Y. W. C. A. News

Hallowe'en was fittingly celebrated in the Y. W. C. A. headquarters. The rooms were tastefully decorated by the different clubs and Jack o' lanterns were in evidence at every turn. Friday afternoon from 3:30 to 8:30 the four commonweal clubs held a very successful party. Fifty-two were in attendance with as many different costumes as there were people, provoking much merriment and laughter.

Lunch was served at 5:30 and was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. A program of vocal and instrumental music, dancing and story-telling completed the evening's entertainment. On Saturday evening the Friendship Club entertained their friends in the Association Rooms with a masked party. The regulation Hallowe'en supper was served and heartily enjoyed by all. Part of the company danced while the remainder enjoyed games suitable to the occasion. Many humorous as well as attractive costumes were worn. No Vesper Service will be held in the Rooms, Sunday, November 7th, thus giving all those an opportunity to attend the Vespers at the Presbyterian church. The rooms will, however, be open. All will be welcome from 4 to 6.

Elsewhere in the paper will be found an article on Mrs. Jennie Sharples of Chicago, Field Secretary of the American Bureau of Moral Education, who will give a lecture Tuesday evening in the association rooms before the Mother's Club.

Mrs. Sharples comes highly recommended and has just returned from a two months' tour in the east, speaking every night. It is hoped every mother will come out and hear her. Music will be furnished by the Misses Krueger.

Moraine Hotel Notes

The management of the hotel announces a series of three dinner dances, the first to be given on Saturday, the sixth inst. Of unusual interest will be some new features by Mrs. Harlo R. Grant, introduced for the first time in this country. Mrs. Grant who recently returned from Europe, also announces a class in modern dancing at the hotel commencing on Thursday evening, the 11th, at eight o'clock. This lady has had a wide experience in teaching, having taught in both Paris and London, and has also conducted classes at the Blackstone Hotel in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Foster and family, of Mellen, Wis., and Mr. L. K. Baker and daughter, of Ashland, Wis., have taken rooms for the winter. Dr. and Mrs. V. B. Ames, who were residents at the hotel last winter, will be back again shortly after Thanksgiving.

The tennis courts are still popular owing to the fact that there are several young people among the guests this year, some of whom are players of merit. These courts will be flooded and used as a skating rink when the weather will permit, and a lively winter season is looked for.

Parents and Teachers' Association

The first meeting of the year of the high school division of the association will be held at the high school, Friday afternoon, November twelfth, at two-thirty o'clock. Any one who is interested in public schools is invited to join this association, the dues being fifty cents a year for every member, except teachers who are actually engaged in teaching in the Deerfield Shields high school. These teachers are members of the association by virtue of their position. All parents will receive a program of the year's work and a membership blank within a few days. This month's program is to include an entertainment given by the English classes, and a few informal remarks by the president, Mrs. John W. Welch. A social hour will follow, at which time it is planned to give the teachers and parents a chance to meet each other. Following is a list of the chairmen of the different committees: Social, Mrs. Henry Mason, Highland Park; Educational, Mrs. Thomas Quayle, Lake Forest; Health and Hygiene, Mrs. William Anderson, Lake Forest; Membership, Mrs. John Duffy, Highland Park; Vocational, Mr. E. P. Sedgwick, Highland Park.

Highland Park Cub

An informal dance on Tuesday evening was held at the club house, which was enjoyed by a number of members.

Mr. and Mrs. George Schofield and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Buell will give an informal dancing party at the club, Monday evening, November fifteenth.

Should We Prepare?
Should the army be doubled?
Should the navy be enlarged to twice its size?
Should schools be made military instruction government departments?
Should American people inaugurate a demand for preparedness that Congress cannot ignore?
These are a few of the questions which the National Security League is urging upon American people and the newspapers of the country in an effort to stir up public sentiment in favor of "a call to arms against war."
The Security League is forming branches in every big city of the country, and enlisting the help of prominent men in the movement. Among these are J. Stuart Blackton, of the Vitagraph film company, who has written and produced a remarkable feature film called "The Battle Cry of Peace" which is playing to crowded houses simultaneously in New York, Boston and Chicago. The story of the film is based on Hudson Maxim's book, "Defenseless America," and the performers include Admiral Dewey, Major Leonard Wood, Dr. Lyman Abbott, Hudson Maxim, 800 members of the G. A. R.; 25,000 National Guardsmen and many others. It is the most remarkable peace through preparedness propaganda ever launched in this country. Others interested in the movement are Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio, former Congressman Nicholas Longworth, Speaker Champ Clark of Missouri, and United States Senator James A. O'Gorman of New York. Senator Harding believes the navy especially should be strengthened by a larger submarine force; that the army could be doubled and a practical method provided for educating officers for available volunteers. Others go even farther in recommending an army twice as large as the present one, the addition of a large aerial division, and the institution of compulsory military service. What would happen to America, they point out, is vividly shown in the film, "The Battle Cry of Peace" by the bombardment of New York, the failure of our so-called coast defenses and the utter inability of our army to cope with the invader.
