High School Notes

A new forty-six page year book for 1916-17 has been placed in circulation. This book contains a full account of the different departments of the school.

Arthur Williams and Harold Bamforth, two students at the high school, have made a most clever arrangement whereby the targets (used in the shooting practice) can be changed without the usual danger accompanying such work. The first part of the program was music in the girls' gymnasium by the school band, orchestra and the glee club. An exhibition of girls' and boys' gymnastics followed. The domestic science exhibit included a demonstration of a class baking biscuits which certainly attracted a great deal of attention. Forge and shop exhibits were equally good and showed much ability on the part of the students. All other class work was exhibited in the various classrooms. The evening ended with informal dancing in the boys' gymnasium with Mr. Russell Morgan's orchestra furnishing the music.

Elm Place School Notes

Speaking of "What Shakespeare Missed," reminds one of the beautiful Shakespearean pageant given last Thursday afternoon when over one thousand school children of this vicinity took part in a most elaborate production. The beautiful Sheehen's woods was the scene of the pageant and the natural beauty of the place was a most fitting background to the artistic production. The high school pupils, some of whom were fresh from the splendid pageant given at Ravinia Park, were present in gay costumes representing different phases of the Shakespearean drama. The cadet corps, with the military band, did much toward adding the necessary "push" to the affair. Elm Place pupils came costumed to represent the different plays of Shakespeare, and each group bore a banner on which was inscribed the name of the play represented. Ravinia, Lincoln, and the Ridge schools were all present with a most effectively costumed contingent which at once lent itself charmingly to the variety of other costumes.

Dancing, singing and Maypole winding on the green were done by those taking part, and a better organized and a better carried out production was never witnessed.

Certainly many thanks are due all those people who have worked so diligently to make the pageant such an immediate success. The annual exhibition of school work will take place on Wednesday, June fourteenth, during the afternoon and evening. Flag day exercises will take place on the same day. The evening of Friday the sixteenth has been set aside for graduating exercises.

The annual school picnic was held on Friday of last week and was a great success. After the picnic luncheon the seventh grade pupils gave pantomime scenes from "As You Like It" and the eighth grade pupils gave the court scene from "The Merchant of Venice," in the ravine amphitheatre.
