CASES OF UNEXPECTED ACCIDENT
 I presume few of us would consider a carpenter exposed to any particular risk, yet I know a man who lost the sight of both eyes through a little slip from a nail entangling his eye. Another case recently was that of a boy with five or six chestnut burrs embedded in the eye.
 It is practically certain that ordinary spectacles would have saved the eyes of the carpenter and the boy a terrible amount of suffering, also the risk of permanent impairment of vision.
 There is, however, a very prevalent idea that glasses increase the risk of physical injury. This is the reverse of the truth.
 In 30 years of experience in 2,000 serious accidents injuries to the eye, only three injuries of any kind were caused by broken spectacles. In none of these was the eyesight injured while the vast majority of the other injuries to the eye would have been entirely prevented by wearing glasses. The larger industrial concerns are rapidly waking up to the needs of their employes, a special order has been issued, which requires the employes to wear glasses. It has been found that 90 per cent of all accidents in these plants were due to workmen being struck in the eyes by particles of matter.
 In the industrial world to day it is estimated that there are 80,000 blind or partially blind workmen. Most of this awful wastage is preventable.

ENLIST—AND GO TO COLLEGE, YOUNG MEN
 U. S. PROVIDES R. O. T. C.
 No Nation Has Such Generous Provision For Combining Military and College Education

Many a 1918 high school graduate is debating with himself this year: Shall I go to college? or shall I enlist at once for military service?
 The War Department has just made it possible to do both. It says, in effect, to the ambitious young American: "You serve your country by going to college. To make sure that you do not lose thereby the opportunity of serving your country in a direct military capacity, you will be asked to join the special U. S. Army college training units that are to be formed. You will be liable to service at a moment's notice, but because you are worth more to the nation with your college training than without it, you will be expected to stay in college until called by the Government.
 The War Department's announcement provides that beginning with September, 1918, military instruction under officers and non-commissioned officers of the Army, will be provided in every institution of college grade enrolling for the instruction of one hundred or more able-bodied students over the age of eighteen. The necessary military equipment will be provided by the Government. There will be created a military training unit in each institution. Enlistment will be purely voluntary but all students over the age of eighteen will be encouraged to enlist. The enlistment will constitute the student a member of the Army of the United States, liable to active duty at the call of the President. It will, however, be the policy of the Government not to call the members of the training units to active duty until they have reached the age of twenty-one, unless urgent military necessity compels an earlier call. Students under eighteen, and therefore not legally eligible for enlistment, will be encouraged to enroll in the training units. Provision will be made for coordinating the Reserve Officers' Training Corps system, which exists in about one-third of the collegiate institutions, with this broader plan.

 "This new policy aims to accomplish a two-fold object," the War department announces, "first, to develop as a large military asset the large body of young men in the colleges; and second, to prevent unnecessary and wasteful depletion of the college through indiscriminate volunteering, by offering to the students a definite and immediate military status."
 No nation has made such generous provision for combined military and college education as has the United States in this new plan. The youths who avail themselves of the privilege will be serving their country's immediate as well as future needs.

FOSS A CANDIDATE FOR U. S. SENATORSHIP
 To be Voted for at Republican Primaries Sept. 11, 1918. Twenty Years as Representatives

Congressman George E. Foss of this district last week announced himself definitely as a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States Senator, to be voted for at the primaries, September 11, 1918.
 Mr. Foss has served this district for more than twenty years in the House of Representatives.
 This puts Congressman Foss directly into the senatorial race and adds a third factor to the Republican situation. The declination of former Gov. Deneen to become a candidate three weeks since had left the contest between Congressman Melvin McCormick and Mayor William Hale Thompson.
