 Not capture of territory counts, but the destruction of armed forces. The tremendous expenditure of life made by the enemy is futile waste without adequate return, was the message of S. J. Duncan Clark at the Memorial Day services held in the school Thursday afternoon. We must refuse to be disheartened as the weeks and months go by. The discouragement of the civilian people is an effort of the enemy. Persuading the allied countries and the United States to settle the war by negotiated peace and the stronger hope that when the proposals are made that we will be in a humor to accept it. If we agree to any such proposals or compromise the cause is lost. This must be a year of patience, hope and brave hearts. Keep your faith, retain your courage. Only until the boys at the front have all they need can we claim honest title to the rest. The remainder of the program consisted of singing of patriotic songs and a piano solo by Pearl Peterson. Vera Plagge presented the Grammar school service flag and it was accepted by Mr. W. E. Jordan. The village service flag and the American flag were presented by Mrs. Richard Supple and accepted by Mr. C. W. Pettis.
