Are You Taking Advantage of It?

No matter what you wish to know or are anxious to find out about Gardening, your Lawn, Driveway, Brick Walk, Flowerborders, Perennials, Shrubs, Trees, Seeds, Fertilizer, Concrete Work, Pergolas, Terraces, Water Gardens, Rustic work or any thing else pertaining to your Home grounds call up 44, 78 or 85.

We have been here for over 20 years on the same old stand, have developed with the surroundings, kept track of every thing going on else where, there is hardly anything of importance being done in other localities we don't try to benefit by, this puts us in a position to offer you suggestions "Worth While".

While we like to do your work we don't expect to do it all, deal wherever you think best, if there is any thing we can supply you with, or you want something done a certain way, we will be glad to do it but outside of all of that, call us up when not quite sure as to what to do. You will find us ever ready and courteous to answer your questions and answer them correctly.

So much comes up with out-door work requiring intelligent treatment that you need help and suggestions in order to avoid unnecessary mistakes and expenditures. Whenever you are not quite satisfied, make for the phone.

The writer of these notes has been in charge of "The WeeksWork" of the foremost horticultural Journal of the Country, the Florist's Exchange of New York for the past 8 years, dishing out suggestions to the professional Gardener, he gets good pay for it—enough said.

Trinity Church Notes

The Lenten services in the church are well attended, especially the Wednesday evening service at which on March 29th the Rev. Dr. Rogers, of St. Mark's, Evanston, was the preacher. Dr. Rogers is a man of scholarly accomplishments and a most pleasing speaker. On Wednesday, April 5th, the speaker was the Rev. Joseph Lyons Meade, of St. Luke's, Evanston, one of the ablest and most promising of the younger clergy of the diocese. On Wednesday next, April 12th, the preacher is to be the Rev. Theodore B. Foster, professor in the Western Theological Seminary, formerly rector of Emmanuel Church, La Grange. Mr. Foster is a man of unusual gifts and acquirements and is sure to bring us a message worth listening to.

Mr. Victor Hoag, who since last October has had charge of the Sunday School and has done so much to increase its efficiency, has been sent to Geneva, Ill., by the bishop, to take charge of the mission there to which he is to be appointed when he is ordained deacon in June. Mr. Hoag's place has been taken to Mr. Bertram L. Smith, a junior in the Western Seminary and a recent graduate of Hobart College. Mr. Smith is entirely competent to continue the work which Mr. Hoag outlined and organized.

A visitor at the rectory last week was Mr. William F. Borrman, of Soochow Academy, Soochow, China. Mr. Borrman has been the friend and associate of Roger Wolcott since the latter's arrival in China, and brings to his parents a good account of him. Mr. Borrman is returning home on his six month's furlough after five years of service in China.

Lincoln School

The pupils are busy preparing a Scottish program to be given at one-thirty o'clock Thursday afternoon, the thirteenth. There will be Scottish folk songs, and quotations given from Burns and Scott. Stereopticon slides of beautiful Scotland will be shown.

The eighth grade pupils are planning to give an illustrated talk on "Yellowstone Park," some time before the end of the month.

Mr. R. Bock has taken Mr. John Falkner's place as janitor.

Elm Place School Notes

The piece of news most interesting to the children at school is that the spring vacation takes place the last week in April.

Miss Gertrude Spaller, a Chicago artist who has executed a number of paintings for the San Francisco exhibition, visited the school on Monday to study the possibilities of mural paintings for the hall space in the Kintergarten Annex.

There was a meeting of the Vocational Conference Association in Chicago on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week. Mr. Jesse Lowe Smith represented the grammar school, and Mr. Robert W. Schneider head of the Manual Training Department of the High School, represented the High School. Mr. Smith was chosen secretary of a committee to call together a conference of all organizations in Illinois interested in vocational legislation.
