The evening meeting of the Highland Park Women's Club was an eventful one in the club calendar both in the way of attendance and enjoyment of the program and the social hour following.

Mr. George Jones accompanied by Mrs. Jones, always appreciated by Highland Park audiences, were once again welcomed enthusiastically. Mary Agnes Best of New York City anecdoted of the lives of the poorer and more unfortunate among whom she has worked, told true stories humorously and with great realism and giving each listener much food for thought in the crude pictures portrayed.

The chairmen in charge of the social hour were, Mesdames Henry W. Boyd, C. F. Drake, Gerald Peck, and Carleton Vail. Mesdames Roger Vail, Morton R. Mavor, poured assisted by Mesdames Paul Chapman, Frederick Golden, F. S. Monro, Ralph R. Perrine, E. E. Pratt, G. G. Taylor, James Duffy, Elouzo Tyner, P. E. Marsh, H. B. Roberts, James Watson, R. A.
