FORESTRY

During the winter months I hope to find time to furnish estimates for forestation of estates, both real and private. Since the reforesting of our woods has been realized by many people, more of it should be done. There is nothing to compare in pleasure with the planting of a forest, be it spruce, oak or mixed growth.

Acorns may be planted with a stick and a forest will spring up to delight future generations. Here we do something worth while, and it is for posterity. Where there are swamps, unsightly spots, poor prairie land, start foresting; it pays.
Adv. Yours for good forestry,
O. C. DOERRIER
Landscape Architect, Forester

These coal miners that are blowing up railroad switches in the mine yards will soon be complaining that they have to loaf owing to the lack of railroad facilities.

Some of the people who are freezing on account of the coal strike, could get warm by going into the mines and exercising a pick.

A cartoonist displays a picture showing a candle burning at both ends—one end tagged "higher wages" and the other end "lower production." To some people the candle looked more like a giant and heavily loaded fire-cracker, with the fuses getting mighty short.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Basketball season has opened with a large number of candidates out for business. In spite of the fact that Coach Rothacher is in the hospital recovering from an operation for appendicitis the squad turns out each night and is worked by Messrs. Zipoy and Bolan. Prospects are very bright and a championship team is hoped for.

The dinner given in the lunch room Thursday evening for the Alumni who have been in service was attended by one hundred or more graduates. The dinner was excellent and was followed by speeches from numerous men who had interesting experiences to relate. It was a grand get-together for the Alumni.

Due to the coal situation it has been necessary to discontinue the night school, and the Saturday night dances. The senior dance has been postponed until some later date.

The eagerness with which the students are buying Annuals is very gratifying to the business manager. To say that he is pleased would be putting it mildly. The seniors realize that when the mystic haze of years transmits the rollicking pleasures of school days into golden memories, every moment connected with that life will be a priceless nugget in the hands of those who prize them. The Annual is being constructed with this end in view, looking forward to the day when with old friends about them the students may cast aside the mantle of time and the happy years spent at Deerfield will return through the pages of the Annual.

LINCOLN SCHOOL

The Lincoln school will close on Friday, Dec. 19, for the two weeks' Christmas vacation.

PARENTS AND TEACHERS

The Lincoln school division of the P. T. A. met last Wednesday at the school. The program was furnished by the pupils. The first grade repeated their Mother Goose program, the fifth and sixth grades demonstrated their work in weaving and explained the different parts of the loom, the seventh and eighth grades explained what they had learned in science about the movement of the earth, the causes of day and night, the seasons of the year, and other movements of the earth. They also displayed some work in Batik which they are doing for Christmas showing a number of articles which are being made. Mrs. Seyfarth was in charge of the social hour.

LITTLE CHANGED BY TIME

Dwellers in Mountains of Tyrol Live In Much the Same Way as Did Their Ancestors.

The mountains of Tyrol shelter one of the few remaining unspoiled peasant people of Europe—a people that wears a native costume, remembers its folk legends and follows customs centuries old.

The mountain Tyrolese are robust, hard-working folk. Life in the mountains demands work from every member of the household from daybreak until after dark. Then, on winter nights, the Tyrolese peasants play.

Dancing is a favorite amusement after the day's work, and this is all the more surprising because the dances of Tyrol are more strenuous than those of Russia or Poland. To swing your partner up to the ceiling, and to fall down and spring up again without using the hands for support are among the "steps" of a good dancer's repertoire.

While the dancing couple excitedly swing and caper, the others sing and play the zither, the favorite Tyrolese musical instrument. Original songs are in high favor, and also the old folk songs of princes and peasants, shepherdesses and huntsmen. The peasants sing lustily and well. Only a realization of tomorrow's work puts an end to the affair, and sends guests trooping home still whistling or humming the last song.

A Stranger in the Woods.

Years ago, when quite a youth, I was rambling in the woods one Sunday with my brothers, gathering black birch, wintergreens, etc., when, as we reclined upon the ground, gazing vaguely up into the trees, I caught sight of a bird that paused a moment on a branch above me, the like of which I had never before seen or heard of. It was probably the blue yellow-backed warbler, as I have since found this to be a common bird in those woods; but to my young fancy it seemed like some fairy bird, so curiously marked was it, and so new and unexpected. It seemed like an integral part of the green beech woods. I saw it a moment as the flickering leaves parted, noted the white spot in its wing, and it was gone. How the thought of it clung to me afterward! It was a revelation. It was the first intimation I had had that the woods we knew so well held birds that we knew not at all.—John Burroughs.

Very few people who want more free speech have shown any desire to do more work and relieve the scarcity of everything.

Very few women who in the past two years have learned to do their own house work, have had time to have any more nervous headaches.

The Y. W. C. A. is agitating against tight fitting shoes, but no progress is reported among the loose fitting brains element.
