RED CROSS FUNDS AN IMPLICIT TRUST

MORE MONEY IS NEEDED

America Must Help Finance Nations During Years of War and the Years Which Follow, Leaving Cripples

The American business men in the Paris headquarters of the Red Cross have never lost clear vision of their responsibility to "the people at home." They look upon the great appropriations they control as a trust fund, one might better call it an "implicit trust" fund with a reproach in every shabby five-centime piece which goes astray.

For with even so vast a sum as America has already contributed in the name of humanity, it falls far short of what is needed. There are not only the years of the war; there are these which shall come after, when the world of broken homes, of the maimed and the sightless must be set to rights again for the unfamiliar tasks on an inconceivable peace.

The responsibility for all expenditures in all departments of the Red Cross relief work falls, naturally, upon the Finance Committee of the organization. The chairman has been, until his recent resignation to enter active army service, Major Grayson M. P. Murphy, D. R. C., U. S. A., a member of General Pershing's staff. His successor is Major James H. Perkins, O. R. C., U. S. A., Chief of Staff. Before volunteering in the Red Cross he was a member of the Board of Managers of the National City Bank of New York and before that had been president of the National Commercial Bank of Albany, N. Y.

The other members are Homer Folke, former Secretary of the State Charities Aid Association of New York, and at one time Commissioner of the Department of Charities of the City of New York who is Director of the Department of Civil Affairs; H. O. Beatty, formerly an attorney in San Francisco, who has made his home in Paris for several years and is, owing to his wide and influential acquaintance there, in charge of relations with the French people and their officials; Joseph R. Swan, Director of the Purchasing Department, a member of the banking firm of Keau, Taylor & Company, of New York; Ralph J. Preston, formerly New York attorney; Carl Taylor, Director of the Department of Administration, a member of the New York law firm of Byrne, Cutchon & Taylor; John Crosby Brown, of the banking firm of Brown Brothers, New York and Paris, and William S. Patton, of Boston.

This Finance Committee, which meets daily after the customary morning conference of the department directors, has sole power to pass upon the budgets of expense presented to it by the several departments and their bureaus. After reviewing these contemplated expenditures and determining the necessity for them, the Finance Committee refers them to the Red Cross War Council at Washington for final action. If the appropriations thus asked for be approved, the specified amount is posted in the books of the treasurer in and becomes immediately available for disbursement for its indicated purposes. The budgets are required to be presented in minutest detail and must be based upon actual needs determined in advance by the inspectors of the department in question and certified by them.

H. P. WOMAN'S CLUB

The Highland Park Women's Club held its regular meeting last Tuesday at two thirty o'clock, Witten Hall. Mrs. Parnella Gale was most charming in her three groups of songs, the consensus of opinion placing her as a singer of high rank. She was accompanied by Mr. Le Roy Shield. Miss Emma L. Carpenter, Youth's Welfare Secretary of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid told very interestingly of the Boys Brotherhood of Chicago. She read actual reports made by the boys at different meetings showing how conscientiously they uphold the standard system and how they help to clean up bad surroundings in their vicinity.

The next meeting of March 5th is of a different arrangement than usual. A business meeting will be held at two thirty o'clock in Witten Hall. The Program assigned in the calendar for that day will be given Monday evening, March eleventh at the Presbyterian Church Chapel, this to be open to friends of the club. Prof. Maria L. Sanford will talk upon, "Our Duty to Our Country". Prof. Sanford is affiliated with the University of Minnesota and is endeared to all who have heard her upon the two different occasions she has been before us.

You Cannot Afford to Delay

Installing a Gas Room Heater in that room where a quick, clean heat is desired for short intervals only each day and in that fireplace around which the family gather each evening.

A Wonderful New Fire!

A new radiant gas Fireplace Heater has just been perfected. It has eliminated all the drawbacks of the old time gas "logs" and gas "grates."

The Humphrey Radiantfire

A perfect open fire. It floods the room with Radiant Heat and Firelight. It does not smell or deaden the air.
Simple to light or extinguish.
Turns down low. Styles to match your room. Economical.

Come and see it!

Gas is the only fuel that will give you the cheery warmth that you need for that cold bedroom, breakfast room, bath-room and nursery.

DRIVES CHILL FROM THE CORNERS

Like the radiant warmth from the sun, its heat rays pierce every nook and cranny. No escaping gases—no "popping" in lighting. Just silent, radiant heat and a fireside in which the flames dance in an everchanging glow.

The RADIANT FIRE is constructed on scientific principles, its super-combustion burner develops a flame temperature several hundred degrees higher than any burner hither produced.

With coal prices soaring and rail transportation uncertain, you should insure your family's comfort by installing Gas Heaters to assist the furnace. The cost of operation is very little—a few cents an hour. Gas pipe can be run to any room in the home without annoyance to the family and concealed from view.
