High School Notes

One of the most interesting places in the city is the heating plant of the high school. The building is situated back of the tennis courts, and forms an important part of the school. In the plant all the electricity used in the school for lighting, and vacuum cleaning is made, thus saving a part of the expense of electric power. The furnace room is certainly an interesting place, clean and neat in appearance despite the fact that a great deal of coal is used daily. A large tank of water holding eleven thousand gallons is heated by the furnace, for the use of the school. The boiler itself is vast, and has been inspected and been pronounced one of the best on the North Shore. The coal bin is placed on a level with the boiler which is much below ground, the coal being unloaded from the wagons through a hole in the roof of the bin leading directly into it. A tunnel which connects the heating plant with the main buildings, is six hundred feet in length, and contains pipes which conduct heat to all parts of the school, and also wires over which the electricity goes to all parts of the school. The pool filter is also another interesting part of the building, all water used in the pool is filtered and kept perfectly clean and sanitary. All gymnasium suits, towels and other articles used in the school are washed in the laundry and thus saves quite a bill of expense. This department has all the conveniences of an up to date laundry. The process of "washing the air" is certainly one of great interest. Steam is made and a large fan collects it and forces it through every class room of the school, thus keeping the right amount of humidity all over. The lunch room which has been finished is a very delightful place for the students to eat, the kitchen, light and airy has all conveniences, and the dining room is convenient to class rooms, and certainly is up-to-date in every way. The striking feature of the whole heating plant is the way in which every bit of power is used, nothing goes to waste, which seems the real meaning of economy.

The debating team has been chosen, and consists of Frances Buell, Edgar Gurney, Rachel Hecksliwiler, Oscar Meyer, Ernest Osborne, and Oliver Wilton. In next week's issue of the Press other facts concerning the big debate will be published.

Major Gustaf Schoof, a German who has served in the English army for eighteen years, spoke to the students on Thursday afternoon of last week. Major Schoof has had experience in the war in South Africa, and has also been drill master with the cavalry under command of Madero, in Mexico. He has also been a newspaper correspondent in New Orleans. The topic discussed was "The Situation in Mexico," and was a most interesting and humorous talk the best one of its kind the school has had the pleasure of hearing. Major Schoof has hunted big game in Africa and brought with him, to display to the students, trophies of the hunt, such as skins of tigers, lions and serpents, besides these he showed relics and trophies of the battlefield. Major Schoof has been addressing high schools and colleges of late and says that great interest is being taken in military drill everywhere.

The basketball team was victorious over Maine Township High School Tuesday evening in a very exciting and well played game. Capt. Bolan and his team did excellent work and all deserve much credit. On Saturday evening a double header "Suburban League" game will take place between the local team and Chicago Heights. The game will be called at seven o'clock. This is the first home game in the Suburban League. On Wednesday afternoon, the old rivals, New Trier, will meet the high school team here. This will be another Suburban League game and also a double header as all the league games are. Interest is being kept up in the evening gymnasium classes. Every Monday and Thursday evenings the business men of the community may gather at the school for instruction, on Tuesday the young men and on Monday and Thursday evening the women have the use of the girls' gymnasium and the pool.

that they sold liquor to her husband, causing him to squander his money, become an habitual drunkard, and failed to support her and the children. Mrs. Moran is suing for $10,000 on her own account and 10,000 on behalf of the children. The case was settled, after seven jurors had been selected, the saloonkeepers paying Mrs. Moran $1,200.

May Sell Drugs in Zion City.
The appellate court of Illinois Tuesday reversed the famous drug store injunction ruling of the circuit court of Lake county and, according to word from Zion and Springfield, the victory is most pronounced for the anti-Voliva forces.
By the ruling it is held that the ruling of the circuit court be reversed and the injunction issued by the latter court restraining Fabry and Simmons from operating a drug store, selling drugs and tobacco, shall be dissolved. Accordingly, it now is not effective and the owners who, when the writ was issued some time ago, ceased selling drugs and tobacco, will take steps to begin their sale immediately.—Times-Review.

HALF MILLION DOLLAR FUND COMPLETED

Lake Forest College Endowment Fund Reaches Aimed For Amount
Lake Forest College announces the completion of a fund of half a million dollars, four hundred thousand dollars of which goes into permanent endowment, and one hundred thousand toward improvements recently made and current expenses.
The campaign for this new fund was formally launched when the general education board of New York City in January, 1913, voted to appropriate $50,000 toward a total of $400,000 for endowment, which the trustees of Lake Forest University had begun to raise. The financial stringency of the following year, followed by the outbreak of the European war, halted this effort when it was half completed and an extension of time was secured from October, 1914, to January, 1916. New impetus was given to the movement by a munificent contribution from a member of the Board of Trustees last spring, and by persistent effort, the whole amount was secured just before the expiration of the time limit set for the large conditional pledges.
Most of the contributions are in the form of five annual installments, beginning January 1st, 1916, and the general education board makes payments proportional to the collections upon the other pledges.

FIRST BASEBALL GLOVE.

Story of the Little Third Baseman With the Iron Fist.
About 1897-98 a baseball team came to Rockford, Ill., to play our nine, says a writer in All Outdoors. They called themselves the "Unconquered Clippers of Illinois" and plastered our town with big posters. We made up our minds to give them a drubbing, and at the end of the game the score was Rockford, 7; Clippers, 0.
There was a little chap playing third base who grabbed everything that came near him, and held it too. I noticed that he wore a kind of glove. When the game was over I went to him and asked what it was that he wore on his hand. He told me that he was a machinist and had got his hand badly hurt the week before, and he showed me the wound in his palm. He said the boys did not want him to play in that game, but he got a piece of thin sheet steel and made it slightly concave, but so that it did not quite touch the sore place. He then made a short glove to cover all the hand excepting the first joints of the fingers and doubled the leather in the palm so that he could slip the plate between.
I asked him if it hurt, and he said it did not and that he could take a hot one and hold it better with the glove than without it. That is the whole story. I don't think that Spalding ever talked to the little chap with the iron fist, as the boys dubbed the third baseman, but everybody in Rockford knew about the mitt, and he may have got the idea from him. Anyway, that was the first glove that any ball player ever wore.

LAFAYETTE DOLLARS.

Why They Were Issued and What They Are Now Worth.
In 1890 congress ordered 50,000 Lafayette dollars to be coined in aid of the fund for the erection of the Lafayette monument in Paris in 1900. The first one of the issue was struck at the Philadelphia mint Dec. 14, 1890, on the one hundredth anniversary of the death of George Washington. This coin was set apart for presentation by the president of the United States to the president of the republic of France.
The Lafayette dollar is a legal tender dollar and bears upon its face a double medallion of the heads of Washington and Lafayette and on the reverse a miniature reproduction of the equestrian statue of Lafayette, with the inscription, "In Commemoration of Monument Erected by School Youth of United States to General Lafayette, Paris, France, 1900."
The Lafayette memorial commission was authorized to dispose of them at $2 apiece, the profit going to the monument fund. The whole proceeding was to honor the memory of Lafayette, and there was but one issue of the coins—viz, 50,000. They have become widely scattered, mostly in the hands of collectors, and are worth $1.10 to $1.25 apiece.—New York

In Praise of the Eskimos.

Admiral R. E. Peary in the narrative describing his discovery of the north pole devotes a very long chapter to the Eskimos, with whom he has had intimate dealings for many years. He tells us that, though they are savages, they are not savage; that, though they are without government, they are not lawless; that, though they are uneducated, they exhibit a remarkable degree of intelligence. He assures us that they have no religion, yet he describes them as destitute of vice and ready to share their last meal with the hungry. He thinks it would be impossible to Christianize them, but they already possess the cardinal graces of faith, hope and charity, for "without them they could never survive the six months' night and the other rigors of their home."

Prompting the Prompter.
Like all artists, Sir Henry Irving sometimes allowed the line he was to speak evade his memory for the moment, but so seldom his prompter grew careless. One night Sir Henry turned to the wings and said, "Line, please." The prompter was busy chatting, and Sir Henry repeated, "Line, line!" There was a rustling of leaves, and then a distressed voice murmured, "Which line, Sir Henry?"
Egyptian Maxims.
An Egyptian papyrus which dates back to about 4000 B. C. has the following injunctions: "Calumnies should never be repeated." "Guard thy speech before all things, for a man's ruin lies in his tongue." The wise men of the race early learned good sense.
Nailed by the Ears.
During the prosecution of a London east end shopkeeper for adulteration recently the magistrate remarked that in days gone by tradesmen convicted of offenses similar to this were punished by being nailed by the ears to their own doorposts.
He that will not reason is a bigot, he that cannot reason is a fool, and he that dares not reason is a slave.—Sir W. Drummond.
