HIGH SCHOOL NOTES
By the Students

On Friday of last week the Deerfield-Shields basketball teams met LaGrange in the local gym. Although the visitors were late in arriving the fans who waited for them were doubly repaid for their trouble. The school lightweights had little difficulty with their opponents and scored almost at will. The score was 29-8.

The girls' interclass basketball games are in progress. The Juniors won the game from the Seniors and the Freshmen-Sophomores game was won by the Sophomores. On Wednesday of this week the Juniors will play the Freshmen.

Because of Washington's birthday, there will be no school on Thursday of this week. School will be in session as usual on Friday. The night school classes met on Wednesday night instead of on Thursday.

Tryouts are now in progress for the Senior play, Percy McKaye's "A Thousand Years Ago."

A fine copy of Rembrandt's "The Student" has been presented by the Evening High School Classes of 1915-1916, and now hangs on the front wall of the Assembly Room.

As a part of a general "Better Speech Campaign" a poster has appeared on the general bulletin board in the main corridor of Shields Hall. On this, from week to week, words commonly mispronounced will be listed—usually one at a time—and students throughout the school will be asked to watch their use of those particular words. In this way, it is hoped that "becur" and some of its unworthy fellows may disappear from the student vocabulary.

During the fourth period on Monday, Feb. 19, a student program was given in general assembly. The first number was two movements from a "Beethoven Sonata" by Katherine Card. Adeline Mitchell then read two selections, "The Little Tin Soldier" and "Olga Olson at the Photographer's." Florence McGrath sang two songs, and then Miss Southwick, the Public Speaking teacher, gave two selections in Italian dialect. Maybelle Bolan and Charlotte Reese sang two duets, and Ellsworth Sheridan and Walter Wheeler played a cornet duet, accompanied by Lucy Spiedel at the piano. It is hoped that many of these student programs may be given at various times throughout the year.

In preparation for the debate with Waukegan, try-outs were held in General Assembly, Monday. The question: "Resolved, that the United States should have some system of ship subsidy for the establishment and betterment of its merchant marine" was debated very well by thirteen students. Eight were chosen to take part in the coming battle with Waukegan. They are: Hamilton Quayle, Bowen Schumacher, Rachel Hecketaweller, Charles Beckwith, Helen Welch and Frances Buell. The first four will argue on the negative and the others on the affirmative, although some changes may be made. Ellen Knox and Ruth Gloss were chosen alternates. We are all hoping for the great victory over our opponents.

Plans are being made for the Annual Church Dinner of the church and congregation of April 2nd. This is one of the interesting events of the church life.
