

Your Trees

Bear in mind that there is no one better equipped for taking care of your trees than we are.

A careful study of what our Elms, Oaks, Maples and other trees require in order to do well has been our constant aim for the past 30 years.

A force of well trained home town men who have been with us for years do the work with the best tools money can procure.

If you have healthy, fine specimens of trees consult us in order to keep them in that shape and if they are not what they ought to be--let's tell you why and what's more, get them into shape.

It takes more than just the hired man to properly prune a tree, he hasn't the experience nor the tools to do it with and it will cost you but little more to have us do it.

Every one of our men is insured against accident which relieves you of all responsibility--another important feature to consider.

The great importance of spraying is just beginning to be recognized and we have the most modern and efficient 200-pound pressure spraying machine for that purpose.

No we don't go from town to town, getting new ones, we are doing wonderfully well right at home with a lot of satisfied customers we have pleased for over 20 years; there are a few who occasionally leave us, but it's only for a few minutes and we try harder than ever to have them stay with us for life.

Why not call up 85--let's relieve your anxiousness about your trees--no matter how good or how bad they are, they need attention--everything does in this world you think well of--proper cared for trees are the most valuable assets of the home grounds.

sor delivered a course of lectures, in one of which he proved to his own satisfaction that the Atlantic ocean could never be crossed by steam. Steam power had been discovered and applied on land, but he was confident it could never be applied to the ocean. Under the peculiar conditions of the heaving tides, the danger of storms, the rolling of the tide, and so forth you could never apply steam to navigation across the Atlantic. The book in which that lecture was published was on the first steamer that crossed the Atlantic. The captain took it along as a sort of curiosity. That book did not have a very large sale, but there has been quite a run of steamers ever since, and the professor ceased to argue that steam could not be utilized on the ocean. --Christian Herald.

Smoking One's Smoke.

The strangest way of taking his snuff was probably Dr. Parr's. Telthorpe records that he used to fill his pipe half with the finest tobacco and half with salt. After that it is not very surprising to learn that he smoked "with a philosophical calmness." On one occasion when the two met Charles Lamb's furious smoking of the strongest tobacco filled Dr. Parr with astonishment. Gently laying down his pipe, he inquired how Lamb had arrived at his power of smoking at such a rate. "I tolled after it, sir, as some men toll after virtue," was Lamb's reply. --London Graphic.

Strychnine.

Strychnine is one of the most powerful vegetable poisons known, but it has very odd effects. Up to about one thirty second of a grain it is often used in medicine as a stimulant. Very little more is required to bring on that peculiar state known as "tetanus," in which the muscles lock themselves into such hard masses that they are rigid as bone. An overdose, however has been known in at least one instance to cure itself. Exchange

How He Felt.

"You act as though you thought yourself superior to the government." "Well," replied the genial socialist, "do feel slightly superior. As a tax payer when I owe the government anything I pay. When the government owes me anything it does as it likes about the matter." Washington Star

Plenty of Hopeless Ones.

At the age of twenty-five a man can be forgiven for thinking he knows it all, but if he hasn't changed his mind at forty there is no hope for him. --Tolu Rhide.

Faint Heart.

"Have you spoken to father yet?" "Certainly. I said 'Good evening when I passed him in the hall'." --Pennsylvania Punch Bowl.

NURSED A HOT TEMPER.

Something Had to Give Way When William Morris Broke Loose.

Though explosive tempers may not be admirable and temperamental explosions are not always necessarily expedient, they are always preferable to soreness, sullenness, brooding resentment or cold anger. Arthur Compton Rickett in his study of William Morris--that "jolly vivacious man" as he terms him, relates several new instances of Morris' violent thunderings of temper and swiftly ensuing southerness and sweetness.

Once while he was painting he was called from the room, and presently his startled model heard him furiously unmathematizing some one outside whom he dismissed or ejected and then returned a moment later still boiling with wrath. He could not resume his work, but made wild dashes about the room, growling and muttering, until at last in a cataclysmic access of rage he took a flying kick at the door and with a vast crashing and splintering smashed in a panel. It was too much for his model's nerves, and he started to flee, but at that moment Morris, with his ire entirely gone now that the explosion was over, turned with a beaming smile, and assured him gently:

"It's all right, it's all right, but something had to give way."

FLAVOR OF FOOD.

It is an Important Factor in Digestion and Good Health.

If it were not for flavor we should not digest our food properly. Endurance in eating is the handmaid of good health. Flavor has been called the soul of food. The viands that are most agreeable to our sense of taste, those we enjoy most, are those we are most likely to digest well and from which we are most likely to derive the maximum of nourishment.

A book was devoted to this subject by Henry T. Finck of New York. He called it "Food and Flavor." In a review of it the Scientific American says: "The psychic factor of desire must precede ingestion or results will be unprofitable. To each cent spent for nutrition we add five more for flavor. Flavor, in short, has an appetizing value a health value, a commercial value."

The evolution of a discriminating appetite and the education of the cook must go hand in hand. But your gut-ton is never an epicure. Rational mastication most accompany the highest enjoyment of food, and in this enjoyment lie perfect assimilation and health. It is flavor that stimulates the flow of the digestive juices; it is the digestive juices that prepare the food for the extraction of nutriment."

Announcement

I wish to announce my candidacy for County Treasurer subject to the decision of the Republican primaries to be held Tuesday September 9, 1914. Having served as Deputy County Treasurer during the past four years and believing that I have performed the duties as such faithfully, I take this means of asking the voters of Lake County for this promotion.
