

THE TOWN BOOSTER

Two men met in front of Sweetland's, one is dejected, he never boosts because he is afraid the other fellow may get a little more benefit out of it than he would. The other fellow wears a "Sunny Jim" smile, he walks as though he is happy, full of cheer and to him everything looks rosy, he boosts his neighbors and everything in and around his Home Town and by so doing he boosts himself and makes a new friend every minute.

The one has been looking backward ever since he struck the town, he did his level best to hold back everything that looked like an improvement, he is the original calamity howler, who predicted for the past 20 years that the town was going to the dogs and his appearance is a sure sign of rain for the Highland Park Day Celebration. The other one is Heart and Soul with anyone proposing a better town, he is willing to help along in anything which makes for progress and a brighter "Tomorrow". He is a booster and takes a pride in his Home Town. To him there is no other town quite like it and he works hard to make it come true.

The one can't find anything good enough in town, the storekeepers are Highwaymen and Holdups, everyone, so he buys his canned milk, ham and shoes in the large city and pays cash for them, but for yeast, parlor matches and stove polish he patronizes Home People and has it "hung up". The other goes out of his way to deal at Home, he calls the store keeper by his first name and compliments him on his attractive show window, he values and appreciates the personal friendship of all his neighbors whether living along the Lake Front or below the hill. He is a booster for Home Industry, has a word of encouragement for everybody striving to have a little Home or a neat and up-to-date place of business and is actually proud of it.

The one finds fault with everyone in the City Hall, yet he never votes. He simply can't see why the people want better and bigger schools, why the streets should be paved and allow automobiles to use them afterward, why have public parks with all the parkways, and why should the streets be oiled when he pays a water tax? The other tries his utmost to help the Commissioners to do their best for the benefit of the town, he helps to avoid finding fault rather than look for it, he is not satisfied with things as they are, he wants them better and realizes that the time to have them better is here, Right Now, he is a Booster and our town is just full of such.

One can hardly mention another spot on earth where nature has been more generous than here in Highland Park. When you live here you are never over anxious to go to Heaven right away. With just a few more streets paved and bridges in, we will have a Paradise such as Eve never dreamed of, and apples for us all.

We are going to oil a whole lot more of our streets because everybody is paying their wheel tax money and paying it cheerfully, it's going to be used to lay the dust, keep it down so you can breathe and inhale the clear air of Lake Michigan and the Prairie so you can enjoy the beautiful foliage of our grand native trees, enjoy the green turf of the lawn grown from Bahr's famous "Exmoor Putting Green, Grass Seed" or the Posies he planted for you this spring, they will cheer you up, make you happy, change that city frown into a "Sunny Jim" smile, make a Booster of you for your Home Town and everything in it and connected with HIGHLAND PARK.
