COMPANY "C" HOLDS FAREWELL DINNER

as an armory for Company C, and for the War Camp Community dances.
The Board had performed a real service. He urged that the democratic feeling now existing among the members of the Company be continued, and that the Company hold together in brotherly love and companionship.

Mr. Mason, representing the Highland Park Defense Council, was next on the program. As chairman of that organization, he was instrumental in securing funds to assist in the purchase of uniforms and equipment for Company C. Mr. Mason's one regret was that he was not a member of Company C, and his regret seemed to have a very genuine reality about it. When the organization was being formed, he was among those present. He had attended several drills and hikes, but when he was obliged to do "double time" up hill on Sheridan Road, he confided, that marked the end of his association with Company C.

Mayor Hastings was no sooner on the floor than he wanted to appoint a committee—he is very good at that.
He attributed the remarkable success of his administration to the fact that the spirit of harmony and cooperation had existed in every department, and that all working commissions had performed their duties for the general interest of the whole community.

"Never once has any man or woman declined to serve on a commission," declared the Mayor, "and it has been a great pleasure as well as an honor to serve you under these conditions."

Captain Turpin had no sooner received his discharge papers than the Mayor appointed him Inspector of Sewers at the same salary which he had enjoyed as Captain of Company C.

Major Hine, falling in line with these pleasantries, threatened to find some flaw in the discharge papers of Private Williams and confine him for a period sufficient to chasten his insubordinate spirit to the county jail.

After a few words from Lieutenant Purdy, Lieutenant McTammany, who had been announced as "the most important speaker of the evening," arose, and in appropriate words, presented Captain Turpin with a wrist watch as a token of gratitude and affection from the Company.

Daniel Cobb, who was present at President Wilson's arrival in France, then told how he and the President had fixed up the peace terms. He said that there was no danger of demobilizing the A. E. F., because if Germany refuses to sign up, they have only to call upon Company C to enforce the measures.

It is gratifying to know that Company C spent their last evening together in delightful comradeship with songs and many jokes. They have forgotten the long hours they put in way back in the fall of 1917, of how they met three nights a week at the beginning, of how they gave up all their holidays and remained, for nearly two years, subject to an immediate call at any time. The men of Company C may not have seen any action, but nevertheless they served their community well, and served their country in the hour of her great necessity.

BENEFIT PERFORMANCE FOR LINCOLN SCHOOL

American author, in which contest 1700 manuscripts were turned down in favor of Alice Brown's. Mr. Hinsdell will also recite a number of poems by modern writers, which he gives with exquisite artistry. Miss Ruth Helms, a young Chicagoan of much personal and vocal charm, will assist in the program by singing two groups of songs in English, accompanied at the piano by her mother, Mrs. Otto Helms. Mr. and Mrs. Bealty, with characteristic generosity, have opened wide the hospitable doors of their home on Ravine Drive for this occasion.

This entertainment offers an unusual opportunity to all public-spirited people to patronize a worthy object and thereby RECEIVE as well as GIVE much benefit. The investment of one dollar in this project will mean a practical contribution to the educational cause that will pay handsome dividends to the investor in the form of a delightful evening with music and the drama. It is seldom indeed that one can make a substantial donation to educational advancement and have the privilege of hearing professional artists in a choice program in a beautiful private home—all for the expenditure of one dollar! Much public interest is being manifested in this benefit performance and from all indications the affair promises to be a great financial, artistic and social success.

NEXT SATURDAY THE BIG DAY AT D. S. H. S.

Athenian did three thousand years ago. Running with long poles of bamboo the boys will vault over a horizontal bar 10 or 11 feet high, just as the soldier of old might have flung himself over a hostile rampart. Then there will be the breathless mile run; a great squad of starters, some speedy pacer leaping out from the crowd only to be passed in the last lap perhaps, by some runner who saved himself for the finish. How many times will the blue and white of Deerfield flash across the tape? That is the question which hundreds of eager boys and girls are asking. The home band will play, the home rooters will cheer. Everyone, young and old, is urged to be present.

OUTLINE OF PROGRAM FOR RAVINIA SEASON

afford it would take one 10 dollar book Ravinia would soon become self supporting and its future assured. We owe it to Mr. Eckstein and the other members of the Ravinia Co., such as Mr. C. T. Boynton, Mr. Ward Willets, Mr. Landon Hoyt, who, without stint, have given of their time, their money, and their support with no thought of reward or profit except the gratitude of the people who enjoy Ravinia.
5. Because it gives to the thousands of people who are shut up in the city an opportunity to hear the best music out in the country.

Why Should Such High Priced Opera Be Given?

1. The general public go to Ravinia, not to be civic, but to hear good music and any other kind of concert, light opera, band, etc., would not draw enough people to pay taxes.

2. There are a great many people who cannot go to Chicago for Opera or who cannot afford Grand Opera prices who do go and enjoy Ravinia.

3. If the standard of Ravinia were not kept up, or if the project were given up the property would fall into the hands of some money making enterprise that would be a detriment to the whole North Shore.

Carefully Spent and Audited?

f. Most emphatically YES. The books may be examined by anyone.
Mr. Eckstein gives two thirds of his time, makes no charge for travelling expenses, telegrams, long distance calls, etc., and no move is made without the knowledge and approval of his committee. No one in the Ravinia Co. gets any salary or remuneration whatsoever and the funds all go to the actual running expenses of the park, such as taxes, opera, upkeep of grounds, and equipment.

COUNTY TREASURER SENDS FINAL NOTICES

Final notices are being issued by the County Treasurer to all delinquent Personal Property tax-payers.
This tax must be paid by June 1st.
After that a constable will call and levy. Constable fees will be added to the tax.
