MAJ. CARSON McCORMACK VISITS HIGHLAND PARK

Addresses Local Four Minute Men at the Home of Fayette S. Munro Sunday Evening

Through the offices of George R. Jones, state chairman of the Four Minute Men, members of the local organization here had the privilege of hearing Major Carson McCormack last Sunday evening at the home of the local chairman, Fayette S. Munro. Major McCormack went abroad originally with the 1st Canadian contingent as a lieutenant in the 3rd Canadian Infantry Battalion, Toronto regiment, August 23rd, 1914. He was in the first and second battles of the Ypres, in the battles at Vimy Ridge and Hill 70. He was on his way to Passchendaele when ordered back to Canada because of the sudden death of both his father and mother. He had his passage engaged for his return to France when the Canadian government detailed him, for the time being, to the Four Minute Men where he is working with a right good will to help that organization bring home the facts of the war to the American people. Though he does not look to be thirty, he wears the title of Major with a fitting dignity, stands firmly and squarely before his audience as one who knows his ground and speaks in the trench vernacular. He is every inch the fighting man, and when he asserted that the Canadians were the best fighters on the front, he spoke with modesty.

Major McCormack spoke to the boys at the Army and Navy Center on Sunday afternoon—a fervid enthusiastic audience that must have gratified his very soul. He will not easily forget such eager listeners, nor the assault of their intelligent questions.

RECEIVES PRAISE FROM GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS

Albert MacRae Former Mayor of Glencoe, Compiles "Blue Book" An Index of Advertisers

The Press is in receipt of a copy of the Santa Fe Magazine, volume 12, number 4. On page 65 of this issue, the March 1918 issue, appears an article which might be of interest to our readers.

The article deals with the MacRae Blue Book, a complete classified index of advertisers in The Santa Fe magazine of which he is editor.

The work of compiling this index was started eight years ago, at the suggestion of an advertiser, and the complete work has proved to be of great value to the United States Government. The officers, charged with the purchasing of many materials and supplies for use in carrying on the war, have used this index to a big advantage, and Mr. MacRae has some encouraging commendations from both army and navy officials of the purchasing department. Mr. MacRae for the last two years has been mayor of Glencoe.

Patriotic Rally at Pearl Theatre Saturday Evening, April 6 at 8:00 p. m.

Everybody Welcome.

Admission Free

April 6th being the first anniversary of the day that the United States declared war on Germany, President Wilson in a general proclamation has set aside that date as a general holiday throughout the country and requested that patriotic rallies be held wherever possible.

Secretary McAdoo is planning to also open the next Liberty Loan Campaign on that date.

We will have as the principal speakers that night

Lieutenant W. C. Hamilton, M. C.

He operated a machine gun himself and stopped the raid and accounted for 750 dead Germans. Was himself severely wounded and is now 75% unfit for active service.

Professor Theodore G. Soares

Professor Soares is a wonderful speaker and his topic for the evening will be "FIGHT THE NEXT WAR NOW."

Patriotic songs will be sung. The Home Guard will attend in a body. Four Minute Men will speak on the Liberty Loan Campaign.
