Deerfield News Items

Sheridan Camp No. 662 Independent Order of Odd Fellows assembled Sunday morning for the annual Memorial service in the Deerfield Presbyterian Church. The sermon was preached by the minister, Rev. C. K. Osborne, from the text, "A new commandment I give unto you that ye love one another". During the service Mrs. Frank Peterson sang a soprano solo and at the conclusion The Odd Fellows Quartette sang their benediction.

The Parent-Teacher Association will meet Friday April 30th instead of the 23rd as announced last week. Miss Anna Van Wie of the Illinois Congress of Mothers will speak on "Beauty as a Factor in Education".

Mr. John G. Kock of Mount Pleasant, Iowa was the week-end guest of Mr. John A. Reichelt Sr.

Saturday evening the 15th of May the Lyric Chorus of twenty-two voices, the Orpheus Quartette, tenor and baritone soloists, a Russian violinist and a reader will give a spring festival in the Deerfield Grammar School Assembly Hall. This fine company of artists have been influenced to give the people of Deerfield this unusual treat through the personal friendship of Mr. S. D. Nelson and Mr. George Carlson the tenor of the Orpheus Quartette whom the people of Deerfield have heard and enjoyed a number of times.

Mr. Almon Powers of Chicago was the guest at the home of Mr. Wm. A. Whiting Wednesday.

About fifteen young people were delightfully entertained at a Five Hundred party at the home of Mr. Walter Antes Wednesday evening. The occasion being in honor of his birthday anniversary.

One of the few regrets to be expressed concerning the Alumni plays given last Friday evening was that the voices of so many of those in the casts could not be heard in the rear of the hall. This difficulty was not commented upon in regard to the play by the Alumni from Deerfield. The clever farce, "Frenzied Finance", from the pen of Mrs. George McDonald, was also coached by her. Miss Loretta Kress was a charming young lady who had overspent her allowance, and conceived the idea of renting rooms to placate importunate tradesmen, in which scheme she was aided by Miss Clara Pyle, whose acting is always a delight, in the role of a French maid. Then follow amusing situations which arise from renting the two rooms to three radically different types of women at an increasing scale of prices. Miss Ruth Kress as a striking looking motion picture actress nonchalantly engages one room stating that the price made no difference to her, as she did not intend to pay it anyhow. Miss Florence Carolan's characterization of the prim spinster Greek teacher received applause for its excellent portrayal. Miss Ruth Reichelt was an elderly deaf woman with an ear trumpet who was calmly unconscious of the excitement around her. Miss Mildred Whiting, the generous aunt, returns in time to relieve her niece of the terrors of "Frenzied Finance".

Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Lord and Miss Virginia Lord have returned from Atlanta Ga. and are visiting Mrs. Lord's parents Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Pettis.

Mr. Floyd Guncel is visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Guncel of Galesburg Ill.

On account of increasing business the Deerfield garage found it necessary to put an addition to their present building. When completed it will be twice the size of the present garage.

Last Thursday a number of young people of St. Paul's Church formed a society named the St. Paul's League, "May it flourish and become a blessing for the younger generation and the whole congregation". The officers elected are: President, Mr. Irvin Antes; Vice President, Miss Mabel Segert; Secretary, Miss Sigrid Anderson; Financial Secretary, Miss Hattie Mau; Treasurer, Mr. Ewald Winter. Membership committee: the vice-president Miss Mabel Horenberger and Miss Arline Bleimehl.

The Ladies of St. Paul's Aid Society will meet next Thursday at the home of Mas. Henry Huehls about three miles southwest of Deerfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Gail D. Fitch of Chicago were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Whiting Sunday.

JAPANESE UMBRELLA TRICK.

It Was a Street Incident That Led Up to the Clever Feat.

Feats with an umbrella—of the Japanese kind—are very common. The juggler throws up a ball, catches it on the top of an open umbrella and, by twisting the handle rapidly, causes the ball to run round the edge of the umbrella. A similar feat is performed with certain rings and with coins. The smaller and lighter the coin the more difficult the feat.

All these feats were originated by a street performer in Japan. One day while passing under the walls of a castle a small audience collected on the top of the wall and playfully dropped some tangerines on to the comedian of the company of struggling jugglers. (No such company is complete without a comedian.) The next day the comedian was treated in the same manner, and so he put up a paper umbrella to shield himself. The shower of tangerines broke through the umbrella.

Then the leading juggler of the company saw his opportunity. He took the umbrella, twisted it quickly and by making it revolve caused the tangerines to fly off. While he was doing this he was helped by a lucky accident. One of the tangerines rolled round the umbrella once before dropping on the ground. The juggler picked up the tangerine and, caught it once more on his revolving umbrella, and thus the feat was invented.

The hardest feat of all with the umbrella is done with a Japanese coin which is lighter than an American cent. —London Strand Magazine.

HE WAS HUNGRY.

Under the Circumstances His Jumble of Words Was Excusable. Professor Sigmund Freud, the eminent German scholar, has made a study of lingual blunders, spoken and printed, and has embodied the result in his book, "Psychopathology." As an example of blundering speech caused by subconscious cerebration he gives the following:

"A wealthy but not very generous American host invited his friends to an evening party. Everything went well until about midnight, when there was an intermission for supper. To the disappointment of many of the guests there was no real supper. Instead they were regaled with thin sandwiches and lemonade.

"As it was during the presidential campaign, the conversation turned upon the different candidates, and as the discussion grew warmer one of the guests, an ardent Progressive, remarked to the host:

"You may say what you please about Roosevelt, but there is one thing he can always be relied upon to do—he always gives you a square meal."

"He meant, of course, to say a 'square deal.' The assembled guests burst into a roar of laughter, to the great embarrassment both of the speaker and of the host."

Passing of Papyrus.

One of the modern mysteries of Egypt is the disappearance of the papyrus plant that once fringed the lower Nile and made a desirable haunt for water fowl. A botanist, recently from Cairo, declares that in all lower Egypt the only papyrus now growing in a natural state are in the Esbekieh Gardens fountain at Cairo, the botanical gardens and at the Barrage. Perhaps Isiah may have thrown the evil eye on the plant, for among his prophecies is the destruction of the "paper reeds by the brooks." If we did not have ancient illustrations to guide us it would be impossible from the present scanty remains to reconstruct the amazing fields of papyrus that indirectly helped to civilize us.—London Tatler.

A Town of Distinction.

"Where can one find a more filthy, hot, sweating, odoriferous town than Hodeidah?" asks a recent traveler regarding that Arabian port. A further town it would indeed be difficult to discover, even in Asiatic Turkey, and the character of its inhabitants may be judged from the fact that the Akhdam Arabs, who are treated as outcasts by all the other tribes, have been allowed to establish themselves in Hodeidah. Nevertheless the port is the gateway to one of the most beautiful, fertile and populous regions of Arabia and had a flourishing trade in days prior to Turkish misrule.—Fall Mall Gazette.

Hard Hearted.

According to a hard hearted Chicagoan, the time will come when a sickly man will not be able to borrow money or get commercial credit.
