Entered as second-class matter March 1, 1911, at the post office at Highland Park, Illinois, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1917

Friends of local option and dry territory in Highland Park are interested in the anti-rum bill for the whole State of Illinois now before the State senate in the form of Senate Bill No. 52, which is identical with House Bill No. 73. With the passage of these bills we may expect our State to fall in line with Indiana and many other States that are fast going into the dry column. It requires only thirty-six States to write prohibition into our federal constitution. The Highland Park Press joins with the many friends of this bill and cause, in hoping that our present legislature will favor this bill and enable the people to express themselves at the polls, as the bill provides. If there ever was a measure which should be passed upon by the people of the State, this is one. Both our personal liberty friends and the supporters of prohibition should be willing to see this test of popular opinion applied. Let the people speak on the question!

Mr. Delmar Clow, who underwent a slight operation at the Jefferson Park hospital, Chicago, on Monday is getting along nicely.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

By the Students

Garrick Club met on Friday, February 9, in the English club room. A patriotic program was rendered. In an extemporaneous address Hamilton Quayle compared the stirring events of 1861-65 under our martyr president with those through which our country is now passing. In closing, Helen Welsh read in her clear, impressive voice that great story of Lincoln by Mary E. Shipman Andrews—"The Perfect Tribute."

The try-outs for the dual debate with Waukegan will take place Friday, February 17, in the assembly room. Each contestant is to deliver a three-minute speech on the debate subject: "Resolved, That the United States should establish and maintain some system of ship subsidy for the protection and enlargements of our merchant marine." There are sixteen contestants from which eight are to be chosen; the interest is high, and the young people are working all spare time among the dusty toms of old congressional records and reports.

Junior Forum held an election of officers last week. The result was as follows:

James Stevens, president.
Winifred Wadsworth, vice-president.
Dorothy Laing, secretary and treasurer.

Herman Vander Dusen and Esther Dean, sergeants-at-arms.

The next regular meeting will be held in the English club room today at two forty-five. The subject for debate is a descent to the ridiculous—no dry readers' guides or congressional records this time. It is Mark Twain and Ring Lardner, who are being consulted for proof authorities of the weighty problem; Resolved, That the hat pin is a more formidable weapon than a gun.

From eleven to twelve o'clock on Friday morning the students and teachers of Deerfield-Shields had the pleasure of having an instructor and four of the students from the Tuskegee school for negroes in Tuskegee, Alabama, as their guests. The quartet gave an exceedingly interesting program made up of old negro folk songs and plantation melodies, both humorous and religious.

Following the program the instructor told briefly of Booker T. Washington's work among the Negroes of the South, and of the plans and work of the institution in Tuskegee. A collection for the benefit of Tuskegee was taken at the close of his talk. The entire program was well rendered and greatly enjoyed and appreciated by all who heard it.

The night school classes of 1915-1916 have presented to Deerfield-Shields a series of pictures by John W. Alexander, the originals of which are murals in the library of congress.

These pictures, appropriately hung in the library of the school, illustrate the "Evolution of the Book," showing the way records have been kept from the earliest times down to the invention of the printing press. The titles of the pictures are: 1. "Men of the Stone Age Recording Events by Means of Piles of Stones." 2. "The Story Teller of the Tribe." 3. "Cutting Hieroglyphics on Stone." 4. "Records Made on Skins of Animals." 5. "Monks of the Middle Ages Illuminating Manuscripts." 6. "The First Printing Press."

Through the courtesy of Mrs. Holbrook, a fine etching of Shakespeare has been procured by the school from the Allied Bazaar.

After lunch on Monday, Lincoln's birthday, the two military companies gave a parade in the boys' gymnasium and were inspected by Major Grote of Fort Sheridan. The major gave a short address after which Mr. Sandwick added a few words. Following this there was a track meet which was won by Company A. At two-thirty Miss Jessie Harding of Chicago gave a reading of Dr. Hale's "A Man Without a Country," accompanied by Miss Priscilla Carver at the piano. The Elm Place, Lincoln and Ravinia schools were invited to hear this very pleasant program. Everyone felt that he had heard something worth while. Dancing in the girls' gymnasium completed the program.

The school basketball fives met the Chicago Heights tossers Saturday of last week on the home floor, and broke even on a double bill. The local heavyweights, in the major portion of the program, clearly outplayed the visitors, and after the first few minutes had little trouble in rolling up points. The count was 25-12, Carlson and Cowie dividing honors in the scoring column.

The lightweight game was fiercely contested, Chicago Heights winning by a scant margin of two points. The home lightweights had possession of the ball most of the time but were unable to get clear chances at the ring. The visitors' points were made from mid-floor by long, rather wild shooting. The score was 16-14.

On Friday LaGrange needs her two teams here to meet our boys.
