COLD WORK FOR LIFE SAVERS

Crew Takes Lake Trip Sunday Afternoon on False Alarm

Government life saving stations may close up when the navigation season is ended but here in Highland Park the volunteer crew remains on the job all the year around. Sunday afternoon an alarm was turned in when some one saw what looked like a rowboat about a quarter-mile out and six of the crew, responding to the call, dug the ice away from the boathouse door, launched the big boat and got thoroughly soaked while pulling out to the object which proved to be a dirt covered cake of ice. The boys will be just as ready to turn for the next call, however, for no one knows when the object may be a boat and prompt action may save a life.
