SAMUEL LEVIN ADVANCES IDEA FOR MEMORIAL

FINANCIAL AID FOR HEROES

Would Create Fund for Use of Returning Soldiers by Placing Interest on Bonds at their Disposal.

Editor Highland Park Press, Highland Park, Ill. Dear Sir:

I have read with a great deal of interest the numerous letters that have appeared in your columns during the past two or three weeks advocating various schemes as a monument to perpetuate the memory of the three hundred odd young men and women that were Highland Park's contribution to the great world war just closed.

First. For the past two years Highland Park in common with other communities has scrimped and saved to purchase what our government has been pleased to denominate Liberty Bonds.

Second. Highland Park has also contributed some three hundred odd young men and women to the army which has crushed forever Prussian autocracy from the earth.

Third. The Liberty Bonds which Highland Park has purchased we are told are the safest kind of investment possible.

Fourth. Would it not be more fitting that an elastic organization of Highland Park's heroes be called into being and that we, the citizens of Highland Park, place at their disposal the interest on our Liberty Bonds?

There are some of our heroes who, in the years to come, will need from time to time, some financial assistance not as charity but as a matter of right.

Five. May I suggest that the interest on at least a hundred thousand dollars of the bonds in our community be held in our community, (two hundred thousand dollars or more of course would be better) be pledged to this fund.

Yours very truly, SAMUEL LEVIN.

MITZEL AT THE ILLINOIS.

A most unique figure on the modern American stage is Mitzel, who used to be known as Miss Halos. She has returned to Chicago and is now at the Illinois Theatre in the new Henry W. Savage musical play, called "Head Over Heels," which opened last week to an overflowing audience.

Mitzel is an original. Reviewers of Chicago as well as those of New York and Boston, where she has been playing since early last spring, do not liken her to any other player of past or present, for in this new work, even if she would be conventional, she cannot for she must be singer, dancer, acrobat and comedienne with an almost equal ability to start one's eyes a-swimming, all in one small body.

"Head Over Heels" is a music play as unusual in tone as she herself. It has no spires nor canons, but is credited with providing laughter almost as incessant as a machine gun's rattle. The story, as reported, is easily believable that the natural development of amusing situations and dialogue in the piece ran away with its original, sober drama, and made chuckles where at first tears were called for.

There is a matinee for the home folks on Wednesday afternoon at ready popular prices.

Employers Wanted

Several calls have been filled during the week, placing high school students in positions where they will be able to earn money out of school hours. A large number of students are anxious for opportunities to work, and everyone who desires the help of either boys or girls is urged

SUPPOSE - just suppose in an office something similar to the family washing had to be done by hand. Well, it wouldn't be done. Neither need it be done in the house by hand if you'll supply yourself with a FEDERAL Electric Washing Machine. EVER see it work? Its middle name is simplicity. All that is necessary is to put in some soap, run in some water, put in the clothes and then just look on. The machine does the rest. Demonstrations at our Sales Rooms. Sold on Monthly Payments.
