A large number of Exmoor members gathered at the club on Saturday evening for the usual week end dinner dance. Among these entertaining at dinner parties were Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Thursday is always a big day for the ladies at Exmoor. In the morning they play golf on the greens, and at one o'clock luncheon is served. In the afternoon they rest and enjoy a quiet time at the club. But they are not idle, no indeed—the times are too busy for anyone to be idle, and Exmoor ladies see their duty and they do it. They spend this Thursday afternoon each week in Red Cross Work, in Navy League industry and plying their needles, rapidly turn out all sorts of woolly, knitted goods, for our boys in khaki and blue fannel. Among those who entertained at luncheon on Thursday last, were, Mrs. E. S. Cummings, Mrs. Kenneth MacKenzie, Mrs. E. Page, Mrs. Smitaler, Mrs. A. W. Jerrens, and Mrs. Gheraty.

Mr. Selbold is now at Fort Sheridan at the officers' training camp. Miss Benson is known by some of the young people here, having attended the high school here.

The Philathea class of the United Evangelical church met on Tuesday evening with Mrs. Walter Meierhoff.

Little Moyna MacKenzie, although she has just reached her third birthday has entered the social world nevertheless. On Saturday afternoon to celebrate her third birthday she entertained twelve of her little friends at a party. The tiny guests carried away pretty favors as souvenirs of this delightful occasion.

George Hamlin, the distinguished tenor of the Chicago Opera Company, visited Ravinia Park last Sunday and was greeted by a host of singers, musicians and society folk. On Tuesday afternoon the Garden Club of Highland Park will participate in an enjoyable afternoon. The members will meet at Mrs. Carleton Moseley's home at 2:30, and after enjoying the unique setting of Mrs. Moseley's garden will visit several other gardens of interest, ending the afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ruffner. Every garden, however small has points of interest; flowers are only the accompaniment of an interesting garden. The general layout and plan offers the greatest interest to a true garden lover.

The Telephone Operator Rarely Knows Who Called Your Number

PERHAPS today, in response to a ring of your telephone bell, you were answered by an operator saying, "Number, please?" and you were surprised to find no one calling you. It is probable that the person who originated the call hung up his receiver before you answered, either because he remembered that yours was not the number he wanted, or because you may have been a bit slow in answering and he did not care to wait.

In such a case the calling person's line, as well as yours, would be disconnected by the operator who originally received the call, and it is most likely that, when you responded, you were answered by a different operator, who had no knowledge of the call, and who courteously asked you to excuse it.
