SECOND HEAVY SNOW STORM BURIES CITY

the station at any time, and could have answered a fire call on a minute's notice. To keep the men real interested the acting chief, William Cummings, served his men with coffee and sandwiches. Mr. Frank Siljstrom loaned his best team of horses and one of his men, and for the past ten days this valuable equipment of his has been available for the city's use for the clearing of streets or the fire department. Mr. Siljstrom's public spirited act is very much appreciated by the officials and the citizens.

Aside from this work the men of the department have visited every fire hydrant in town, cleared the snow from them so that they might be readily accessible in case of fire. The water supply and coal supply is sufficient to meet the present need and citizens need feel no anxiety in this direction. The coal supply at the water works is estimated to last up to May first.

It is hoped that due credit will be given to those who have worked untiringly to relieve the distressing conditions caused by the recent storms. May each citizen help the city officials to do what is expected of them.

Train service on the Northwestern Railroad began to be unsatisfactory on Friday evening. Opera goers were stalled on trains in Glencoe, Wilmette and Winnetka, some arriving home in the "wee hours" Saturday. There was no train service until Monday morning. The Chicago North Shore and Milwaukee electric trains ran regularly as usual. All commuters were unable to get into their offices in the city Saturday, but instead kept busy at home shovelling snow and keeping the waterpipes from freezing. One man said that Saturday was the first time in twelve years that he was unable to get to his office down town.

Unfortunately for the school children the storm came on Saturday, so that it did not interfere with their going to school. They would have ordered it for some school day, had they had their way. Several of the local churches did not hold services on Sunday.

Today the Highland Park Business Men's Association has turned out in a body to help remove the snow.

The second blizzard was by far a more severe storm as it was accompanied by severe cold, the temperature dropping to 10 degrees below zero on Saturday, and rising slowly during the past few days. The snow of the first storm was not cleared away before the second storm swept over this part of the country, and added to the snow which fell during the second storm, it was very difficult to remove.

STORM DIDN'T HALT NORTH SHORE ELECTRIC

The storm put all the railroads to the test and the North Shore Electric line was the only one which was able to meet it and make good. It has earned for itself the title of the "Old Reliable."

The men who operate the electric cars, as well as the officials who direct their operation, deserve the thanks of the residents of the communities which they serve. In spite of great snowdrifts, in places more than six feet in depth, the electric cars kept pushing their way thru and if schedules were disarranged for a time, the people were given a service which under the circumstances was nothing short of remarkable.

Between Evanston and Waukegan a half-hourly service was maintained. It required a small army of men to keep the tracks clear to permit of such service, but the men went at their work with a will, resolved to make a record and maintain the reputation for reliability which the electric line is making for itself.

The record made in this storm by the North Shore line is all the more remarkable because of the extra strain which the road was called upon to meet. Hundreds of residents of the towns and villages along the north shore, who ordinarily are in the habit of travelling to Chicago and Waukegan on the steam railroads, were forced to fall back on the electric line. The electric line not only had to take care of its regular patronage but of an excess traffic, diverted from the steam roads, which would have been a pretty severe test even in good weather, the fact that the line was able to handle this extra business at a time when the man power, as well as the electrical power and equipment were being taxed to the utmost, constitutes a remarkable achievement in railroad operation.

At the south end of the line, where connection is made with the Northwestern Elevated road, little difficulty was experienced. The elevated proved a blessing to hundreds who had business in Chicago and who otherwise would have been stormbound in their homes.

ERS PAPERS IN SPITE OF SNOW STORM
 According to Harry Lauder "it's lie in bed on Sunday morning at readers of Sunday news- will agree that 'it's also nice one's Sunday paper delivered door on Sunday morning."

ing to the great snow storm on ay, newspaper delivery was ble in Highland Park, and ngly all those who had any at all went to the newsstands.

so in Highland, our esteemed or on the north. Mr. R. D. the news agent of that city, ed every paper as usual. Of it kept him busy all day, but ning he had delivered papers his customers not only in ood but at Fort Sheridan as Moreover it is rumored that the only news agent along h Shore who was able to y such service.

a good thing for Highland at many of her citizens had e to the newsstand for their however, for as they trudged ay through the drifts, they pressed with the fact that w must be shoveled, and ntly they "fell in" and dur- ames out of the snow.

Y. M. C. A. WAR FUND PAYING BIG DIVIDENDS
 Thousands of Enlisted Men Find Comfort and Entertainment in the Cozy Huts Provided

Contributions made by residents of Highland Park to the $53,000,000 national war fund of the Y. M. C. A. are already paying big dividends in the lives of boys from this community who are undergoing military training at Camp Grant, Great Lakes and the Belleville and Rantoul flying fields, according to the advices received here this week. The cold weather has driven thousands of enlisted men inside the Y. M. C. A. huts for their amusements, games and letter-writing. The cozy interiors of these buildings, the cheery open fire-places, the phonographs and pianos, books and magazines form a happy combination that spells "home" to the boys away from home.

Practically every family in this community has received letters from Illinois boys written on Y. M. C. A. or Red Triangle stationery which is issued without cost to every man in uniform. It is estimated at Camp Grant that approximately 700,000 letters are written each month by the boys in camp. At Great Lakes the output averages more than 215,000 letters each month. A large percentage of these represents correspondence with loved ones at home.

Entertainments, lectures, athletic contests and recreational games under Y. M. C. A. auspices serve the boys in their leisure moments and keep them from getting homesick. An effective work is being done, the report says, for the men in the hospitals. The secretaries visit them and write letters for those who are too ill to write or read to others who cannot do so for themselves. They also organize educational classes and conduct religious services for the men in the hospitals.

A new building is to be erected shortly for Y. M. C. A. work at Belleville, the cost of which is to be $7,500. Two officers' club buildings are to be erected at once for the Y. M. C. A. at Camp Grant.

MASS MEETING TO OPEN CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION

February Twelfth to Mark Beginning of Events to Honor Illinois' 100th Birthday

Informal mass meetings at which stories of Lincoln will be told, speeches on Lincoln delivered and sayings of Lincoln read, will be held in Springfield on February 12 in honor of the birthday anniversary of the Emancipator. The celebration will be a part of the observance of the centennial anniversary of the admission of Illinois into the union.

Since 1909, annual celebrations of Lincoln's birthday have been given in Springfield by the Lincoln Centennial Association. The observance has been in the form of a banquet at which the Governor, State Officers, Justices of the Supreme Court, Members of the Legislature, and other public men of the state have been guests.

The Lincoln Centennial Association, this year, decided to ask the Illinois Centennial Commission to take general charge of the celebration and the commission has accepted and agreed upon a popular observance, rather than the usual banquet.

The commission will co-operate with the association in the preparation of the programs for these meetings.

There probably will be a meeting in the afternoon and another at night, with a luncheon given by the Lincoln Centennial Association to the speakers and other prominent men attending from the state.

The Centennial Commission will take steps at once, it has been announced to secure speakers for the two meetings and to decide upon the other features of the program. A number of prominent men of national reputation are being considered for this purpose.

The celebration of Lincoln's birth will be the first event of the State Centennial Celebration at Springfield. The next event, probably will be the unveiling of the Lincoln and Douglas statues which are to be erected in the state capital grounds. This, probably will take place in April.

The unveiling of these statues will be followed in August by the State Fair and Centennial Exposition, which will be given under the joint auspices of the State Board of Agriculture and the Centennial Commission.

The big final event will be given on October 6th, when President Wilson and governors from other states are expected to be present, to attend the laying of the cornerstone of the Centennial Building and to witness the great state pageant, which will present in dramatic form one hundred years of statehood.

BUSINESS MEN PRACTICE TRENCH DIGGING TODAY

All Places of Business Closed to Assist in the Work of Removing Snow From the Streets

Members of the United States Secret Service should visit Highland Park today and take down the names of a few eligibles for trench digging. At a special meeting of the Highland Park Business Men's Association Monday evening it was decided to close their places of business all day to day (Thursday) and all its members, together with employees, get out and dig the business section out of the snow. A large number of teams and bob sleighs have been donated for the day and it is expected that a great hole will be made in the drifts before the day is over.

FIGHT THE HUN HERE, ADVISES PRESTON BRADLEY

Pilot Leonard Reno, who has been active, and let us assure you it was active service with the 103d Escadrille, known as "The Storks", spoke to the gathering. Mr. Reno left out no facts, told them interestingly and with attractive humor. His thrilling experiences with German airplanes proved to be "best sellers" with his audience.

Work of the Canadian Field Artillery on Vimy Ridge was spoken of by Lieut. Andrew M. Nainsmith, who strongly brought out reasons why Americans should stick closely by the government, why we should conserve energy and food and why we are fighting this war. His experience should serve as a reminder that it is the duty of every American to put his shoulder to the wheel, to do his part, cheerfully, willingly and instantly.

Not only must we fight the Hun abroad, but we must fight him at home, was the advice given by the last speaker of the evening, Dr. Preston Bradley, of the speaker's staff National War Council.

May the Defense Council see fit to have another one of these mass meetings. It is so good to come together in a body, to hear other's opinion on the war, to have refreshed in our minds the reasons for our sacrifice, to learn from those who have learned what our duty is and how we may help at home. Credit is due the workers of the Defense Council who have planned, arranged and carried out this, and other such meetings.
