LAKE COUNTY AND NEARBY NEWS NOTES

ENLARGE NAVAL STATION?

"Cash and Carry" Plan Welcomed In Winnetka. Waukegan Druggists to Abandon Sale of Liquors

To Enclose Naval Station
More buildings to accommodate the recruits who are pouring into the Great Lakes Naval Training Station at Great Lakes!

More buildings to make the station the largest and best in the country!

These appeals may be made to obtain from congress an appropriation sufficient to build up the training station to a point where all recruits from the west and middle west, in the policy for a greater navy, can find ample accommodations for living and training.

"We have now 2,300 men, and our accommodations are for only 1,500", Commander W. A. Moffett, commandant, said today.

"We sent 180 east to ships a few days ago, and 400 went to the inauguration and then to sea, but new men are coming in at the rate of forty a day. As soon as the weather permits I expect to have to put 1,000 men in tents."

Cash and Carry Plan
Winnetka Housewives received the new plan of doing business, inaugurated by the Progressive grocery with open arms. The "Cash and Carry" idea has been greeted with universal approval and satisfaction. The progressive people did more business Thursday and Friday (with a half day for business Thursday) than they have done in any three days previous. The Progressive grocery is rightly named and the proprietors are as progressive as the name indicates.—Winnetka Talk.

Waukegan Druggists
Waukegan druggists, it is said, plan to eliminate every drop of alcohol from their places of business—this will include even grain alcohol which is used almost exclusively for medicinal purposes. This action, it is said, is prompted by the activity of the December grand jury in returning indictments against several druggists in Lake county.

This idea is not altogether a new one. F. W. Schumacher, one of our local druggists, informs us that he has not had a drop of any kind of liquor in his store for over a year.

Typhoid in Waukegan
Six weeks ago W. J. Allen, superintendent of the Waukegan pumping station, through the columns of The Daily Sun, advised Waukeganites to discontinue the use of lake water for drinking purposes.

RULES FOR THE USE OF OUR FLAG

In these critical days there has come a distinct revival of sentiment towards the flag. Therefore, we believe, it is most appropriate to print the following rules for its proper use. The Press will print a large number of these rules on plain white paper and will furnish them FREE OF CHARGE to all who desire them.

The American Flag

Illinois Flag Law

Be it enacted that any person who for exhibition or display shall place any word, figure, mark, picture, design, drawing or any advertisement of any nature upon any flag or ensign of the United States or state flag of this state—or shall expose to public view a flag to which shall be attached, appended, affixed or annexed any word, figure, mark, picture, design or drawing or any advertising of any nature—or shall expose to view or manufacture, sell, give away, an article or articles for transporting merchandise on which shall have been printed, painted, or attached, a representation of any such flag or ensign—to advertise, call attention to, decorate, mark or distinguish the article—or shall publicly mutilate, deface, defile or defile, trample upon or cast contempt upon any such flag or ensign by word or act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both.

The American Flag

The American flag is the symbol of the brotherhood of man—it stands for courage, for chivalry, for generosity, and honor. To bear the Star Spangled Banner is an honor, to own one a sacred trust, for it is an emblem of freedom, equality and justice for all.

In its general form, adopted June 14, 1777, our flag is older than any of those of Europe, except Denmark, which has been in use since 1219.

The flag is composed of thirteen stripes, alternated red and white—standing for the thirteen original colonies, and a field of blue with forty-eight stars, one for each state in the union.

In the language of the flag, red stands for courage, white for purity and blue for fidelity and truth.

The church flag of the navy, a blue cross on a white field, is the only flag that ever flies above the Stars and Stripes and then only during divine service.

The president, as commander-in-chief of the army and navy, has his special flag, the coat of arms of the United States, on a blue field, with thirteen stars in the form of a star in a circular field above the eagle.

When the national or state or other flags fly together, the national flag should be placed at the right.

Etiquette of the Flag

The American flag should not be hoisted before sunrise, nor be allowed to remain up after sunset.

At "retreat" sunset, civilian spectators should stand at attention and uncover during the playing of the "Star Spangled Banner." During the hymn the flag should be lowered, but should not be allowed to touch the ground.

When the national colors are passing on parade, or in review, the spectators should, if walking, halt, and, if sitting, arise and stand at attention and uncover.

When the flag is flown at half staff as a sign of mourning, it should be hoisted to full staff at the conclusion of the funeral. In placing the flag at half staff, it should first be hoisted to the top of the staff, and then be lowered to position; and, preliminary to lowering from half staff, it should first be raised to the top. On Memorial day, May 30, the flag should fly from half staff from sunrise till noon, and full staff from noon till sunset.

When a flag is displayed on a rope, care should be taken to have the field in the proper position—away from the residence of the one displaying the flag, in the same position as it would be if attached to a staff.

When a flag is used as a banner over a street, the field should fly to the north in streets running east and west, and to the east on streets running north and south.

Decorations

When the American flag is used out of doors, it should always be allowed to fly in the breeze, and, whenever possible, from a staff or mast, but should not be fastened to the side of a building, platform, or scaffolding. It should not be used as a cover over a table, desk or box, or where anything can be placed upon the flag.

When clusters and drapings of colors are desired, bunting or cloth should be used, but never the flag.

When flags are used in unveiling a statue or monument, they should not be allowed to fall to the ground, but should be carried aloft to wave out, forming a distinctive feature during the rest of the ceremony.

For indoor decorations, the flag may be caught up in many artistic fashions, and used with bunting, flowers, garlands, plants, etc., but should never be placed below a person sitting.

PHILLIP GOLDBERG INDICTED FOR PERJURY

MAY UNDERGO OPERATION

Makes Affidavit of Being in Hospital on March 2. Does not Arrive There Until March Fifth

Because Phillip Goldberg, who is charged with scores of illegal liquor sales, was said to be facing an operation in the Fort Dearborn hospital, Chicago, the case, which was first on the call for Monday morning in circuit court, was not started.

Counsel for Goldberg appeared before Judge Edwards and filed an affidavit in which he set forth that his client is ill in the Chicago hospital, facing an operation. He asked that the case be continued. The state's attorney apparently was a little skeptical for he requested the court to appoint County Physician A. E. Brown to go to Chicago and investigate Goldberg's condition and find just how serious it is. The court acquiesced and Mr. Brown was requested to submit his report Tuesday morning at nine o'clock.

The county physician took the noon train to Chicago and proceeded immediately to the Fort Dearborn hospital, where the affidavit stated that Goldberg had been confined since March 2.

According to the story given to The Press this morning by Dr. Brown, he arrived at the hospital at 1:30 p. m. and asked the telephone nurse if there was a patient there by the name of Goldberg.

"Just came in!" Dr. Brown exclaimed not failing to show his surprise. "Please take me to his room at once."

Goldberg had been assigned to a room on the second floor. Dr. Brown was conducted there a few moments later. Goldberg did not recognize him and quite naturally thought he was connected with the hospital.

"How long have you been sick," Dr. Brown asked.

"About a week," was the reply.

"Where have you been during the last week," the physician continued.

"I've been living with my sister," Goldberg replied, despite the fact that he had said in his affidavit that he had been at hospital since last Friday.

Dr. Brown then proceeded to examine Goldberg. His temperature was normal, but his pulse was rapid, due to his hurrying. Upon careful examination Dr. Brown found an indication of chronic appendicitis, but nothing which in his opinion indicated that an immediate operation was necessary as a life-saving measure.

Dr. Brown was called before the grand jury yesterday and told his story in full. At the request of the State's attorney the grand jury voted to return perjury indictments against both Dr. King and Goldberg. The former being the physician who signed the affidavit.

Although Dr. Brown found there was no necessity, so far as he could see, for an immediate operation, he expressed the opinion that it would not surprise him if Dr. King really would operate on Goldberg, in an effort, if possible, to offset the perjury prosecution, which in the case of Goldberg, is more serious than that of the charge of selling liquor illegally, as a conviction for perjury is punishable by a term in the state penitentiary.

Such an operation, it is said, would avail nothing, as both the physician and Goldberg had sworn that he had been in the hospital since March 2, which was not the case.
