The Social Side of Life Local Affairs of the week

By the Observer

Among the large card parties which are to take place within the course of a few weeks is the benefit card party to be given by the Highland Park Woman's Club at the home of Mrs. John Oliver, 530 N. Sheridan Rd., Wednesday afternoon, November eleventh. The ladies are very anxious to make this party a success and in order to do so they need the cooperation of the members and their friends. Under the excellent supervision of the different committees the affair should be one to be remembered for some time. Mrs. Fred. Shafer, who is chairman of the Philanthropy committee, with her able assistants, Mesdames Charles F. Drake, Charlotte B. Boyd, Stewart R. Brown, Carleton A. Harkness, Lucius A. Hine, William R. Jacoby, William H. Lamborn, Oliver A. Leonard, Harry Mills, Orren S. Peabody, Abel A. Putnam, Robert W. Schneider, John A. Schreurs, C. A. Smith, Clarence H. Thayer, and Mrs. E. M. Watkins, and with Mrs. Maud H. Shannon, chairman, of the Civics committee, assisted by Mesdames C. W. Aldridge, Josiah S. Boyer, George H. Campbell, Ernest S. Gail, Charles F. Grant, Joseph F. Leaming, Arthur L. Moore, John Oliver, and Cropley G. Phillips, the affair is bound to be an interesting one. If you wish to attend and do not play cards, bring your knitting or fancy work and enjoy a social afternoon.

The seniors of the High school gave a very pretty Halloween party on Friday evening in the luncheon room at the High school. The rooms were made wonderfully attractive in yellow and black crepe paper and Jack 'o lanterns. The young folks all came in masquerade and took part in the program which was quite varied and very amusing. There were several good impersonators, such as Esther King, as Pavolova, in the Russian Imperial ballet. The Misses Mary and Miriam French, Raymond Geer and Luther Sandwick, as Carl Heisen and Dorothy Dickson in the Maxie, and Mamie Siljestrom impersonating Madame Bruno Stendel in a flute solo. Colin Sanborn as the Magician was very good and had numerous slight-of-hand performances which he executed with remarkable ability. The program ended with piano selections by Mr. Oscar Meyer, who played "The Rustic Dance," "Traumeri," and "A Spanish Love Song." Refreshments and dancing followed the program.

Little Mary Elizabeth Mann and her sister Margaret were hostesses at a Halloween supper on Saturday evening when their little friends surprised them by coming in for supper at six o'clock all unbeknown to them. Those present were Lydia and Marion Garling, Leo and May Larson, and Mary Baker. After supper the children took Jack 'o lanterns and went around the neighborhood in ghost costumes.

Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Rebling were host and hostess to the "Night Riders" Five Hundred club on Saturday evening. The home was beautifully decorated in keeping with Halloween, and yellow chrysanthemums were seen in abundance everywhere. The favors were pretty yellow chrysanthemums. The guests came dressed in ghost costumes which was indeed a surprise to the host and hostess. Mrs. Fred. Tucker, Mr. Chas. Larson, Mr. Fred. Tucker and Mrs. Albert Larson were the successful prize winners.

The members of the Luther League of St. Johns Evangelical Lutheran Church were royally entertained on Thursday evening at a Halloween party at which Mr. George J. Schuman was host.

The Misses Mildred Thayer and Marie Armstrong were hostesses at a very unique party on Saturday evening. There was a dinner at seven o'clock at the home of Miss Armstrong on St. Johns Ave., which was followed by music, after which the guests all went over to the Millard house on Sheridan Rd., which is empty. There was a grate fire in the living room of the house and the guests had a sardine party which was quite enjoyable on account of there being so much space. There were twenty-six guests present.

The Bridge club met at the home of Mrs. Paul Bird on Laurel Ave. Wednesday evening.

The Misses Shields gave an informal masquerade costume dance at their home on Prospect Avenue Saturday evening.

Mrs. Frederick Noerenberg was hostess on Wednesday at a luncheon in compliment to Mrs. Robert Rodman of Allandale, N. J., formerly Miss Emeline Alford of this city. The out of town guests were Mrs. Henry Brown of Chicago, who is a sister of the guest of honor, Mrs. William Hodge of Chicago, and Mrs. Charles T. Ford of Waukegan.

Miss Louise Meyer, Glenview Ave., entertained a number of little tots on Saturday evening at a real Halloween party. All sorts of pumpkin faces, witches, and spooky things were in evidence. The little children all declared they never had a better time.

Miss Christine McMahan entertained the Sewing club Tuesday evening.

The monthly meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association was held in the school assembly hall Friday afternoon. The program included singing by the upper grade boys to violin accompaniment, and several piano selections by Miss Ileen Kent all of which were thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. After a short business program Alice H. Thompson of the law firm of Bates and Thompson, Chicago, spoke from her own experience with criminals, laying special emphasis upon the importance of the wise mother's influence over her children and cited instances where boys might have been saved from a criminal life had their mothers realized their responsibility in time. Miss Thompson is a student of psychology and intensely interested in her profession and her remarks were closely followed by her audience. A social hour with serving of refreshments concluded a pleasant and instructive meeting.

FOR EVENING WEAR.

Charming Frocks of Net For the College Girl's Entertainments.

NET EVENING GOWN.

There will be various entertainments at college which will demand evening dress of the fair student, but a simple, pretty evening frock of modest style will be the requirement, not a stuffy, coquetish dance frock of tulle with a daring décolletage.

A soft pussy willow taffeta in blue, raspberry or oleander pink or in some dainty shade of lavender, buff or pale green will make a dainty frock. The skirt may have scalloped frills, and chiffon or lace may be used for the bodice, provided its style is not too décolleté for the student.

Pictured here is a charming evening gown for a young girl. It is fashioned of plain and embroidered net. An insertion of black moire ribbon is applied to the foundation skirt. The tulle is of embroidered net clasped by a black satin grille. The elbow sleeves are finished by frills. The little Dutch cap of net makes a charming accessory to the costume.

WASHING DELICATE FABRICS.

How to Cleanse Them So They Preserve Their Loveliness.

It is always a safe precaution to set the color in most wash fabrics. It is decidedly worth while for delicate colors, says the home economics department of the University of Wisconsin. Salt is a valuable aid in making colors fast, as it acts as a mordant for the substantive dyes most commonly used for cotton and linen. A handful of salt in a dish of cold water, however, is not sufficient. The material or garment must be placed in a strong hot solution and allowed to stand until the water is cool to obtain the best results. Salt is cheap, is usually on hand and is probably best for all-around use, but the effect of brine is said not to be lasting.

Among other good mordants are sugar of lead for all colors except pink and blue, saltpeter for pinks and blues, vinegar for pinks, alum for greens, mauve, purples, etc. The following proportions should be used: To one gallon of water add one-half cupful mild vinegar, two cupfuls of salt, one tablespoonful of alum or one tablespoonful of sugar of lead. Faded blue garments are freshened by rinsing in a strong bluing solution. Other delicate colors would often profit by a similar treatment in a dye solution of the same color.

Testing Out the Dog.

The Browns recently took up their abode in a new house in the suburbs, and Robinson, who, by the way, was Brown's most intimate friend in his bachelor days, went down to see them on Saturday afternoon.

As he approached the house a large dog ran out and began barking at him fiercely through the fence.

Robinson hesitated. He didn't altogether like the looks of that dog. Just then, however, Mrs. Brown came to the door.

"Hello," she exclaimed. "How nice of you to come down here to see us. Come right in. Don't mind the dog."

Nervously Robinson fingered the latch of the gate.

"But are you sure she won't bite?" he asked, glancing toward the dog, which he was by no means anxious to meet until he had received some assurance of personal safety.

"Oh," replied Mrs. Brown, "that's just what I want to find out! You see, I only bought him this morn'g."

Traveler's Wash Clothes.

Small disks of cotton compressed into pill box size expand when they are dropped into water to the size of the ordinary face cloth. These are sold, ten of them, in a little Morocco case, and they find favor with the woman who is traveling rapidly—so rapidly that the face cloth has no time to dry before it must again be packed into its receptacle for further journeying, for these compact little cloths are thrown away in the assurance that another can be had from the leather case at the next stopping place.
