Have Electricity in Your Home

Abraham Lincoln read by torch light, studied law by the fire-side in a log cabin, but that was over half a century ago. Times have changed, and today we have electric light, available for all who desire it. At present rates everybody should be using electricity. All other methods of lighting must inevitably yield to this matchless light. It is only a question of time when every household will use it, and every tenant will demand that his house be wired. Why not have your house wired now? Sooner or later you'll want to install electricity anyhow. Let me figure on the work.
