By the Observer

Tango-teas, luncheons and bridge parties are all over for a while. Lenten proprieties are being observed in the usual way. Groups of women meet at the different homes to sew for such well known institutions as St. Luke's hospital, Home for Destitute and Crippled Children, Lake Bluff Orphanage and others. Long neglected sewing implements, such as needles, thread, scissors and thimbles that were laid away during the winter's gayeties, are being resurrected from nooks and searched for in unheard of places. One group of women meets on days when most convenient to them, with Mrs. John Glass in Ravinia. Probably there are other circles that the Observer has not happened to hear of. At any rate we know that there is a great deal of this good work being done, for Highland Park women are noted for their never failing generosity and their charitable way of lending a helping hand to those in need. So many of our people are away and others still going, not to return for a month or so, Oakland, known as the garden spot of Florida, being a most popular resort for our society folk to hibernate in. Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Mather Smith and family were the pioneers of this little Highland Park colony, closing their summer home here the first part of December. Mr. and Mrs. John Irwin Marshall and small son, John Irwin, Jr., were the next to leave for this charming place. They occupy one of the Mather Smith's cottages. Later in the winter Mrs. Guy V. Dickinson went south. She is also in Oakland. Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Thayer and daughter, Miss Mildred Thayer left a fortnight ago for an extended southern trip, eventually stopping in Oakland. Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Mather Smith, who are known for their generous hospitality, gave a mid-day dinner last week in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Guy V. Dickinson. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Irwin Marshall and Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Thayer. St. Petersburg, Fla. has also been visited by some of our people. Mr. and Mrs. George Millard and small daughter Elizabeth have been passing the winter there. Mr. and Mrs. William Millard have just returned from a month's visit with their son. Mrs. David M. Erskine also spent several weeks in St. Petersburg this winter. Mrs. H. P. Davidson and Miss Alice Davidson, who annually winter in Avon Park, Fla., will probably return about Easter time. Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Alexander left for their winter home in Bellaire, Fla., much later this year. Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Metzler are in Sea Breeze, Fla. Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Metzler and son Truman Metzler, have been for several weeks past at the Bermudas. Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Mason have spent almost the entire winter in Biloxi, Miss. Mr. and Mrs. Ward W. Willis and daughter, Miss Carolyn Willis, have just returned from a short trip to places of interest in Georgia. Mrs. J. McGregor Adams, who late in the fall went east is now in Thomasville, Ga. Last week Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Baldwin and their youngest son, Hugh, left Highland Park for an indefinite stay in Thomasville, Ga. Places in California are equally as popular. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Steele and Mrs. W. K. Sidley have been visiting relatives in Los Angeles the greater part of the winter. Others from our suburb wintering in California are Mrs. James W. Prindiville and her two daughters.

PICTURESQUE DAMASCUS.
A Garden City Whose Beauty Halted Mohammed at Its Gates.

The hotel in Damascus in which we stay is called the Grand Victoria, but it is above a blacksmith shop and a saddle shop. The lower stories are mostly blank, bare walls. From the upper stories project balconies of latticed oriel, some of which extend so far over the street as to make it easy for the veiled damsel of the harem to leap across.

In contrast with these plain exteriors the interiors are often exquisitely beautiful, having an open court paved with marble and a fountain fed by the waters of the Abana, tinkling and splashing through the hot hours of the day, and wooing one to rest during the cool of the evening. Palms, orange trees and oleanders stand here and there. Within the house you discover rooms cold and formal to an American, but brilliant with oriental hangings, brasses and inlaid mother-of-pearl furnishings. Damascus is perhaps the second city in importance in the mind of the Mohammedans. It is a garden city, made to be indeed an oasis in the desert by the Abana river, which, finding life in the snows of Hermon's breast, flows through this city with increasing volume as it intended to regenerate the desert, into which it pours all its wealth, and does veritably make this section to "blossom as the rose." It is not to be wondered at that Mohammed drew rein outside the walls when first he saw the city and said, "Since man can enter paradise but once, I will not enter this earthly paradise lest I be shut out from the heavenly."—Christian Herald.

WHO TOLD THE TRUTH?
Feminine Life From the Viewpoints of Home and Business.
Who told the truth?
They met in the subway one morning, a young mother and a young professional woman. They had been friends at school, but each had passed, and now, after some ten years, they began to discuss their present jobs—of motherhood and journalism. However, journalism seemed to fill most of the time, and motherhood was dismissed after a few desultory questions about Billy, whose fame consisted in being seven years old and just entering school.

"Oh, tell me about your work," said the mother.

"There is quite a bit to tell of it," said the egotistical woman of business, and immediately launched upon the joys, woes, disadvantages and advantages of the business woman's career.

"My, but that is most interesting," said the mother, whose eyes were popping out of her head at the mere mention of the famous person the journalist knew. "I certainly shall buy your magazine and read it!"

"Grand Central station!" mumbled the guard.

"Goodby," said the mother. "Your life is certainly worth while."

"Goodby," replied the journalist. "Not nearly as much worth while as yours."

Who told the truth?—New York Tribune.

Ben Franklin's Keenness.
Two incidents reveal the keenness and thoroughness the great twin abilities, to see and to utilize, of Ben Franklin. One day he chanced to observe a lady in the possession of an imported whisk broom. With his usual interest and careful consideration he examined it as a novelty. He discovered on the brush of the broom a seed, which he carefully removed. Presently he planted it, and the growth from this seed was the first crop of broom corn in this country. Again one day when Dr. Franklin was walking by Dock creek he saw stuck in the mud a wickerwork basket, which had sprouted. Carefully he fished out the basket and carefully took it apart. He gave cuttings to his friend, Charles Norris, who planted the twigs in his garden, where they grew to great size. They turned out to be yellow willows and, as Franklin had foreseen, proved of great commercial value.

Spoiled Their Appetites.
"Why is Sweden like heaven?" asked the thin boarder, coming to the breakfast table.

"I know," came from the little blond typewriter.

"Well, if you know push it along, Sweetmeats," said the thin boarder.

"Because—"

"The same old answer."

"No, it's not. I was going to say because it is a foreign country," espoused the little blond.

"Wrong," came from the thin man.

"Listen, because nearly all the matches are made there"—Yonkers Statesman.

Appreciations

HERE is the verdict of a few North Shore families as to the efficiency of the "Judd" Electric Home Laundry Machine in their homes. I can show you a great many similar testimonials.

I have used the "Judd" machine almost a year and cannot praise it too highly. No woman, whether mistress or maid, should be asked to use up her vitality in doing the family washing when there is a machine on the market which will do it so cheaply and so beautifully. —Mrs. David K. Toms, 110 Elmwood Ave., Wilmette.

Your washing machine has proved most satisfactory and I am certain that it excels any other machine on the market. —Mrs. G. W. Mahse, Kenilworth.

The "Judd" is perfect, and I am glad to say we have had no trouble with either the machine or the motor. I had no idea there was a washing machine on the market that is so simple and practical in operation as is the "Judd". —Fred G. Patton, M. D., Glenview.

We have one of your machines and can speak in high praise of it. Our washing is done in less time and better than ever before. It not only saves time and labor with the small things, but does heavy work, such as blankets and spreads, in the easiest and best manner possible. The old time washing day has been forever eliminated from our home, thanks to the "Judd". —Mrs. C. DeFoster Berry, Park Lane, Highland Park.

If you are considering the purchase of a laundry machine let me arrange a fifteen days' free trial in your home. No obligation or expense to you except a fair trial.
