Elm Place School Notes

The following essay was written by Helen Watson of the eighth grade at Elm Place. This essay on "Why Highland Park Needs a Hospital," is the prize winning essay of the eighth grade. Honorable mention was given to Elisha Stubbs and Oscar Stuenkel. Recently we published the seventh grade prize-winning essay by John McBride, and mention was made of the honorable mention going to Seymour Jones and Elise Lauridsen. For these two prize-winning essays Mrs. Everett has given two shares in the Highland Park Hospital Association. Helen Watson's essay is as follows:

"There are many reasons why Highland Park needs a hospital, and I believe the subject may be considered under two heads, namely—What it means to the community and what it means to the medical profession.

A hospital stands for preparedness, and by being so prepared is a safe guard for public health in emergencies, contagious disease and general nursing. In emergency cases the hospital often proves a life saver. Under the present condition emergency cases have to be taken to a hospital in a nearby city. This delay often proves a serious handicap to recovery.

In cases of contagious diseases, especially with children, it provides a way of caring for them, that is impossible in the home. The quarantine is more faithfully followed and by so doing guards the community against the spread of disease. It does away with quarantining the entire family for weeks.

In cases of illness a hospital provides a quiet, restful place, where the patient may be free from household annoyances and cares. It affords the best of nursing, and the latest conveniences and methods known to the medical profession, which are impossible to have in the home. A hospital is health insurance and should arouse a civic pride in keeping our city healthy.

From the doctor's standpoint it means greater efficiency. It provides him with a more complete and up-to-date place in which to work and observe his patients. His orders are more faithfully followed, his laboratory tests are more complete, his operating and also sick rooms are more sanitary than can be had outside the hospital. He is better equipped to safeguard the public by being prepared to make complete water, milk and food analysis.

The doctor comes in contact with other members of his profession and by so doing an exchange of ideas takes place which tends to promote efficiency and arouse in him more interest in his profession. With a city like ours, standing for progress, with its fine churches, schools, clubs and homes and what they mean, why not a hospital in the interest of humanity."

Ossoli Club

There are to be no more study classes of the Ossoli Club for this year.

The club program for this afternoon and the annual meeting on the thirteenth of April will close the club's activities for this year.

Y. W. C. A. News

The Mother's Club of the Y. W. C. A. will meet Tuesday evening April 4th. Mrs. T. C. Williams will talk on Civics, being a member of this new Civics Commission and thoroughly conversant with the subject that has to do with the beautifying and care of the city, she will bring some knowledge that will be valuable just at this time of the year. This Civics Commission has divided the city into sections and each organization in the city is asked to co-operate in this commendable project and give assistance wherever possible. It is hoped that each member of the Mother's Club will avail herself of the opportunity to know more about the "City Beautiful Plan" and will not only attend herself but will bring her friends. This talk is open to all and will be followed by an informal discussion. Mrs. C. G. Alexander will sing.

The Friendship girls entertained Thursday evening in the Association Rooms. Light refreshments were served and a general good time followed.

The Handcraft Club meets every Wednesday evening at 7:30. Some very pretty articles are being fashioned under the clever guidance of Miss Shumaker, the instructor.

The O. V. B. Commonwealth Club under the training of their leader, Miss Craig gave a very clever little sketch at the Eastern Star rooms Thursday evening for the Star. Those taking part were Donna Shelton, Florence Brown, Fannie Webster, Pearl Garrity, and Eleanor Bartlett.

Wednesday evening, April 12th, Miss Marie Mayer who played the part of Mary Magdalene in the Passion Play of 1910, will give The Message of Oberammergau at the Dearfield Shields High School. This is a wonderful opportunity to hear a message from one who has had actual experience in this soul stirring drama presented by the simple folk in the Bavarian village. Special rates will be made to all school children.

The Association is the recipient of new desk the gift of Mrs. L. M. Bergen and much joy prevails. It is a practical attractive piece of furniture and adds greatly to the comfort, convenience and looks of the Reception Room.

Highland Park Club

The motion pictures for tomorrow evening are to be "An Exposition Romance," in which the entire Miller Brothers' 101 ranch of wild west performers take part. Those who ain't never seen a wil' west show" certainly have missed a great part of life, and this picture will really be of much interest to every one who enjoys the fascinating western pictures. The "Little Lord Fauntleroy" pictures on Friday were exceptionally good and attracted a large number of children.

The April program is being prepared for the members and promises a very pleasant one. This month's program ends the social activities at the club for the season of 1915-1916.

There are good motion pictures planned for April, which are: "Rip Van Winkle", with Thomas Jefferson, on the seventh, a motion picture lecture, by Mr. H. W. All the motion pictures begin at seven-thirty. On Thursday, the thirteenth at twelve-thirty, the Ossoli Club will hold the regular annual meeting for members for election of officers. The annual meeting and election of officers for the Highland Park Club, will take place Saturday, the fifteenth. There will be no entertainment on Good Friday, April twenty-fourth, there will be a "sons and daughters dance," and on the twenty-sixth, the children will be given a party from four to six. The annual dinner for members of the club will take place Saturday evening the twenty-ninth. There will be cards and dancing included in the entertainment.
