HOW TO BUILD A TEMPORARY SILO

WOULD BE BOON TO RENTER

Because of Big Demand for Food Storing Facilities, Farmers May Make Use of Information Given Below

There are times on the farm when a cheap means of feed storage is often desired yet we are not always familiar with the best methods of securing the same. The frost of last week killed approximately 50 per cent of the corn in Lake County. This frosted corn can be taken care of in the best manner only by placing it in the silo. About 40 per cent of the corn plant is lost when we feed it as stover. If frosted corn can't be cut and placed in a silo at once a large quantity of water is necessary at filling in order that the material may be packed well. Dry feed placed in the silo is sure to be destroyed by white mold. So to insure good silage from dry fodder or frosted corn our better farmers always use a large quantity of water to wet such feed at filling and for several days after water is pumped into the silo at all in packing, curing and prevention of mold. Because of the big demand for silos this year, many of the silo firms were unable to fill all orders for summer and fall delivery. For temporary use, a cheap silo may be constructed from ordinary flooring or 2x6 material that has been tongued and grooved. A silo of this type is a boon to the renter whose landlord is not in harmony with the best methods of feeding and refuses to add a permanent silo to his farm equipment.

Bill of material for flooring silo. (Diameter 14 feet), 160 pieces of four inch flooring, No. 1 costs about $40 per M. If a silo 30 feet high is built an equal amount of both 12 and 14 feet flooring should be secured. 2 x 6 posts for doorway. Length depending on the height of the silo. 1 cross arm for door, 1/4 in. rod, 3/8 in. long. Cross arms for door should be about 3 feet apart. Eye bolts, 1/2 in. by 12 in. Two for each hoop of the silo. Wire cable for hoops each 43 feet long. Hoops should be about 18 in. apart at the bottom and gradually increase the distance apart to 3 feet near the top of the silo. 3-8 inch cable may be bought ready made for about 7c per foot or made by twisting together several strands of number 9 wire. If the cable must be cut the desired number of lengths of wire, attach one end of the strands to a plow, building or such and the other ends to the side of a wagon wheel, jack up the wagon wheel, give it a few turns and the cable is made. A silo of this type is set directly on the ground with no foundation. But little feed is lost because of this. A permanent frame is often erected for support. The material for this is as follows: 4 2x8 14 feet long, 8 2x4 14 feet long, 4 1x12 14 feet long, 2 1x12 16 feet long, 4 ordinary fence posts. A silo of this type may be seen on the farm of L. G. Hutchings of Prairie View, or the writer would be glad to furnish more detailed plans for erecting a similar one. Two men can erect one of these silos in about one day. The cost will vary around $100.00.

The ladies who are working on the bazaar to be held in November are all assembling their different committees. Mrs. Henry E. Mason has on hand samples of delightful Christmas cards. These samples can be seen at her house, 301 Central Ave., by appointment. Mrs. Mason and her committee suggest that people who wish to send personal greeting cards to friends at the coming Yuletide season, see these cards and leave orders for them. By doing so now one can avoid the danger of "coming too late" and enjoying the feeling of shopping early.

Help for the Boys in the Camp

If you want to help win the war, you can do it by helping the government keep up the morale—as well as the morals—of the boys in the camps and cantonments scattered all over the country. You can help in furnishing them with reading material as suggested in the appeal printed on page one of this issue.

Give the boys good books in good condition and write in each volume your name and address, so that each soldier who reads it will know he has a friend in this town.

DO IT TODAY! Give them the latest and best of your magazines and periodicals. It will cheer up the fellow who reads them in camp to know there is somebody back here who is thinking of his needs.

Read the detailed directions and act on them!

DO IT TODAY! "Come on Over!" Says General Pershing

The Americans in France want company. They are calling to the men at home, "Come on over." They want men around them who "speak their own language." Gen. John J. Pershing, in command of the Expeditionary Force, has voiced the call of the men who have gone; to the men getting ready to go. Through Col. James Martin a French army officer now in America, he has sent the following message to the men in training and those about to join the colors: "Come on over and join us soon. We want our countrymen about us and Old Glory on every side. The real training for the trenches is on this side of the water."

And the boys going to the training camps are chalking up on sides of the cars that carry them the answers to the message: "BERLIN OR BUST!"

Care for Soldiers and Dependents
 America is going to take care of her soldiers who go abroad, and those they leave behind. Henry M. Hyde, writing in the Chicago Tribune of what has been and will be done, says: "The soldier of the United States will be the best paid in the world: his family and dependent relatives will be provided for by government with a generous recognition of the obligation under which he has placed the republic. He will be insured, if he wishes, at a price much lower than any obtainable in times of peace.

Meanwhile, through semi-public and private agencies and in different parts of the country many other plans are being worked out which will further demonstrate how highly the people of the United States appreciate the valor and the patriotic spirit of the men chosen to represent the nation in the world fight for freedom and democracy.

In all parts of the country regimental auxiliary associations are being formed. Their members are members of the families of officers and men and their friends—each regiment, as it is organized, having its own auxiliary. These organizations are not only taking it upon themselves to see that the boys at the front do not lack for anything which will improve their efficiency or happiness, but also that their dependent families, left behind, are well looked after.

The idea is that there shall be a regimental headquarters here at home as well as on the battle front. Wives and other relatives left behind will be able to find their advice and help of all kinds when that proves necessary, so that the absence of the head of the family will not leave an altogether empty gap.

So the soldier, serving abroad, will have his mind relieved from worry as to the welfare of the folks at home.

WITH THE BOWLERS

At Workman's big 287 game stood for ten days as the record game of the Majestic alleys, when Rich Turrell went one pin better for a count of 235. Rich starting with a spare, put in ten strikes in a row, and finished with an 8 count for the new mark.

These big games are accountable to the fastness of the alleys and the well seasoned select league pins, in full of life, as well as the good work of the performers in this early season form.

The league meeting date has not been set at the time of going to press but it will be the coming week or early the following week.

October will be with us soon, and the bowling season will be on in earnest, better drop in and roll a game or two and see how you have improved.

The Majestic will be all lit up soon as a new lighting scheme will be tried out. Watch for it.

Thus far nobody has started a movement for sending skulets to the boys at the front, though it would bring a sort of peaceful feeling at home to draft the skulets.
