Red tape continues to be the most costly of all known commodities.

This is an age of economy and efficiency and the sooner public officials find it out the better.

America's experience with embargo has been disastrous. America ought to profit by experience.

Rumor has it that William Jennings Bryan will be the Democratic candidate for President in 1920 on a "dry" platform and also that T. R. hat will be in the Republican ring. This year 1920 apparently is going to be a great year for has-beens.

Speaking of the rise and fall of dynasties, consider the egg kings.

Slowly the great Standard Oil group is disintegrating, but the corporation goes marching on.

Isn't it time, also, to put an embargo on the embargo bills?

Villa is still as villainous as ever.

If you can't buy her diamonds buy her beefsteak.

The Army and Navy seem to be having almost as much trouble securing recruits as the factories and mills are.

What the Congressional Record needs is to cut out the comic section and give us more sports.

Mark Twain on Advertising
Mark Twain believed in advertising, as is proved by the following extract from an after-dinner speech which he once made, says Advertising Age.

"When I was editing the Virginia City Enterprise, writing copy one day and minding the next, I tried in many ways to drive home the fact that advertising pays. One day I received a letter from a subscriber that he had found a spider pressed between the pages of his paper. He wanted to know whether this signified good or bad luck. I replied to him in our 'Answers to Correspondents' column as follows:

"Old Subscriber—The finding of the spider in your copy of the Enterprise was neither good luck nor bad. The spider was merely looking over our pages to find out what merchant was not advertising in them, so he could spin his web across his door and lead a free and undisturbed existence forever after."
