

D ID you ever think about teaching that boy of yours to be self-reliant and provident for his future? Did you ever think what a help it would have been to you if your parents had started you early with a bank account? Early training in the care of his own funds will equip him better to succeed in life than the gift of a fortune at maturity.

ELM PLACE SCHOOL

The following letter from a former pupil of Elm Place School shows such a fine spirit of acceptance of pioneer conditions as they still exist in the far west that it has been sent in for publication.

Bar Three Ranch, Sageville, Mont.
I am sending you a piece of petrified wood that was found up in the woods about five miles from here. Sometimes little twigs or branches can be found but we couldn't find any this time. What are those little spots on it that look like rust? Have you ever seen any Montana blue clay? I will put in a piece of it in case you haven't.

Will you please excuse my writing for I haven't been to school since I left Highland Park. Miss Shaw was my teacher for 6A and she was the nicest all around teacher I ever had. Montana is a grand place. Big and lonesome, but Oh so nice! You can look off over the hills (millions of them) and see nothing but sage. Not a tree or not a house.

We're having a small water famine here this summer. Some people are hauling water by the barrel from the Mussel Shell River, ten miles away. It is considered nothing to get on a saddle horse or drive your horse a mile or more three times a day. We are very lucky for we only go a mile and a half away.

The only thing we miss in the fruit but we are all healthy and happy. We live twenty seven miles from Sumatra, a little, little town, one church three groceries and one bank. And the road is long in there, too. We get our mail about a mile and a half away at the nearest neighbors. Have you ever been out here in the West and smelled the sage after a rain? It's the best thing you can ever smell. This is a poor crop year out here. Nobody raised enough grain to keep them through the winter. I got this knot (referring to the specimen) instead of just a plain piece. What is the process by which this wood is shined so you can see the grain of the wood? I hope you can use this wood.

From a friend,

The teachers of the Elm Place school will spend tomorrow as a visiting day. Some are going to the Cleveland School in Chicago of which Mr. Lewis Colwell is principal, some to the Francis Parker school and the Elementary schools of Chicago.

Otherwise the work will be directed by her two assistants, Miss Pearson and Miss Crow, who will spend two afternoons a week in the school. Miss Lamkin is also supervisor of physical instruction in the Evanston schools.

The Elm Place grammar school team won their first football game from Lake Forest, Monday the 15th, by a score of 18 to 13. Lake Forest got two touch downs in the first quarter. After that the local boys held and managed to push over the touchdowns, the last coming in the final period. Charles Steward starred for Lake Forest by making the two touchdowns from runs of sixty and fifty yards each. He also kicked one goal. George Rudolph starred for the locals, he making the three touchdowns.

Y. W. C. A. NEWS

The Girls Congress under the auspices of the Patriotic Leagues of the North Shore which was held at the Association Headquarters, Saturday, October 13th, was a success. From every standpoint. Delegates were present from Waukegan, Lake Forest, Highwood and Highland Park, and each contributed something for the mutual benefit of the League.

An excellent program was carried out, under the direction of Miss Greenough of the Central Field office. Miss Annie Clements the new welfare worker along the North Shore had charge of the Devotions and Miss Elsie Rosenow furnished the instrumental music. Miss Frances Mills of Toledo, Ohio, special war worker of the National Board, Miss Platt and Miss Greenough of the Central Field in Chicago, the Misses Lucile Rader, Ethel Slaughter of Waukegan, Martha Shafer of Lake Forest and Helen McQuillan of Highwood, represented the outside workers and brought a great deal of enthusiasm to the meeting.

A delicious chicken dinner was served to about forty delegates in the association headquarters at 6 p. m. The evening meeting was held in the Elm Place auditorium. Mrs. W. A. Alexander presided and called on Miss Greenough, who explained the mission of the Patriotic League and its place in today's affairs.

The address of the evening was given by Miss Harriet Vittum who gave a stirring patriotic, inspiring message to the girls and women of our country on the new features evolved as the war drags on its weary way. The subtraction of man power from normal life creates a new demand for woman's labor and we as a nation should profit by the experience of others and prepare for this demand. Every body of men of military or economic, creates a demand for another body of workers paid or volunteer at some base in the rear. It is in this auxiliary force that women and girls can do their share. Daily the zone of war spreads and covers more entirely each department of life.

Side by side with this insistent call to save and economize to win the war, comes the imperative summons to look beyond the war and prepare for peace. The tremendous sacrifices demanded by war have turned the thought of many toward the claim made by the state upon its citizens. In these days of storm only a foundation of rock will stand and it behooves every woman to stand firm and high and patient to the end.
