PEACE COLUMN

by ADELINE L. ATWATER

Reviewing the idea in our column of May 26.

"So he died for his faith. That is fine—

More than most of us do.

But stay, can you add to that line

That he lived for it too?

It is easy to die. Men have died

For a wish or a whim

From bravado or passion or pride.

Was it harder for him?

But to live, every day to live out

All the truth that he dreamt.

While his friends met his conduct with do-ibt

And the world with contempt.

Was it thus that he plodded ahead

Never turning aside?

Then we'll talk of the life that he led

Never mind how he died."

It will be interesting to watch the papers for developments of the following plan of Mr. Taft's, as it is backed by some of the best brains of our country. A committee of 100 of the prominent men of the country, headed by former President Taft, have issued a call for a conference to be held in Independence hall, Philadelphia, on June 17, to consider the adoption of proposals for a league of peace, or league of nations.

It is proposed that the United States shall become one of the league of powers who shall agree to use their joint military forces to prevent any one of their number from going to war with another before recourse is had to a judicial tribunal, or, where the question in dispute is not justifiable, to an international council of conciliation.

The plan is largely the idea of Mr. Taft, who will preside at the conference and is understood to have the personal, though unofficial, indorsement of President Wilson.

The movement is backed by President Lowell of Harvard University, Prof. George W. Kirchway and John Bates Clark of Columbia, Darwin F. Kingsley, John Hayes Hammond, Albert Shaw, Hamilton Holt, and James M. Beck, with the governors of two states, educators, financiers, diplomatists, lawyers, and business men as signers.

MANY USES FOR GUNS.

They Have Even Been the Means at Times of Saving Lives.

Guns would not go even if warfare were abolished. For example, the signal gun of a ship is used to announce her arrival on a coast. It would be difficult to find an equally effective substitute. The 1 o'clock gun, too, which is fired by electricity from Greenwich observatory, is the most effective means possible of announcing the exact time to surrounding towns, while nothing more impressive could be found than the minute guns fired for public mourning and the salutes given on occasions of public rejoicings.

Guns save lives as well as take them. In desert countries, where it is difficult to collect water out of a mere dampness of sand, gun barrels are often sunk into the ground. By this means moisture is collected in the bore and many lives have been preserved by a timely draw at the muzzle.

A slaver, captured with a crew of slaves in the tropics, was once put in charge of a prize crew. During the voyage water ran out and slaves, slaves and prize crew were all dying of thirst. Then a sergeant hit on a brilliant idea. Taking all the available gun barrels, he plugged up the breach ends of a few of them, filled their bores with sea water and set them end up among the coals of the galley fire. Then as the steam rose he ran it through the other gun barrels till it cooled. The cooling steam collected in the shape of excellent fresh water and by this means scores of lives were saved.—Pearson's Weekly.

Your Chances.

The little chances linger and return, but the great chances come and go and never come again. If we could look back over the lives of the people by whom we are surrounded how many great and rich opportunities would we see that they have permitted to drift by them unimproved!

Food and Fresh Air.

You can live forty days without food, but you cannot live four minutes without air. These things being true, is it wise to stuff ourselves with food and starve ourselves for want of air?

No Difference.

Jinks—Which women have the worst tempers, blonds or brunettes? Hinks—My wife has been both, and I could not see any difference.—New York Times.
