceding the masquerade dance at the club New Years eve.

Highland Park society is always well represented at the Saturday matinee performances of the Chicago Grand Opera Company and many of these same women are among the staunch supporters of Ravinia Park in the summer. "The Jewels of the Madonna," attracted many to the Auditorium. With Mrs. A. L. Drum in a box were Miss Annie Cobb and Mrs. Jacob Baur, the latter formerly of Highland Park. Those to be seen in the body of the house at the Saturday matinee were Mrs. Marshall Sampson, Mrs. Thomas Clements, Mrs. James W. Prindville, Mrs. R. F. Peyton, Jr., Mrs. C. P. Woodcock, Mrs. George McBride, Mrs. William Spencer Crosby of Glencoe, (a Ravinia Park supporter), Miss Miriam Steever, who had with her Miss Florence Showers, Miss Marie Armstrong, Mrs. George W. Rosseter (Marjorie Mihills), formerly of Highland Park, now of Chicago, was with Miss Amy Paulding, Mrs. Abbie Bastin, Miss Dorothy Bastin, Mrs. H. J. Thayer, Miss Mildred Thayer, Miss Estelle Clarke, Miss Elizabeth McCrystle, Miss Ruth Ewing, and Miss Josephine Trout.

Mrs. Robert B. Gregory of 1638 Prairie Ave., issued cards last week for Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 16th at three thirty o'clock when Rev. P. C. Daite of Toyko, Japan, gave a talk. A tea followed the lecture.

Miss Lydia Brown, the third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Barbour Brown of Lake Forest, was introduced to society last Thursday evening at an unusually pretty dance at the Marquette hall, 1134 Dearborn Ave., Chicago. Miss Brown, who is a Vassar girl, wore a charming gown of pale blue charmeuse and tulle. There were 200 guests. Miss Helen Brown, who was a debutante of two years ago, is now a diligent student at the University of Illinois where she is taking a special course in landscape gardening, after graduating at Vassar. The Brown family are living at 1205 N. State St., Chicago.

Mrs. John D. McDougall of 522 N. Green Bay Rd., entertained several guests from Chicago complimentary to Mrs. E.

J. Heinz of Lake Geneva, Wis., who has been the house guest of Mrs. McDougall for several weeks.

On Saturday evening, Jan. 3rd, the Woman's Civic Club of Ravinia will give a children's holiday party at the Village House from three to six o'clock in the afternoon and all the children of Ravinia are invited.

The Mystic Workers gave a Christmas party for the children Monday night at which the youngsters sang and recited in honor of dear old Santa and then were entertained by the smiling gentleman himself. He came fully prepared to uphold his reputation and from his pack he took a gift for everyone present. Then he opened the doors to another room and disclosed a tree whose top brushed the ceiling and from every twig of which hung a light, an ornament or a gift bag of candy, popcorn and fruits. These latter were speedily pulled down and distributed and then the party became a romp until 11-1-2 spelled closing time.

Mr. and Mrs. Orren Sanford Peabody entertained at a box party at the opera last Saturday night. There were six in the party: Mrs. I. L. Lightcap and Rev. Edward Evans of Evanston, Mrs. Albert Sommers of Chicago, and Mrs. Samuel Parliament.

Mrs. Samuel Parliament had as her dinner guests last Saturday night Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Conard of Oak Park.

The party on Friday evening given by the students of the night school of the high school proved a great success as nearly all were present. Refreshments and dancing followed a very delightful program. The next session of night school will begin January 4th.

Mrs. John Stratford of 1026 N. Green Bay Road, entertained a number of friends informally at dinner Saturday evening. The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. T. Churchill of Wilmette, and Mrs. Hill of Chicago.

A New Year's eve party which shall be unique in many ways, is being planned by the men of Ravinia. Each man is sworn to secrecy and every detail of the evening's entertainment is to be a surprise to the women of the community, the men taking entire management of the affair, providing the program, refreshments, etc.

Mrs. H. B. Clarke is giving a dancing party on Saturday afternoon from three to six at the Highland Park Club for Miss Marie Clarke who attends school at St. Mary's, and for Harry B. Clarke, Jr., who attends St. Paul's School, both at Garden City, Long Island, New York, and who arrive home Saturday to spend the holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Clarke of E. Central Ave.
