ADDITIONAL DEERFIELD Continued from Page 2 printed. Of the girl policemen, conductors, drivers, Hyde Park orators, and workers in munition factories interesting details were given. In this biggest tragedy in the history of the world, Great Britain had in the first year of the war, 2600 privates killed and 7600 privates wounded. The supply of dressings must equal the number of soldiers. Every woman is a unit in the work of relief. No sobbing women are wanted in the hospitals, but those who cannot bear the sight of suffering may work in the army canteens giving cheer and comfort to soldiers. Many a bar of chocolate has saved a soldier's life. The women were urged to make a purpose in life; most people live without purpose. The association voted to give $25 to the Red Cross from the funds in the treasury, $25 to the Jolly Tar, a club located at 617 Marion Street in Waukegan on a bluff overlooking the lake, an old homestead in 4 acres of wooded ground which is being furnished by the Illinois Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations and $50 toward the fund for the decoration of the hall and corridors. Mrs. Supple made a plea for economy. Deerfield Presbyterian Church "The Best People in Deerfield" text "Who is the Greater in the Kingdom of Heaven" was the subject of the morning sermon in the Deerfield Presbyterian Church. Paul Stephen's Children's sermon text was "Polishing Diamonds". The third year intermediate boys made $7.50 at their ice cream social at the Community House Saturday evening to be applied toward the support of Mr. Bletach's missionary. The social was arranged and carried thru in an excellent manner. The Christian Endeavor Society held a chain meeting Sunday evening. "The great essential to the best people in Deerfield" is the subject for next Sunday morning's sermon.

GUARD THE REFRIGERATOR. If Not Kept Clean it is a Menace to the Health of the Family. One of the most important articles of household equipment is the unassuming and it is to be feared, often neglected icebox. There is no greater menace to the health of the family than a refrigerator which does not refrigerate or one which it is impossible to keep in a perfect sanitary condition. The least important thing about a refrigerator is its outside appearance. While the expensive porcelain and enamel ones are pleasant to own, a less expensive hardwood one with a smooth, plain surface is just as satisfactory and easy to clean. Coolness, cleanliness and convenience are the three "c's" that are absolutely essential to the construction of a refrigerator. Always wash the ice before putting it into its compartment, otherwise the straws and dust may clog up the drain pipe. The floors and shelves of the refrigerator should be washed every day with a solution of soda, and at least once a week the refrigerator should be thoroughly cleaned. Use a solution of soda and water to clean out the drain pipe and pan. Then scald them out thoroughly with boiling water.—New York Telegram.

STRENGTH OF WOOD. The Pressure It Took to Break a Beam of Douglas Fir. A piece of Douglas fir, 16 feet long and 16 by 8 inches in cross section, stood a pressure of 88,400 pounds before breaking at the test conducted in the engineering laboratory of the University of Washington by C. W. Zimmermann of the United States forest service. The experiment was a demonstration of the standard used by the forest service in testing bridge spans. The beam was held by a fifteen foot support, and the load was concentrated at two points five feet from each end of the beam. As pressure was applied the beam continued to bend until the point of maximum deflection was reached. Measurements were then taken, and it was found that the beam had bent 2.85 inches under the pressure of 80,000 pounds. This occurred two minutes after the test started. Eight minutes later, after 38,400 pounds of additional weight had been added, the beam broke. During this time there was no further deflection of the piece. Mr. Zimmermann explained that the small fibers of the wood were continually giving way under the pressure, and at the end of eight minutes the beam, sufficiently weakened, snapped suddenly.

Aluminum Pots and Pans. Scraping aluminum cooking utensils must always be done with a wooden spoon, since aluminum is soft and scratches easily. Strong alkalis are not available because they attack and dissolve the metal. Only mild soaps must be used. How, then, can that horrid discoloration be removed? It is very simply done. Take a piece of rubarb, either fresh or canned, cut it into small pieces and boil the pieces in the discolored kettle until it is clean. The acid of the rubarb will remove the discoloration without in any way injuring the metal. Of course the rubarb used for the purpose must be thrown away afterward. When a vessel has been cleaned in this way it will need a little rubbing up to secure a bright metallic surface.—Popular Science Monthly. John Milton's Cottage. One of the best preserved historic country houses in all England is John Milton's cottage at Chalfont St. Giles, to which the blind and aging poet fled when the great plague swooped down on London. That was in July, 1665, and Milton had just finished "Paradise Lost" and received a five pound note for it, with a promise of three more five pound notes if the poem sold four editions of 1,000 copies each. The cottage stands at the top of the village, and it is in practically the same condition as when Milton left it. Here the poet received his guests during the latter part of his life.

Underwater Navigation. According to all accounts, the hardships of underwater navigation are extreme and very exhausting to the nerves. The air is oppressive and so damp, owing to "sweeting," that the interior has to be lined with cork or other absorbing substances. An overpowering tendency to sleep seizes upon the men, and the confinement and constant anxiety are terribly wearing.—New York Journal.

Conscious Virtue. Conscious virtue is the only foundation of all happiness, for riches, power, rank or whatever, in the common acceptance of the world, is supposed to constitute happiness, will never quiet, much less cure, the inward pang of guilt.—Lord Chesterfield.

Brigandine. The word brigandine is used in Jeremiah xlii, 4, to signify a coat of mail. Milton says, "Then put on all thy gorgeous arms, thy helmet and brigandine of brass." A Left Handed Compliment. He—A handsome woman smiled at me yesterday. She—Well, it is possible for even a handsome woman to have a sense of the ridiculous. The Steelyard. The steelyard, a simple weighing device that is still in vogue, was used by the Romans in 315 B. C.
