WAR CAMP COMMUNITY

The chronicler of the present time is busy telling about what our good people are doing for the soldiers and sailors thru the Y. M. C. A., K. of C. and War Camp Community Service, and we are all applauding. The future historian will tell of what the soldiers and sailors thru these same instrumentalities accomplished for our good people and in a way it can be said that they made us real living breathing human beings and gave us a good time while doing it. No one engaged in the service of helping the soldiers and sailors in this great work of keeping up the morale, can dodge the fact that there is a reciprocal or comeback to the work resulting as it does in keeping up the morale of the good people engaged in the work. Let him or her who has lost hope or entertained some chary view of the outcome of this great country of ours spend an evening at the dance or at the army and navy center and mingle with these young men and life will look a heap sight better at the close of same.

One of our good citizens last Saturday evening who is rather backward and reticent about coming forward just happened in and mixed up with the 638 in attendance and along about "knee deep" of the evening when festivities were at their height and glory, he got out and danced and he was still dancing at the close and then confided to one of the committee that he had a good time and that it was the first time in twelve years that he had danced. He had not forgotten how to dance and when he cranked up his machine to go home and looked back over the evening and its spirits of good fellowship, he just couldn't help whistling "The End of a Perfect Day." He had helped to make the evening enjoyable for the sailors and sailors and in return he found a lot of real good enjoyment in the service.

St. Valentine would have certainly felt proud of the "girls" that made it possible for the sailors and soldiers to have had the biggest and best time ever given. If by any means he could have been personally present at the party given in his honor.

In a little arbor tastefully arranged with pillows and drapes, in the far end of the hall sat Mrs. G. E. Phillips in Japanese costume telling the fortunes of all those who availed themselves of the opportunity. The men in uniform with their ladies were rather timid at first about knowing their fate but as the evening wore on they lost their timidity and besieged the little room wherein the seer was located, and it is said that some knotty problems of life were solved; affairs of the heart seemed to require unraveling and judging from the appearance of those that returned from a visit to the prophetic it would seem that they were all mighty well pleased with the fortune telling feature of the evening's entertainment.

The favors, over 500 in number, distributed themselves some way or another which was contrary to the program, but like all war camp community errors it was turned into a blessing and before eight o'clock over 300 favors in the shape of fancy paper hats bedecked the soldiers and sailors. It had been planned to have a grand march at ten p. m. and then have Master Willard Thompson and sister Helen, dressed in becoming red, white and blue, head the marchers and finally distribute the hats, but social error Number one frustrated the scheme and we were all "lit up" at the start rather than in the middle of the evening.

The boys' gym was decorated with streamers of red, white and blue, while the basket ball receivers were intertwined with ribbons of colored tissue paper and the gallery applauded the efforts of the young ladies frequently for it was a fairy land peopled with happy, smiling fairies.

The Three Graces or Pirates got out on the floor early in the evening surrounding the dancing couples frequently, and as a result everybody got acquainted right on the start; then under the masterful leadership of Coach Rothacker, a march was arranged whereby the dancers were circled around the hall several times until they came forward in sixteen couples and at this juncture the gallery broke out in a round of applause that would have done credit to a high school gallery.

At 9:30 the big grand march was staged and although the 638 in attendance was a record crowd and almost impossible to handle in a hall of 400 capacity, nevertheless the committee put over the march and at a given signal there shot out of the gallery streamers of colored papers that fell among the dancers as they glided around the hall, creating a Mardi Gras picture. The Boy Scouts were asked to assist in this performance and did their part well. In the midst of the melee an operator of the International Film Service bombed the scene with a flash light and the effect was bewitching. One of the sailors was credited with saying that "Palm Beach might try to compete with us but wouldn't get nowhere."

This particular center is blessed with a very efficient and harmonious working force who gather every Saturday night to put over these dances and while it may not be apparent to the sailors and soldiers or to the gallery that there is much of organization of work, nevertheless the truth of the matter is that the lady in charge and her sub-committees work very hard and industriously to one common end and purpose. There are the ladies who register the big crowd as they come up the stairways, always on the job at 7 p. m.; in rain or sunshine, or when the thermometer is above or below zero; then there is the lady and her sub-committee passing on the qualifications of the girls who come; then there is the lady and her sub-committee arranging for the boys that are to stay over night and dine with Highland Parkers and the lady and her assistants at the punch bowl passing out punch to the thirsty; and then the ladies that act as hostesses; and when you summarize the combined endeavor of these several committees you get as a result a most pure unadulterated hard work and so cheerfully done that we all feel proud of our town and our women folks. Not to be overlooked are the young ladies of our town who on this special occasion worked night after night on the favors requiring as it did the making of over 500 paper hats; it was a factory out-put and a factory job yet our girls did it all and cheerfully. They also decorated the hall and when you all read this article just give three cheers for the women and girls of Highland Park and thank your lucky stars that you live here.

Next Saturday night Washington's Birthday will be celebrated in due form and it is hoped that the music committee will be able to secure a Bluejacket orchestra.

Valentine Tea at Fort Sheridan
The first W.C.C.S. valentine party was not, however, the dance, but the tea on Thursday afternoon in the recreation room of the main hospital building at Fort Sheridan. Hot tea, heart shaped cookies, with colored frosting, candies, nuts, and other good things were served to the patients from a table made festive with candies. A number of trays were carried into the wards. The soldier who had been detailed to help with the arrangements beamed all afternoon and evidently likes work, because he said good-bye to the committee with the words: "I want to thank you for the nicest afternoon I have ever had."
