Mechanical Principles remain the same. The Task supplied is to Improve on their Application

Take the ordinary vehicle wheel. There is evidence that it was known to the Aryians—a people so far before history that our acquaintance with them is gained only by examining the structure of language. The wheel is just the same today, only we make the spokes of metal and put rubber tires on it and propel it by electric or gasoline power. As to Electric Light Its manner of production is the same. But modern methods have altered details, multiplied efficiency and broadened adaptability and co-ordinately have greatly decreased costs to customers.

Wind and the Sun. Wind does not always go down with the sun, but may blow from high to low after sunset. If wind starts to fill up a low pressure area before sun set it is liable to keep pouring in until it is filled and equilibrium restored. If wind stops exactly at instant of sun set one may rest assured that the area of barometrical depression is filled. If wind blows from sea to land by day it may stop at sunset and reverse direction. If it does the cause is that at sunrise the sun's radiant energy heats the land more than it does the water. The land warms the air, increases its rarity, and it rises, producing a lower pressure area, and cooler air from over the ocean rushes in to fill it. After sunset land cools in less time than the water, and the direction of flow is reversed. But this may not always occur. Local causes, as fog, saturation of air, electrical conditions and others may prevent.—New York Journal.

Sometimes Happens So. The family had gone off for their holiday in a taxi. Twenty minutes later the taxi snorted back up the road. "Forgotten the tickets?" cried a neighbor. "No," said the late householder "but my wife's just remembered that she's left a kettle boiling on the gas stove."

Father of the Dreadnought. To the late Admiral Courbet, member of the Italian naval engineering staff, is due the credit of having suggested the modern Dreadnought. It was he also, who suggested the modern type of scout, and he was one of the first to study the question of the application of liquid fuel to marine boilers. It was his influence which led to the adoption of this fuel in the Italian torpedo boat service.

Making Sure of Her Sleep. "I knew you were coming tonight to call on my sister," said dear little Jimmy. "How did you know?" inquired Mr. Nergo. "Because she has been asleep all the afternoon."

Encouraging. Young Man—So Miss Ethel is your eldest sister. Who comes after her? Small Brother—Nobody else 'come yet' but you says the first fellow that comes can have her.

Love in Itself is not joy; it is always service, and it may be a sacrifice; it means giving, not receiving; asking not answering.

What Bobwhite Eats. Fifteen per cent of the food of the bobwhite is composed of insects in clothing several of the most serious pests of agriculture. Half of its food consists of weed seeds, one-fourth of grain and about one-sixteenth of wild fruits. Taken in all the bobwhite is very useful to the farmer, and while it may not be necessary to remove it from the list of game birds every farmer should see that his own farm is not depleted by sportsmen.

Father Feet the Bill. Father (having just accepted cigar from son)—And what do you pay for these? Son—Two for a quarter. Father—What! And I content myself with two for a dime! Son—Well, you know, dad, our cases are different. If I had as large a family as you to support, I shouldn't smoke at all.—Boston Transcript.

A Horse Laugh. Motorist (blocked by load of hay)—I say, there, pull out and let me by. Farmer—Oh, I damn it I'm in any hurry. Motorist (angrily)—You seemed in a hurry to let that other fellow's carriage get past. Farmer—That 'cause his horse wuz eatin' my hay. There ain't no danger o' few eatin' it, I reckon.—Springfield Republican.

Sharpening Scissors. To sharpen scissors take a bottle and cut with the scissors as if you had to cut the neck off the bottle. This is effective.—Woman's Home Companion.

A Misnomer. "How did your farewell tour turn out?" "We didn't fare well."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

FIRST CATCHER'S PAD. It Was Worn by Charlie Bennett of the Old Detroit Team. Charlie Bennett, the noted catcher of the famous Detroit team of 1890-7, often told with delight the story of how he and his wife made the first catcher's breast protector.

It was a constant source of worry to Mrs. Bennett to watch her husband being made a target for the speed merchants of thirty years ago. And she fully realized the pressing necessity of some kind of armor to prevent the hot shot sent through by these speedy slugs from caving in a rib or two which belonged to her better half.

After much deep thinking and considerable labor the Bennetts shaped out something that had a faint resemblance to the protector worn today. In a private trial it worked fine, and in the tryout Charlie would let the ball slip through his hands and bang up against his chest without experiencing the slightest jar. After Bennett got used to it he wore it in a regular contest, and, with the eyes of thousands of spectators upon him, he would let a fast one hit him square on the chest. The ball would rebound back almost to the pitcher.—New York World.

Deaf Mute Church Work. Religious work among deaf mutes was established in 1840 by Dr. Galaudet, who started a small Bible class for them in a room in the University of New York. The churchman, an Episcopal weekly, says that at the present time there are thirteen ordained clergymen, twelve of whom are themselves deaf, ministering to the spiritual needs of 35,000 deaf mutes in the United States of whom there are fully 20,000 in the southern section. The salaries of the missionaries to the deaf range from $1,000 to $1,800 annually, and a very few of them have their expenses, in addition, provided.

They Seldom Do. A half witted fellow living in one of our country villages makes it his business to attend all funerals and comment on them for days afterward. Recently he received an invitation to the wedding of a relative. The next day after the wedding a neighbor asked "And how did the wedding go off, Jim?"

"Oh, there was a pretty fair crowd turned out considerin' the weather," Jim answered solemnly. "Mary, she looked right nice, but I didn't think Bob looked very natural."—Indianapolis News.

The Riming Spell. A correspondent mentions the difficulty experienced by budding authors in spelling words in which "d" and "t" appear. An easy manner to recall the order of precedence of the vowels is contained in an ancient rime:

"I" before "e" Except after "r" Or when sounded like "a" In "neighbor" and "weight."—New York Sun.

ERADICATE THE RAT!

A Disease Breeder and Carrier That Serves No Good Purpose. Rats are dangerous. They have no legitimate business, nor can they serve any good purpose in any community. Sanitarians are well agreed that rats are a serious menace to health. They are so filthy in their habits as tenants of the sewers and as feeders on everything dirty and diseased that it is no wonder they are carriers of disease, parasites and plague infection.

That rats are afflicted with many diseases more than bubonic plague is confirmed by Dr. Rupert Blue, surgeon general of the United States public health service, who, speaking on this point, says: "Other infections of the rat are trematodes, or flukes; cestodes, or tapeworms; nematodes, or round worms; protozoa, insects and vegetable microbes." Of the rats examined in San Francisco 34 per cent were infested with tapeworms.

Plague is primarily a disease of the rat. It is communicated from the plague stricken rat to other rats and from rats to man by means of fleas, as the principal agent, yet it has been determined many times that handling a rat that has been dead of plague only a few hours gives the infection almost instantly. Two small boys while playing in an unused cellar found the body of a dead rat. The corpse was buried with unusual funeral honors. In forty-eight hours both were ill with bubonic plague. A laborer finding a sick rat on the wharf picked it up with the naked hand and threw it into the bay. He was seized three days later with plague. But the flea is the chief incubator. Fleas abandon a rat dead of plague and go in search of living beings who still have warm blood circulating in their veins. Biting man they inoculate into him the living virus which starts the disease.

Since plague is a disease due to rats and rat fleas and not to filthy habits, there's only one thing to do to avoid plague, eradicate the rats. This can be done by making war on them with traps, poison and starvation, and by "rat proofing" against them; that is by building them out. As a result of the Chinatown plague epidemic in 1907, so efficient was the ratproof construction that followed, that rats and plague were entirely "blotted out" of that part of the city.

Something Suitable. "When a statesman has something to say, let him say it," said a congressman. "But this continual getting up and talking on every subject under the sun just for the sake of getting one's name in the papers—well, that sort of thing gives statesmanship a bad name." "A deputation visited a jeweler." "We want to buy a solid silver coffee pot," the spokesman said. "Yes, sir; yes, sir." And the jeweler rubbed his hands. "It's for a senator." "In that case, sir," said the jeweler, "you will want something with a long spout."—Chicago Herald.

A SOLAR ECLIPSE.

When Totality Occurs Nature Takes on an Awesome Aspect. A total eclipse of the sun is a wonderful sight. Where the eclipse is but partial the disk of the moon will creep across the face of the sun little by little, but will never completely obscure the orb. But when "totality" occurs the sun at a given moment will be entirely obliterated and the inhabitants of the regions across which the black band will stretch will perceive the most wonderful phenomenon known to astronomers—the display of the "corona" of the sun.

Great waves of incandescent gas hundreds of thousands of miles long, reaching out from the sun into the ether, will be perceived. The countryside will take on a slumber, night gray color, and tints of nature will pale and deepen as at twilight, the temperature will diminish sensibly, the birds, believing night has come, will cease their song and seek their nests. A person who has never seen this strange manifestation of nature cannot form any idea of its awesome aspect.

This eclipse is a recurring phenomenon. At the end of every period of eighteen years and eleven days the moon comes between the earth and the sun at just such an angle that the sun's light is completely shut off from a portion of the world and partially shut off from a much larger part.—New York World.

A BILLION DOLLARS.

The Time It Would Take an Expert to Count Them Singly. I wonder if we realize when we talk of a billion dollars what an enormous sum of money it means? We all know how rapidly an expert counter of coins will manipulate them. You can scarcely follow the motion of his fingers as he shifts the coins from one pile to another and counts them. The treasury experts will count 4,000 silver dollars in an hour and keep it up all day long, but that is their limit. Working eight hours a day, then, an expert counter of coins will count 32,000 silver dollars in a day, but how long will it take him at that rate to count $1,000,000,000? Thirty-one days. But that is only the beginning of the measurements of great figures, for if this same man were to go on counting silver dollars at the same rate of speed for ten years he would find that he had only counted 100,000,000 of them and that to count $1,000,000,000 would require 102 years of steady work at the rate of eight hours a day during every working day of every one of the 102 years.—O. P. Austin, Former Chief of Bureau of Statistics.

Posted. "Papa, what is an escutcheon?" "Why?" "This story says there was a blot on his escutcheon." "Oh, yes. An escutcheon is a light colored vest. He had probably been carrying a fountain pen."—Houston Post.
