SONS IN SERVICE

The following letter from Dan Cobb to Mr. Newbold, gives news of his partial recovery from his unfortunate accident, together with the announcement that he is coming home:

March 6, 1919.

U. S. Base Hospital, Paris.

Dear Mr. Newbold:—
I'm starting home next week—and where do you think I'll end up? In the hospital at Ft. Sheridan.

About December 1st I was made a sergeant and assigned to the courier service of the American Peace Commission in Paris. For a month and a half I was right "in it." During President Wilson's reception especially I had some exciting times. Then one Sunday I was carrying a dispatch out to a town beyond Chateau Thierry and was unlucky enough just before reaching Chateau Thierry to get caught in a railroad wreck. I woke up in the hospital at Chateau Thierry with concussion of the brain, a closed left eye, a badly mashed and cut left hand, etc. There I stayed for a month and was then transferred to U. S. big hospital in Paris where they rayed and operated on my hand. I guess I'll have a left hand like a foot from now on but it's better than none. That's all there is the matter with me now, but it will be a couple of months or more before I get the use of this hand. Therefore they are sending me to the hospital at Ft. Sheridan—you wrote me about in your letter—wasn't that odd?

Well, when I reach Sheridan I hope you'll come up to see the battered veteran—his arm in a sling and some the worse for wear. I'm glad I did my duty though and got over here even if it leaves me with only one good hand.

However, it won't affect my dancing. Books will be mustered out this month and Mother will then return to Highland Park to open up the house, and will probably be there when I arrive.

Well, regards to Mrs. Newbold.
Cordially,
DAN COBB.

WAR CAMP COMMUNITY SERVICE

Last Saturday evening's party was held in the girls' gym owing to the fact that a basket ball game was being conducted in the other gym. Consequently the floor was very crowded, but everyone enjoyed a most pleasant evening in spite of the limited floor space. The number of soldiers outnumbered the sailors present, but that seems to be quite a common occurrence after payday. With an excellent floor, good music, pretty girls, and a nicely conducted party, with punch to quench the thirst, what more could one ask, and this is all furnished free. To be sure, Chicago has its charms, but think of what is offered here.

Either the girls outnumbered the men present or else there were many who preferred to be audience instead of performers. It's real nice to have partners for all. Girls' choice and robbers' dance continues in popularity. Another dance will be held Saturday evening.

The Sheridan Club

All residents of Highwood should know that a distinctly patriotic institution for the entertainment of soldiers and sailors has been opened in the community. That their cooperation in the work undertaken is not only solicited but indispensable. That the need of the kind of service rendered by the War Camp Community Service was never more urgent than at this good hour. That they, the citizens, bear an unbreakable relation to the work. That the story told by those long engaged in this form of war work put to silence all opposition and unfriendly criticism of this kind of effort. That the Sheridan Club is in a position to help the men in the service in a

Mrs. Delaphine Snyder

Mrs. Delaphine Snyder, widow of Elijah Snyder, passed on quietly Sunday morning at the home of her daughter, Jennie Myrtle, wife of Henry C. Breidert.

Mrs. Snyder had been a resident of Illinois for nearly fifty-eight years, coming from New York City, the place of her birth, with her parents at the age of ten years, to Havana, Ill., where the service and interment under the auspices of Hesperia Chapter No. 137, Order of Eastern Star, took place. She was the charter warden of this order and also had served as secretary for fifteen years. She was also a well-loved member of the Daughters of Rebekah, Royal Neighbors of America, and of the Woman's Relief Corps, and was very proud of her Revolutionary ancestors, these having been on both the maternal and paternal sides of her family.

M. E. CHURCH

Last Sunday's Services

It will be of great interest to all parents, teachers and persons interested in the development of child life to know of our church service for the children at 10:45 Sunday morning. It will be a distinct help to that part of another generation who still cling to the age old notion that children from the ages of four to 14 are too young to grasp the great spiritual truths of the gospel to know that last Sunday's services for the children demonstrated clearly that these young minds are very quick to grasp and hold the great teachings of our Lord, when those teachings are couched in language within the grasp of young minds.

At the morning service the pastor spoke to an audience of twenty-four children between the above ages on the text "As the sands by the Sea Shore." The subject was made "Sand." The attention of children at this age is very hard to hold in any kind of a religious exercise. The attention at this service was unbroken. Not a child took his eyes off the speaker. No one moved or giggled. Then at the junior league service at 3 p. m. those present were asked to report on the morning sermon. Here came our revelation. Every one was on tip-toe to share in the report of the morning sermon. They told practically word for word the discourse of the morning. They told it with spirit and interpreted it in an amazingly lucid manner. All are ready for the next sermon which will come in the near future. The subject announced for the next sermon to the children is "The Man in The Moon." A number of grown up people attended this service. We urge the parents to come with their children to all future services of this kind.

At 7:30 Dr. Knight of First Church, Maywood, spoke on the Centenary. Dr. Knight gave a strong presentation of the Centenary in relation to world reconstruction. He emphasized prayer and life service. Over twenty men from Ft. Sheridan were at this service. Other speakers will appear who will speak on other phases of the Centenary program. We have a right to expect that our people will attend these services and get the information which will make possible the inflow of the inspiration to do this thoroughly Christian job, so big that empty minds cannot deal with it. glorious and full of life-giving power that closed eyes and selfish, shut-up hearts can never enter into the benefits guaranteed to all who accept with open minds and hearts and consecrated wills the challenge represented.

Come to the services next Sunday.

peculiar way. In a way that would bring a feeling of gratitude to the heart of every father and mother in Highwood whose son was far away from home among strangers, possibly wounded and lonely, with no one to whom to go for companionship and help.

This is an appeal to all residents of Highwood and of the north end of Highland Park to visit the Club rooms and to lend their friendly help and co-operation to those in charge. We have this institution here, supported by the general War Camp Community Service. Let us help make it a success. — H. D. Dick, Chairman Publicity Com.

$3,000,000 CAMPAIGN

The Lutheran Laymen's League, an organization of influential laymen of the Missouri Synod, has launched a drive for a Three Million Dollar Endowment Fund among the communicant members of its own Synod, the income of which will be used to support the Synod's incapacitated paupers and orphans of the deceased.

The members of this Synod have enthusiastically subscribed for a large number of Liberty Bonds purchased by its members. A resolution was adopted that all congregations be asked to raise a sum which would equal at least 10 per cent of the Liberty Bonds purchased by their own members and donate the same to the endowment fund.

The campaign to raise the three million dollar endowment fund starts next Sunday, March 30, and continues until April 12. Rev. W. F. Suhr, pastor of the local Lutheran Zion congregation expects his church to have no difficulty in raising their quota.
