NATIONAL MENTAL TRAINING FOR UNCLE SAM

All of the Federal and State military and educational authorities have joined in a nation wide campaign to keep our boys and young men in high school and college.

France and England are making heroic efforts now to repair the damage done to their educational institutions in the early days of the war. They are urging Americans not to make the mistake they made in allowing the closing of their secondary and high schools.

Students in our country are being tempted in large numbers to leave the schools and avail themselves of the fictitious wage values which prevail under our abnormal economic conditions. The danger to their education is no longer that of premature military service since no further enlistment of men below the draft age is allowed, and the President and Secretary of War have, with great foresight, provided a plan whereby young men may attend college and take their military training together with their regular class work. But in spite of the efforts of the Federal government to keep young men in school, there still looms the temptation of the high wage paid in our industries.

Economic conditions have taken such a complete turn, people in every profession—doctors, journalists, ministers, teachers have repeatedly resigned their most cherished posts and gone from our midst, that the fever has taken possession of us all. We wonder at times if our obvious humdrum duty is the right one. Often it takes far more courage to perform the normal and obvious task than to cut loose from our moorings and do that which seems to bear more directly on the war. It is not to be wondered at in this age of wonders, if the romantic and spectacular make a sharper appeal to our imaginations.

But Gov. Lowden says, "The vast work of reorganization which awaits us at the close of the war will demand trained minds as never before. But how shall we have trained intellects if the boys, in the very most important years of their mental development, desert the high schools and colleges for the workshop? I earnestly urge upon the people of Illinois that unless absolutely required by some industry essential to their prosecution of the war, the boys of the high schools and colleges give these years to their education."

DOUGHNUTS AND COFFEE

Unique in the short annals of war fund drives is that of the Salvation Army. Not since the day when the fabulous traveler surrendered his coat to the blandishments of a hot sun have coats, or dollars and dimes yielded to a sweeter persuasion.

In the matter of drives we have accustomed ourselves to a serious campaign for war funds, launched by the government, and executed with grave deliberation by its representatives. We are approached and button-holed by someone well qualified to appraise our worldly possessions. They fix us with a measuring eye and name the sum.

But lo! here comes a campaign in happier vein that trips it 'on the light fantastic toe'—a very 'L'Allegro of war drives. Gay little booths make every corner a toll-gate where pretty Salvation Nell tinkles the tambourine rapidly filling with dimes and quarters.

"Doughnuts and Coffee," says a jolly man in the booth. Happy phrase! The words strike sharp on our imagination. We see one of our boys in khaki refreshing himself after a hard march with the loose dime in our pocket.

A dime will do it, they tell us. What a dime! Why, here's a dollar, two dollars. But at the next corner there is another booth and another Salvation Army lass in poke-bonnet. Again, "Doughnuts and Coffee!" We drop another dime into another tambourine. Why not? Another boy will want doughnuts and coffee for American doughnuts and coffee are unknown in France.

Our boys over there have no ration of wine or rum. They are fighting this fight on water—with doughnuts and coffee when they can get it. These things recall their American homes, and American pantries and pie. The Salvation Army knows this and wherever these boys are, there will you find their butts, and their busy units working cheerfully even under fire.

And so they come to us bringing the hearty good cheer of the trenches. They launch their sunny campaign in smiles. Do they persuade us to remove our coats in the contagious warmth of their appeal? We would give them our coat. They ask for dimes. We make it dollars.

They are coming to Highland Park next week and we may think, having seen them in Chicago, that we are fortified against their attack; that being forewarned, we are fore-armed. Nothing of the kind. They will enter our flimsy defense and take the town, for every sentinel and every picket of our out-post is helpless before their smile-attack. They'll go "over the top" with "doughnuts and coffee."

MR. PAUL WILLIS TO LEAVE WAUKEGAN

Appointed Executive Director of U. S. War Department of East St. Louis, Illinois.

Paul Willis, secretary of the Waukegan Chamber of Commerce for some time, now is a "dollar a year man" in the employ of the United States government. Mr. Willis leaves his position in Waukegan on September 1st and goes to East St. Louis, Ill., where he takes up the extremely important position of executive director for the U. S. war department. The Waukegan man received his appointment through Secretary of War Baker himself. So far as known this is the only position of the kind which has been created by the government up to the present time.

The $1 a year which Mr. Willis will receive from the government will not be his only remuneration. He will receive a large salary from the business men and manufacturing heads of East St. Louis. He says the salary is so large that he could not pass up the offer. Then, too, he says, he feels that the position will open a still larger field for him.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The morning service Sunday, Aug. 25th, will be addressed by Rev. F. D. McBride, President of the Anti-Saloon League. Mr. McBride has appeared before Highland Park people before and always with an interesting talk in regard to the work of the Anti-Saloon League in Illinois. This is a subject about which we are all interested and it is not only our duty but a privilege to hear Mr. McBride and co-operate with him to the best of our ability.

The Sunday school meets at 9:30 o'clock and all children are invited to attend whether or not they are permanently located in Highland Park.

On September 1st Rev. John N. Freeman, D. D., will occupy the pulpit. Dr. Freeman is another old friend of the Highland Park church and we make this announcement in advance so that no one will miss hearing him.

Colonel and Mrs. Alfred E. Bradley announce the marriage of their daughter, Harriett, to the Rev. Frank Pitt at Assa's Island, Lake George, on Thursday, August 15th. Rev. and Mrs. Frank Pitt will be at home at The Manse after November 1st.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

Tazel Ave., near St. John's Ave.
 Subject for next Sunday's Lesson Sermon is "Mind."

Services are held in this church every Sunday morning at 10:45. Sunday school meets immediately after the morning service, and is open to pupils up to the age of 20 years. The Wednesday evening meeting, which includes testimonies of Christian Science healing, is at 8 o'clock.

You are cordially invited to make use of the reading room at 387 Central Avenue, which is open every week day, from 9 o'clock in the morning to 6 o'clock in the evening.

The Christian Science ladies have organized themselves into the Comforts Forwarding Committee and sew Monday and Tuesday afternoons, beginning at 1:30 p. m. in rooms over the post office work.

GARDEN CLUB

On Tuesday, August 27th, Mr. B. Bollinger of Lake Forest will speak to the Garden Club on Fall Planting and Transplanting. This will be a most helpful and instructive meeting. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. McGregor Adams at 10:30 a. m. A full attendance is hoped for as some important business matters will be brought before the Club by the president, Mrs. William Ruffner.

COMPANY C

During the absence of Captain Turpin and Lieut. Purdy at Camp Steev-Lake Geneva, Company C is under the able control and direction of 1st Sergeant George Millard.

For the last two Monday evenings he has conducted the Company through spirited drills, on the Company's field just west of the High School. (The Company takes this opportunity to acknowledge its appreciation of the privilege of using the field, and of the lights that have been installed on the field for its use). Sergeant Millard believes in "work while you are working," and the boys have been stepping lively under his command. They liked the work, too, even on that 100 degree Monday, and the sergeants and corporals enjoyed the changes that came with the shifting around of positions and duties of the non-commissioned officers.

Our Company and Lieutenant need feel no anxiety as to the boys sticking to their work while they remain in camp. Indeed, as might be expected, the non-commissioned officers have gained in experience and authority, and the Company ought to be in good shape for continuing its work when the Captain and Lieutenant return.

Major Hine is also at Camp Steev-Lake Geneva, Company C is under tactics to "try out" on the First Battalion on his return.

BUY-AT-HOME CAMPAIGN

the teachings we propose to bring before you. Put the question squarely up to yourself from this one viewpoint: "Is it not best that I spend my money here in Highland Park where I have an opportunity to get at least part of it back?"

Then let your sense of civic pride be aroused and resolve that you will join in this movement to make Highland Park a broader and better city in which to live.

 however good—would have put me out of business—but there two, three, four and five, only served to whet my appetite to the delight of one of the boys—who was just a good natured little rascal in my court seven years before. And if all this for a sedentary judge, what must it have meant to those boys? Do you wonder they love the Salvation Army?
