

Notice to Our Patrons

After June 1st a greatly reduced rate for finished family washing will be put into effect as follows:

We guarantee to send your laundry work home absolutely clean, sweet and well ironed and to give you the best of service. This new rate should appeal to every family.

Telephone 178-179-471 and we will send a driver to get your wash.

PEACE COLUMN by ADELINE L. ATWATER

We have heard much joking about criticism of the Woman's Peace Party. Mr. Stoughton Cooley in the Public for April 30, speaking of the principles of that organization says:

"It is hard for the average man to realize that woman is outgrowing the role of man's plaything. He is dimly conscious that she is not just what he has been thinking she was. He has faint glimmerings that she is beginning to assume the form of an individual, responsible being, capable of reasoning and reflecting, and of asserting her right to pass judgment. But of all those who have difficulty in grasping the new idea, the slowest are those who are devoted to the policy of the Big Stick. But grasp it they must. And once they comprehend the moral basis of the woman's cause, they will save themselves from much absurdity."

Perhaps some women are hysterical on the subject of war. Very good, they have reason to be, and hysteria alone reaches some people. Other women, like men, are reasoning beings. Very good, cold, calm reasoning alone reaches some people. Still others are sensationally opposed to war, and so on. Any little opposition to this great collective crime will do some good some where.

And why criticize the name, Woman's Peace Party? Suppose they did choose that for their name and it offends you for one reason or another. What's in a name anyway? The fundamentals are there just the same.

You ask us what the Woman's Congress at the Hague has accomplished. Perhaps no direct result will be traceable, and perhaps the prime movers were the most modest in their expectations but indirectly the influence will be far reaching. The words spoken at the Hague which we have already published in part in a preceding issue, and still more the personalities assembled will undoubtedly go far, and in the words of Dr. Jenkin Lloyd Jones "these delegates have left a trail of benignity behind them, like Christ's visit to Hades as described by Stephen Phillips: They have modified the climate, lightened up the gloom, and shed the fragrance of spring wherever they have gone."

And now Italy! Will Roumania be next?

Is it possible man is called a reasonable being? Individually yes—but have you studied mob psychology?

Every one follows a leader whether he realizes it or not. Let us beware of the leaders we choose, lest we too be drawn into the fair of lunacy.

The "in time of peace prepare for war" principles, could they be embodied in bronze, would set up a statue of Jesus armed to the teeth, and still called the "Prince of Peace and Goodwill."

Some people say that we must maintain proper defenses until we get the world educated to our idea of disarmament. But—is it a part of their plan to carry on this work of education? We have heard nothing of it, if it is so.

From Washington comes the information that Congress will appropriate $500,000,000 for instruments of destruction. Sixty-five cents of every dollar the government spends already goes for preparedness. How much does it appropriate for constructive work, for adding to the comforts of man, for healing the wounds of war rather than making them deeper, for educational work on peace lines?

This is the time when every American who does not see red himself, should do his utmost to cry down the cowards who are brave only when they have a bigger gun in their hands than their opponents have.

The only chance we have had the last half century to use our army and navy on a foreign nation was in 1898, and that controversy arose from the very fact that we made war preparations and that one of our engines of destruction was blown up by some one. The "Maine" was the same principle as an armed warrior formation, inviting attack because ready to defend.

Here is an editorial from "The Public": "There is such a thing as a nation being so right that it does not need to convince others by force that it is right." Here President Wilson stated a truth so obvious that it requires no argument to prove it. Furthermore he might have added that a nation which considers it necessary to fight "in order to prove itself right," thereby admits that it is not so clearly in the right as it would have the world believe.

Again one of the oldest settlers in this part of the country has departed this life. Anna Maria Selig, nee Hillfin, died at Glenview on Tuesday, May 25, at 1:45 a. m. She was born at Ibsheim, Elsass, Germany, on the 25th of Dec. 1823. At the age of 25 years (1849) she married John Selig and 5 years later (1854) left the fatherland with her husband and two children and sailed over to the United States. Here they settled on a farm near Deerfield, where they lived for 55 years. After the death of her husband in 1909 she lived in Deerfield with her oldest son John for one year and then moved to her daughter, Mrs. Emma Reed in Glenview, where she spent the rest of her days.
