SYNOPSIS OF LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

ations and material methods of healing. It is always available. There is never a time or a place that the remedy is not at hand, for God's law and love are ever-present and omnipotent. Is it not believed that God is ever-present to help all men in the overcoming of sin? Why then should it seem unreasonable to declare that God is ever-present to help in the overcoming of other discordant conditions?

It was Mrs. Eddy's great need of physical healing which led to the discovery of Christian Science. The remedies known to medical science had failed and her physician said there was no hope, but her faith in God did not waver. She turned to the one infinite good for help and her prayer was answered. She did not regard her restoration to health as a special dispensation of Providence. She believed and afterwards proved that it was the divinely natural result of the operation of law which could be understood and demonstrated.

There was no person to whom she could appeal for an explanation of this wonderful healing. There was no book save the Bible which could throw any light upon her experience. She tells us that this book answered her questions as to how she was healed. As she read the inspired word in the light of her marvelous experience, it spoke to her in a new tongue. In the scriptural understanding of the Scriptures, she discovered the Science of Christianity and learned how its sacred truths can be humanly applied to the healing of sickness and sin.

This new found faith was a living faith and through her loving ministrations scores were healed of diseases pronounced incurable. Being convinced by many infallible proofs that she had discovered the Principle and rule of scientific mind healing, she then demonstrated that it was possible to impart to students an understanding of this Science which would enable them to heal the sick. This was begun the greatest religious movement and the most effective reform in the healing of sickness known to recent centuries.

We sometimes hear it said that the physical healing accomplished in Christian Science is merely the result of faith. Let it be admitted that faith is desirable, yes, even necessary; this in no way detracts from the practical value of Christian healing, rather does it show that this method of healing, even from a human point of view, is established upon a foundation more enduring than that which supports the gigantic financial enterprises of a commercial age.

In his truly wonderful dissertation on faith, contained in the eleventh chapter of Hebrews, Paul writes, "He that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him." The opening sentence of the Christian Science text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," is as follows: "The prayer that reforms the sinner and heals the sick is an absolute faith that all things are possible to God,—a spiritual understanding of Him, an unselfed love."

When the sick are brought into harmony with God's law they are restored to health. How is this accomplished? The prayer of faith is the unfailing remedy. When it is understood that the sick are healed by reason of the activity of divine Mind operating through spiritual law, who will say that the prayer of spiritual understanding is less scientific than the mental operation which diagnoses disease according to material theories, or that it is less effectual in healing the sick than is the drug or application administered in accordance with the material diagnosis? It can no longer be denied that the sick are healed in Christian Science even though the majority are not prepared to admit that the method is scientific. One may question the method but he cannot deny the result.

We hear a great deal these days about the conservation of health and the means by which this most desirable end can be attained. Few persons realize how much Christian Science is doing in this direction. Christian Science is a preventive as well as a curative. Thousands have been restored to perfect health after they had been pronounced incurable, and there is no means of estimating how many have been healed before they reached the so-called incurable stage.

The most effectual means of conserving that which is good and at the same time delivering humanity from the discordant conditions, is to impart the understanding of divine law, which always works out good and is never the source or cause of evil. "A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit, neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit," declared the great exponent of divine law.

If one desires good he must look to the source whence good can come. He must do this understandingly. According to his enlightened faith he will receive the blessing he desires.

It is believed by many that disease and suffering are to a certain extent in accordance with the divine plan. Jesus regarded human experience from an entirely different point of view, and his success in overcoming discordant conditions proved that his faith was right.

Mortals have made a fatal mistake in concluding that there is one remedy for sin and another remedy for sickness. Jesus was as successful in healing sickness as he was in destroying sin. Why then should he not be considered an authority in the one case as well as the other? In his teaching and practice, physical and moral healing were one. Nowhere did he intimate by word or deed that different remedies were required. When the people murmured because he said unto a sick man, "Thy sins be forgiven thee," he asked "Whether it is easier to say, Thy sins are forgiven thee; or to say, Arise, and walk?" To the important man whom he healed he said, "Behold, thou art made whole: sin no more, lest a worse thing come unto thee."

Jesus commanded his students to heal the sick and cast out devils as well as preach the gospel, and this command was faithfully adhered to until mortal belief substituted material methods for God's power in the healing of sickness.

Woman's Civic Club

Mrs. John Bley of Chicago, who is chairman of the Home department of Women's Clubs in Chicago, and past president of the Fruit and Market Club, will speak at the Woman's Civic Club tomorrow afternoon, along the lines of co-operative marketing. This is a change of program.

Trinity Church Notes

The last all day meeting of Trinity Guild for 1915 will be held on Monday next, December 13. As Mrs. Tyson of Chicago is to speak in the afternoon on "French Hospitals and Their Present Needs," the business meeting of the Guild will be held at 11:00 a. m., followed by a full report of the bazaar earnings and expenditures; a large attendance is earnestly requested.

Ossoli Club

An unusually beautiful program was given at the Ossoli Club Thursday afternoon, at the Club House, when a large number of members was present. The program of the day was in charge of the Art and Literature Department, with Mrs. Henry S. Vail in charge.

Mr. Worth Faulkner, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Annette Jones, sang charmingly a group of songs, the words of which are those of Tagore set to John Alden Carpenter music, making a perfect setting for the theme of the afternoon, "The Place of Rabindranath Tagore in Modern Thought," given by Miss Ella Abeel. Miss Abeel gave interesting accounts of the life of Tagore, reading some of his lovely poems, which deal with the poetry of the soul, also readings from "Gitangali," and the "Chitra" and given in Miss Abeel's fascinating way, in her clear, firm voice made the program stand out as one of the most artistic of the season. Miss Abeel has done a great deal of work along the lines of dramatic reading, and surely it is a privilege as well as a pleasure to hear her. After adjournment the following hostesses served tea: Mrs. Loudon, chairman, assisted by Mesdames Boyer, Hopkins, Buchanan, Plant, Bergen, Norcross, H. Boyd, Holland, and Miss Everett. The next Ossoli afternoon will take place, Thursday, January sixth.

Lincoln School

A Christmas entertainment will be given by the pupils, Friday afternoon, December seventeenth, at the school, when they will appear in Christmas carols, recitations and songs. Stereoscopic pictures on the life of Christ will illustrate the songs. All parents and any others interested in the school work are urged to come. The manual training, sewing and art departments are busy preparing for Christmas, making gifts and in other ways, creating quite a Christmas atmosphere. At the last Parent-Teacher meeting, Mrs. Beatty, who spoke on the subject, "Art in the School and Home," had on exhibition very beautiful pictures to illustrate her talk. Miss Peters' sixth grade pupils gave an exhibition of physical training work, illustrating the rhythm work done in the school. The two weeks' vacation will begin on the seventeenth.

Y. W. C. A. News

The Mothers' Club met December seventh in the new gymnasium, at eight p. m. The entertainment was provided by the Aster Girls' Club, under their guardian, Miss Goelitz, and consisted of a play, "Goats and Petticoats," and instrumental and vocal music. The play was very interesting and afforded a great deal of pleasure to the appreciative audience that greeted them. Those taking part were Miss Goelitz, Elizabeth Larson, Dora Krueger, Mary Fay, Esther and Kathleen Krueger, and Mildred Goelitz. Each performed her part well and showed ability along the line suggested in the play. Light refreshments were served.

The Friendship Club are making poinsettia blossoms and other decorations for Christmas at their Thursday evening meetings.

The O. V. R. Club is making aprons and Christmas novelties.

The Port Clinton school is being put in order for the Commonweal Club of Highwood. Anyone having pieces of furniture and no use for them can be of great help to the Association if they would donate them to a most worthy cause.

The secretary will be glad to give any information concerning this project. Chairs, tables, rugs, pictures and games are greatly needed.

The Y. W. C. A. will have a distributing station Christmas. Anyone having clothing, toys or books can have them placed advantageously by sending them to the Association Rooms, as we have opportunities that the public at large know nothing about.

Miss Kathryn Knight, director of the Girls' League in Evanston, an organization doing the same work our Y. W. C. A. is engaged in, spent Wednesday at the Association investigating methods and activities promoted by the local association.

Highland Park Club

Tomorrow evening the motion pictures are to be, "Hansel and Gretel." This fairy tale of the children in the wood charms the younger children as well as the older ones, and the picture-tization should prove a great entertainment for all ages. On Tuesday evening, the regular monthly dance was held.
