CALLS CENTRAL MART SUCCESSFUL PROJECT

Wilmette's Plan of Buying Produce
Direct from Farmers is a
Sure Winner

The Central market which began operation Tuesday at Linden avenue and Fourth street, Wilmette, is a success. That is the verdict of Paul Schroeder, real estate man who sponsored the project and of the farmers and truck gardeners to the west of Wilmette who on that day brought their products to the central location to be disposed of directly to the housewives of the north shore at appreciably reduced prices.

"We did not expect a large crowd of marketers the first day," said Mr. Schroeder, "but were surprised by the turnout of women who came prepared to take away a good supply of food stuffs. They came in automobiles, on the trains and afoot to take advantage of this opportunity to slay the high cost of living squarely in the face, and they went away elated for they bought at remarkably reasonable figures products that had previously been offered them only by the circuitous route which led through the big commission houses of Chicago and eventually came into the kitchen with greatly enhanced prices attached."

Extend Market Hours

One alteration in the original plans already decided upon, according to Schroeder, is extension of the market hours. Beginning Saturday, he announces, the market will open at 8 o'clock in the morning and remain open indefinitely, if necessary until late in the afternoon or into the evening if the necessity is apparent.

One farmer, Schroeder promises, will bring 100 chickens to the market, on Saturday morning to be sold at from 32 to 35 cents a pound, with an additional charge of ten cents a chicken for dressing at the market place. It is also planned to make special prices on tomatoes and potatoes, he says.

ELM PLACE SCHOOL

Elm Place enrolled 600 pupils the opening day of school which number was the number enrolled one year ago. Succeeding days added to this number and the total for the beginning of next week is estimated at 660. The staff of teachers now includes three each for grades one, three, seven and eight, and two each for the other grades. Class room facilities are at a premium and it is necessary to use both the east and west wings of the auditorium for teaching purposes for a part of each day. The east wall of the auditorium is being remodelled to give that wing the same lighting facilities as those of the rooms above.

The members of the teaching staff met Friday and Saturday of last week for institute purposes. Special problems involved in the work of the coming year were discussed and some of the teachers presented papers upon special topics. Superintendent Clark Wright of District 108 gave an interesting summary of some of the important work that had been done at the summer session of Columbia University. This is the third year that the Elm Place teachers have met for a two days' institute in advance of the opening of school and the results have seemed to be of great value.

Is Your Husband Worn Out by Night?

--Clean played out, after his long, exacting office day. Too tired to crack a smile? Try this, as he sits down to dinner. Put a plateful of Federal Bread next his place, and let him start eating it even before the soup comes on. You can watch his tired look go and his eyes brighten with every slice.

Federal Bread

The Keep-fit Loaf is all strength and energy for brain workers, muscle-workers, any kind of workers. It is more vitalizing than any other bread because it has more yeast and is, therefore, richer in the vital element, Vitamin, which is the basis of good yeast. Eat it freely and watch its results in the increased health and vigor of your family. A loaf of Federal Bread costs only one-third as much as a pound of beef and has twice as much food-value. Count the saving.
